The Livestock Slaughter report released by NASS last week backs up the notion of moving cattle through the pipeline quicker this summer than in recent months. The average of the May and June steer slaughter weight is 863 lbs.; while the January to April Average steer slaugh ter weight was reported at 889 lbs.

Packers have continued to harvest cattle at a more aggressive rate in order to take advantage of the positive margins despite Choice boxed beef values setting a 2016 low this week. At its current level of $198.76 on July 28, this is the first time the value has been below $200 since December 2015.

This should bring the consumer back to the beef case as it comes more in sync with pork and poultry prices than in recent years. The June Cold Storage report showed total red meat supplies in freezers down 2 percent from last month and 6 percent from last year. Total lbs. of beef in freezers was up 1 percent from last month at near 413.6 million lbs., but 5 percent lower than last year.

Frozen pork supplies were down 5 percent from last month at near 585.9 million lbs. and 8 percent lower than last year. Auction volume included 60 percent weighing over 600 lbs. and 39 percent
