UNION — The Union Grassroots Festival and Car Show is Saturday, Aug. 13, with a line up of family fun organized in downtown Union.

Donna Beverage, president of the Union Chamber of Commerce, is involved in organizing the annual event.

"It's free family fun. We just want people to come out and enjoy the day in historic Union," she said.

The day starts at 7 a.m. with more than 30 yard sales city-wide. Find a list of on Union's Facebook page or the Chamber website, or check flyers in town.

The Color Fun Run begins at 8 a.m. at the Union High School athletic complex on Dearborn Street. Organizer Kasey Bliesner said it is a fundraiser for the Union High School's Philly group. Entry is $15. To sign up, call 541-805-0537.

"It's a 3K family run, walk, scooter event hosted by the Bobcat Booster Club," she said. "It's a fun color run where runners (in white t-shirts) run and get colored with powdered chalk that is thrown at them. By the time the runners are done running, they will look like they have a tied-dyed shirt on," Bliesner laughed.

Carleigh Radke, 13, will sing the National Anthem in front of the Post Office at 9 a.m.

Six blocks of Main Street will be blocked off and lined with carnival food vendors from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. At the same time, the Friends of the Union Library will have a book and bake sale at the library.

A Sidewalk Chalk Art Contest returns, organized through Falk's Mini Mart with prizes for first, second and third place.

"Last year was our first year with this event, and it was amazing to see these families drawing with their kids on the sidewalk the night before the festival," Beverage said.

The open car show runs from 9 a.m.-4 p.m., and is expected to draw classic car owners from throughout Northeast Oregon.
