9 p.m. on CW Batwoman

Batwoman (Javicia Leslie) finds herself with a full plate as she tries to balance a new romantic entanglement with Jada's (Robin Givens) demands and Mary's (Nicole Kang) escalating power in the new episode "Toxic." Given those stakes, loyalties are tested and motives are called into question as Batwoman tries to save Gotham and those closest to her. Rachel Skarsten, Meagan Tandy, Camrus Johnson and Nick Creegan also are featured; Bridget Regan guest stars.

9 p.m. on NGEO Trafficked With Mariana van Zeller

A sobering new episode called "Amazon Mafia" takes host Mariana van Zeller deep into the heart of the Amazon rainforest to expose the nefarious networks behind the illegal destruction of much of this jungle, accompanied by a sickening number of murders. In the process, she also tries to uncover an Amazon mafia that aims to profit from the mining of "dirty gold," as well as clandestine logging operations.

9 p.m. on SYFY, USA Resident Alien

A breakout hit in its first season, thanks in large part to a virtuoso comedy performance by Alan Tudyk as stranded extraterrestrial Harry Vanderspeigle, this adaptation of a Dark Horse comics series returns for Season 2, which finds Harry bracing for inevitable consequences following his failure to destroy humanity. As his human emotions grow stronger, Harry struggles to cling to alien identity. Sara Tomko, Corey Reynolds and Levi Fiehler also return for this sophomore season, which will have a mid-season finale in March, then resume in the summer.

10 p.m. on SYFY, USA Astrid & Lilly Save the World

High school life can be challenging for any teenager, especially if they're social outcasts like BFFs Astrid and Lilly (Jana Morrison, Samantha Aucoin) in this new sci-fi comedy. Things get even trickier for the pair, though, when they accidentally open a portal to a terrifying alternate reality teeming with monsters. The rest of mankind may not know it, but their fate rests entirely in the hands of these reluctant heroines.
