Ag Energy Solutions Biochar Seminar, Room D204 (No cost for this seminar but please RSVP to agshow@wvi.com)

Using Biochar as a Soil Amendment for Agriculture – The biochar industry continues to grow. Researchers report new findings that provide solid science on how char can benefit farming operations. Industry leaders will provide up-to-the minute reports on the emerging biochar industry. Presented by Phil Appel, co-founder of Ag Energy Solutions; Dusty Moller, WSU Energy Program; Tom Miles, Principle, T.R. Miles Technical Consultants.

1 – 2 p.m.

Shur Farms Frost Protection Seminar, Room D204 (No cost for this seminar but please RSVP to agshow@wvi.com)

Frost Protection: Managing Cold Air Flows and Cold Air Accumulation in Vineyards and Orchards – The accumulation of cold air in areas with insufficient drainage (sometimes called “frost pockets”) results in temperature differentials within vineyards and orchards and is the cause of radiation frost damage. This seminar will explain the dynamics of cold air accumulation, how frost develops and steps the growers can take immediately to lessen the likelihood and impact of a frost event using both passive and active frost protection measures. The grower will learn ways to optimize natural drainage and remove temperature differentials within the vineyard and orchards resulting in a more naturally frost free environment. Presented by Steve Hammersmith, CEO, Shur Farms Frost Protection.
