Musicians perform live to an online audience

Churchill shares live concerts on Facebook

BAKER CITY — Concerts and large gatherings are still on hold due to the coronavirus pandemic.

But that doesn't stop the music.

Musicians are turning to the internet to share tunes with the world. Now, Churchill in Baker City is hosting a weekly event called "in your house parties."

For these virtual house parties, musicians will perform on the Churchill Dancehall stage with the live music streamed through Churchill's Facebook page. Search for Churchill School Art, Music, Recreation-Baker City, OR.

On May 14, James Dean Kindle will perform at 7 p.m. The following day, May 15, will feature Elwood at 4 p.m.

If you can't tune in live, the concerts may be enjoyed in the video section of the Facebook page. The house parties are funded partially by the Eastern Oregon Visitors Association.
