

JESHUA MARSHALL PLAYS LIVE AT CHURCHILL

BAKER CITY — Jeshua Marshall has toured as a professional musician since 2003, but this month is the first time he's performed a concert in Baker City — the place he was born and spent time throughout his childhood.

Marshall's concert is Friday, Aug. 19, at Churchill School, 3451 Broadway St.. Doors open at 6 p.m. and music starts around 6:45 p.m. (enter through the 16th Street parking lot).

Tickets are $10 in advance at churchill-baker.com, or $15 at the door. Proof of COVID-19 vaccination or a negative test is required.

Fully vaccinated children age 15 and younger attend free with a ticket-holding adult.

ELECTRIC SUNDOWN SHINES SPOTLIGHT WITH OPEN MIC

PENDLETON — Local talent is invited to come out and sing a song, strum a tune, read cowboy poetry or make people laugh during an open stage/mic night in Pendleton.

Tanner Carey will host the evening of fun on Friday, Aug. 19 at Electric Sundown, at 14 S.E. Third St. The doors open at 7 p.m. and the mic will be plugged in at 7:30 p.m. Signups are accepted at the door.

While the event isn't open to large bands, duos or small ensembles are welcome. To allow a variety of acts, participants are asked to keep their entertainment to under 10 minutes.

For information about other upcoming events at Electric Sundown, search www.facebook.com/theelectricsundown. For questions, email electricsundownmanagement@gmail.com.
