Secrets of the Whales

This Emmy-winning four-part series from Oscar-winning filmmaker and environmentalist James Cameron plunges viewers into the complex private world of whales to explore how these magnificent creatures experience life and love. Filmed over the course of three years in 24 global locations, the series ultimately reveals that whales are much more like humans than most people ever imagine. Part one, "Orca Dynasty," explores some of the unique strategies orcas around the world use to stay atop the food chain. The other three episodes immediately follow.

The UnXplained

"Acts of God" explores how events that are stunningly destructive, miraculous or otherwise astounding often are perceived by people of faith as being divinely directed by the hand of the Almighty. Even many non-churchgoers are familiar with the Bible stories of the Great Flood, the Plagues of Egypt and Moses parting the Red Sea, but are they more than just inspirational yarns? Do they have a basis in historical fact? This hour considers whether those ancient reports, if they really happened, were just freak occurrences or something more.

Movie: The Trick

This 90-minute docudrama stars Jason Watkins ("The Crown") as Phil Jones, a highly regarded scientist specializing in climate science. He and his wife, Ruth (Victoria Hamilton), see their calm lives blown up in 2009 by an act of cyberterrorism, where in anonymous hackers steal thousands of emails from Jones and his climate team. Climate deniers pounce on the information, publishing it in a context that makes it appear Jones and his team exaggerated the dangers of climate change. George MacKay, Jerome Flynn ("Game of Thrones") and Adrian Edmondson co-star.
