9 p.m. on HIST The UnXplained

A new episode called "Surviving the Impossible" looks at cases in which ordinary human beings somehow managed to defy the odds by not dying from seemingly catastrophic injuries or some other deadly incident. Their survival seems to fly in the face of known scientific and biological facts that ordinarily would predict such an outcome to be impossible. This raises the ultimate question as to whether "cheating death" is due to fate, sheer luck or something else more mysterious.
