Aug. 16 & 19 Receipts: 1316 HD total, 600 cattle,

611 sheep, 105 goats Comment: Extreme dry conditions and lack of hay are sending cattle to town sooner than normal. We sell all types of cattle. I even say, "As long as it has 4 legs and a moo." You can make your feeder cattle more attractive to the buyers by using a proper vaccination program. The lamb market was stronger this week. Top lambs brought $247.50 The goat market was weaker. The best goats brought 240.00-285.00 by the head.

Fluid Milk and Cream — Western U.S.
Aug. 26

California milk production is decreasing.
Spot loads are said to be limited. Some processors report that hauling constraints have resulted in milk shorting on recent orders. Class I demand is higher. Class II and III orders are steady.

Milk availability is tightening in Arizona as output drops and demand increases. Bottling sales are strong. Demand from Class II- and Class III-based dairy manufacturers is level.

Following a week of more cow-friendly weather, milk supplies are steady in New Mexico. Class I sales are higher, and Class II demand is seeing an uptick as well. Balancing is active, but not stressed. Widespread driver shortages and some receiving bottlenecks at plants have led to some missed orders. The missed loads, however, were able to be rerouted to balancing plants with available processing capacity.

Pacific Northwest milk output is declining.

More milk is being diverted into Class I as bottling demand grows. Class II demand is steady to lower. Class III orders are steady to higher, with some cheesemakers maxing out Farm level milk production is decreasing in the mountain states of Idaho, Utah, and was ubiquitous and discounted as recently as last week, is no longer available. School orders are pushing Class I demand higher. Class II and III sales are steady. Contracted condensed and III sales are steady. Contracted condensed skim is steady.

Cream is less available as milk supply drops. However, contacts report that pervasive hauler issues and staffing shortages at plants are having an impact on cream consumption; the current cream supply would be tighter if processing facilities were able to operate at capacity.

markets in the Northern Plains being reported 5.00 to 7.00 higher. Demand was moderate to good for all weights of steers and heifers as the calendar gets ready to move to September. Extreme heat across the Midwest and Plains this week again and in many places, humidity was also Most yearling operators like to have their yearlings sold by Labor Day as August is a busy month as the tail end of the calf-feds from the previous year are coming out of the feedyards. Spring-born bawling calves are in the mix of the feeder supply from the North Plains to the Southeast and currently, willing buyers are there to fill orders. In the upcoming weeks. farmers in the Midwest will not want to take the time to straighten up some bawling calves as large temperature swings will no doubt be on the horizon. Hot days and cool nights will bring on illness and farmers are not too crazy about leaving a half-million dollar combine setting still while treating sick calves.

Buyers will be looking for more calves that have had two round of shots and a preferable 45-60 day weaning period. The CME Cattle Complex was mostly higher on the week. The only Live Cattle Contract that was lower on the week was the expiring August contract as the contract finally closed below the negotiated cash price on Friday this week. As of Friday afternoon, there were 218 loads tendered for delivery, however, through Monday (8/30), there will have only been 76 of reclaimed nearly half of their previous week losses. Negotiated live trading of fed cattle in the Southern Plains sold at 123.00, while dressed sales in Nebraska sold at 202.00 to 208.00. Boxed beef values seem to have found a plateau this week. Choice boxed beef closed the week 0.28 higher at 345.34, while Select was 3.01 lower at 315.52 for the same period. On Friday afternoon, the Choice-Select spread was reported at 29.82, as retailers and consumers are demanding Choice quality
