

Girlfriend maintains a 'fan club' on Facebook

DEAR ABBY
ADVICE

Dear Abby: I've been dating the same woman for more than two years. She is a beautiful lady who has quite a few male "fans" on Facebook, mostly from before we met. What bothers me, and I don't understand why, is her habit of posting selfies and then loving the comments from other men about her looks. We have discussed this many times, but she can't seem to stop.

Other than this, we seem to have a healthy relationship with the occasional, normal hiccups. I would like to take it to the next level, but I can't help wondering if the Facebook habit is a sign that she needs more than what our relationship is giving her. Please advise. — Hesitant in Ohio

Dear Hesitant: Her Facebook habit may be a sign that your lady friend is insecure — or conceited — about her looks, which is why she encourages these "fans" by "hearting" their comments. Frankly, it's sad that she needs more validation than she can get from one person, but that's the woman you're involved with. If she were seeing these men in the real world, I would say you have a serious problem. But she's not, so it shouldn't present a threat unless you make it one.

Dear Abby: My grandson, who I haven't seen in 10 years, is getting married to a girl I don't know. My husband, "Hank," and I are invited to the wedding. We live 1,000 miles away, so we have to book a flight, reserve a hotel and pay for all our meals.

Hank has been waiting the last three months for a date for knee surgery. Most of the time, he's in pain — especially when he walks.

My daughter thinks we should postpone his surgery to attend the wedding. What do you think? — Debating in the South

Dear Debating: Of course your daughter wants her father at her son's wedding. That she would be disappointed — as would the both of you — is understandable. But does she really want him there limping, wincing and in constant pain? Remind her that it has taken three months to get this surgery calendared. Tell her you will be with them in spirit on their special day, but her father's health must come first. Then stick to your guns.

Dear Abby: I work in a small office of 15 people. The person next to me is diabetic and wears a beeper that goes off all day long. Am I supposed to endure this annoying sound even though she can put it on vibrate? — Disturbed in Texas

Dear Disturbed: No, you are not. Ask your co-worker if putting her beeper on vibrate would work for her, because the sound distracts you. If she's willing to do that, your problem is solved. However, if she isn't, then it may be time to discuss this with your supervisor or employer because it may be possible to relocate your workstation to another area.

FISHING REPORT

IT'S FREE FISHING WEEKEND IN OREGON

Everyone can fish, clam and crab for free in Oregon on Saturday and Sunday, June 5-6.

No fishing licenses or tags (including a Combined Angling Tag, Columbia River Basin Endorsement or Two-Rod Validation) are required by Oregon residents or nonresidents to fish, crab or clam in Oregon on those dates.

Although no licenses or tags are required these two days, all other fishing regulations apply including closures, bag limits and size restrictions.

With Oregon facing a serious drought this summer, warmwater fishing is a good choice for Free Fishing Weekend and throughout the summer.

Oregon will have one more Free Fishing Weekend in 2021 — the two days after Thanksgiving, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26-27.

TROUT STOCKING

Scheduled to be stocked the week starting May 31: Morgan Lake, Powder River, Phillips Reservoir, Long Creek Pond, Anson Wright Pond, Marr Pond, Trout Farm Pond, Twin Ponds, Wildcat Pond, Holliday Pond, Hog Creek Pond.

Stocked last week (May 24-28): Morgan Lake, Umatilla Forest Ponds, Wallowa Lake, Twin Ponds, Hog Creek Pond, Wildcat Pond, Walla Walla Forest Ponds S, Brandon's Pond (aka John Day Screen Shop Pond), Kinney Lake, Long Creek Pond.

MALHEUR RESERVOIR

Fishing is great for rainbow trout from 10 to 20+ inches. This reservoir was recently stocked with tagged trophy trout, some are marked with reward tags. If you catch a tagged trout please report it here: MyODFW.com/tagteam.

IMNAHA RIVER

The flows are moderate and conducive to fishing. The Imnaha will begin to see large hatches of salmonflies and golden stoneflies, which can make for some good trout fishing. Anglers should be aware that some construction/utility work is occurring on the lower Imnaha, and trucks will be on the road hauling equipment and materials. Anglers should use caution when traveling in the area. Spring chinook and bull trout will be present in the system and must be released unharmed.

GRANDE RONDE RIVER

The flows on the Grande Ronde have been good for boating but the fishing has been slow. Look for fish in areas where flows are very slow like back eddies and river margins below structure. Bass fishing should pick up in the next few weeks as flows drop and the water temperatures begin to rise.

PHILLIPS RESERVOIR

Due to extreme drought, Phillips Reservoir is just 17% full. Rainbow were stocked during May, which means fishing should be quite good (more fish, smaller area) well into June. Please note that those looking to launch a boat should avoid the Union Creek Campground boat launch as the water level is far below the launch; please use the boat ramp near Mason Dam.

WALLOWA COUNTY PONDS

The early trout stocking for Marr Pond has been canceled through late June to accommodate improvements to accessibility. With the exception of Marr Pond, all stocked waterbodies have received at least the they're first stocking and fishing should be good.

Forest ponds are mostly accessible and some have been recently stocked.

WALLOWA LAKE

Wallowa Lake is open, and anglers are starting to catch a few early kokanee. Wallowa Lake has been stocked and fishing for trout is good.

Spring is a good time to fish for lake trout as they're active and can sometimes be found in the shallow areas. Methods typically involve good electronics, downriggers and sometimes jugging.

MAGONE LAKE

Fishing has been excellent the last few weeks, and should stay that way over the next month.

WALLOWA RIVER

The Wallowa River can fish well for trout throughout the spring as long as conditions allow. With lower expected flows this year the river should fish well throughout the spring. The Wallowa has very good caddis and golden stone hatches that last through June and can spur some very good fishing. Look for fish to pull up close to the banks to escape faster flowing water.
