

THE MEDFORD MAIL

A. S. BLITON.

Published Every Friday Morning.

MAN WAS BORN TO HUSTLE.

He is of few days; but quite a plenty.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

Entered in the Postoffice at Medford, Oregon as Second-Class Mail Matter.

MEDFORD, FRIDAY, FEB. 10, 1933.

The bill to repeal the mortgage tax law, with a deduction for indebtedness clause, has passed the senate.

As we were about to remark: How do you like the appearance of the first page of THE MAIL? In the vernacular peculiar to this immediate vicinity, isn't that new heading "out of sight?"

THE MEDFORD MAIL has changed hands and comes to this office in a whoop-er-up, all-alive spirit. A. S. Bliton, a good versatile writer, is the publisher, and the Star wishes the MAIL success.—Klamath Falls Star.

THE Columbian postage stamp bids fair to be of short life. Congress has asked the Postmaster General to order the discontinuance of their manufacture. Congress does well. The average business man has many vocations to which he can apply himself other than that of sticking saddle blanket postage stamps to letters.

CAN you not assist a little in securing for Medford a good Business College? Nothing is more desired in any town or city than good schools. Subscriptions are not due until building is completed. If the committee does not call upon you, and you feel you can help the matter along, just step into THE MAIL office—where a copy of the subscription paper may be seen.

Those who pretend to know have fixed the state for President-Elect Cleveland's cabinet like this: Secretary of state, Thos. F. Bayard; secretary of the treasury, John A. Carlisle; secretary of war, Patrick A. Collins, of Massachusetts; secretary of the navy, Daniel S. Lamont; secretary of the interior, F. C. Wall, of Wisconsin; postmaster general, W. F. Harrity; attorney general, John Randolph Tucker, of Virginia; secretary of agriculture, Hugh C. Wallace, of Tacoma, Washington.

IF SENATOR MITCHELL'S bill passes congress this fool excuse of hypnotizing which some people offer as an excuse for their wrong doings, and which is on a par with the "under-tow" fake, will to a certain extent pass into the garret of stored away foolish idiosyncrasies. Here is his bill:

"To prohibit electro-magnetizing, mesmerizing or hypnotizing human beings, or affecting one person through another by electricity, and to declare the same to be a crime against the law of nations, and to define its punishment."

PRESIDENT HARRISON has appointed Judge Jackson, a Tennessee democrat, to the position of Justice on the supreme bench to succeed the late L. Q. C. Lamar. There are many and varied opinions as to why he appointed a democrat. The opinions are so plentiful that we can each have one of our own. The reason given by the President is that owing to the opposition to himself of a few republicans in the senate the confirmation of a republican could not be expected, hence the recommendation of a democrat.

NEARLY every newspaper in the county is jumping onto Representative Vandenberg's back for introducing a bill which would compel the county proceedings of each county to be printed and posted on bill-boards and bridge-coverings instead of having them printed in newspapers as is now being done. The gentleman we think is being jumped onto too hard. We don't believe the bill originated with him, but instead originated in the mind of some narrow, pinched-up constituent who has a fool idea that the newspapers are robbing the counties. Vandenberg knew the bill wouldn't pass, but introduced it for the sake of serenity at home.

THE Albany Democrat gives the Oregonian a prod in the side over what appears to the Democrat to be an uncalled for derogatory report as to the depth of water on the Yaquina bar. At a very opportune time and when the chances for the extension of the Oregon Pacific railroad looks most favorable the great monopolist journal of the state begins pouring hot shots at Yaquina bay, that railroad's sea port terminus. While the Oregonian is supposed to be a journal published for the good of the state entire its idea of the state's magnitude does not extend outside the incorporate limits of Portland. Anything that tends not to the good of that city the Oregonian is "agin."

This one is just a little worse than the one on Senator Veatch who roted no on roll call. Last week at Salem the house of Representatives was considering the session appropriation bill and Representative Belts surprised everybody by offering an amendment that the bill should not apply to Umatilla county. This heroic offer to forego his salary met with universal approbation, and when Goer of Marion proposed that the amendment be unanimously concurred in, Belts knew by the laugh which went round that he had made a mistake of some kind. He explained that he thought the bill applied to dogs, and was unanimously allowed to withdraw his amendment.

ALMOST any kind of talk you happen to be looking for is rife in our city regarding the out-come of the transfer of the Rogue River Valley railroad, but the conclusion arrived at in most instances is that no individual or corporation cares to tie up forty or fifty thousand dollars in five miles of railroad with no better prospects for a direct dividend than is at present showing itself in this road. With this thought in mind the sequel is easily read, and is nothing more nor less than a very probable extension from Medford to a point on the east at least as far as the sugar pine timber belt. The benefit that this will prove to be to our city can only be estimated by those familiar with the extent of this timber tract and the various uses to which it can be put in the manufacture of fine furniture, store fixtures and other articles. With the advent of this extension, that principal manufacture of this lumber will be conducted in Medford goes without saying. The amount of money it will place in circulation is of no small importance to think of in figuring on the direct benefit to be derived.

TO-DAY will finish the soliciting committee's work in the matter of securing subscriptions to the Business College. The people of Ashland have made Prof. Rigby a proposition which must either be accepted or rejected to-morrow. The city of Medford has no idea of allowing this institution to leave its present location, but it is quite necessary that we secure the required amount at once. If we are to lose the Business College now after maintaining it for a year it would be better had we never have had it—it will react to the city's injury in a way not most desired. Prof. Rigby's proposition is a liberal, business-like one and such as no person can raise the slightest objection to. He proposes to erect a building, to cost not less than $3,000, and to conduct therein a commercial school and business college, but before doing this he asks our people to donate to him $1,500. Subscriptions not due until after the building is completed. This, in our opinion, is a fair and square proposition and we can see no reason why our people should not put their shoulders to the wheel and push the project.

A PRETTY good sized book of about two inches in thickness is the report of the State Board of Charities of which THE MAIL has received a copy. It is a finely gotten up affair and contains much that would be interesting reading in the absence of an almanac or a last year's seed catalogue, but when we peruse its pages and feast (?) our eyes upon the cuts of the various different styles of city and county bastilles throughout the state, underneath which is written the pedigree of these institutions, color and condition of their occupants and the family history of the, in many cases, imaginary vermin which abide therein, we forget the loyalty to charities taught us in childhood days and with one desperate effort this volume of worthlessness, which cost the state, if the figures as given out be true, $5,751.72, is thrown in to the darkest corner of our office and will never again be brought to light, unless we should at some distant day delve into the mysteries of said corner in quest of a spring poem. If the legislators were to abolish at once and without ceremony, the Board of State Charities, they would at least earn the interest on their per diem, even though they did nothing more. THE MAIL believes that Oregon has representation at her state capital who have minds in which are inculcated firmly the principles of right and we feel satisfied such burdensome extravagance as this board will be handled to the interest of tax-payers—the one method being that of abolishing it entire. If criminals who come into our fire-sides and murder our loved ones, burn our homes and steal our wares are to be handled with gloved hands and our state is to pay a board of charities near $6,000 annually to see that these felons are treated and cared for with luxuries which many who pay the tax dare not hope to enjoy, then most assuredly there is too great a premium being paid for crime.

MINES AND MINING.

Messrs. Beekman & Hoffer contemplate putting in a ten stamp mill at their Jackson creek mine. Some rich prospects are being found in the Cleveland ledge at the head of Wagner creek. They are in 15 feet on the tunnel.

The Hope Mining Co. expect soon to re-organize and start mining operations on their mine which turned out from $14,000 to 15,000 when operated before. The money was squandered in extravagant management which discouraged the owners.

A Mr. Hendricks, of Black Republican mine from back in Nevada, having disposed of his interest in the mine, for the snug sum of $80,000, was making a tour of inspection through the Rogue river valley last week with his mineral eye open to catch all indications of rich "diggings."

The Stockton Iron Works will have several of inventor Moffitt's new process for reducing rebellious ores built by March 1st. They will not be put on the market, but will be run on the royalty plan. Mr. Moffitt will send an agent to select a mine and if satisfactory will put a mill on it and crush the ore for 10 per cent of the net profits. This will surely revolutionize quartz mining if it should prove a success and it is claimed it will. The mill proper weighs about one ton and will crush 36 tons of ore per day.

"Quartz" Smith is reported to have struck a rich find in his recent development of the old Gold Hill mine. It is not given out as to just what he has found, but from the pleased expression which continually spreads over his phiz one is led to believe it is the yellow in good quantities that causes this unusual ripple. If any one man more than another deserves to find a fortune it is this man Smith. THE MAIL hopes his greatest anticipations may be realized.

It will be remembered that in '88 the mine known as the Golden Spike, on Wagner creek, was given up as worthless. Later developments prove this to have been a mistake as a five-stamp mill in twenty-six days' run cleaned up near $7,000 from this mine. Mr. C. F. Lewis was one of the old company which gave up the mine and he gives as his opinion that had there not been some hokus-pokus management the mine even then could have been made to pay. He gives this example in support of his theory that there are other mines in this locality which were abandoned in early days that could be made to pay if properly managed.

Mr. C. F. Lewis returned last Thursday from Foot's creek, at which place he has been engaged in putting up a hoisting engine and boiler for Miles Standish. Mr. Standish's mine is about ten miles from Gold Hill. He is down fifty feet with a shaft and finds a bed of rich gold bearing gravel. It was supposed that the top ledge through which Mr. Standish has sunk his shaft was bed rock, but such proves to be a mistake. Everything about this mine is now in shape to begin work and only moderated weather and a little less snow is needed to insure immediate operations. Mr. Lewis reports there being many rich placer claims on this creek, but lack of water prevents them being worked just at present. This gentleman is agreeably surprised with the mining outlook and can see no reason why we need not look for great developments.

CENTRAL POINT, THE PUBLIC SCHOOL

John Carney is in town. Dennis Dugan, of Sams Valley, called on us Tuesday. Mrs. J. W. Merritt returned from Salem, Sunday. S. Vanlever, of Prospect, is spending the week in town. We are glad to state that Mrs. George Little is convalescent. Mr. Olwell is very busy now pruning his fine young orchard. Miss Mary Pankey visited with friends in this place Monday. Rev. A. J. Stevens, of Talent, spent Saturday and Sunday in town. Miss Martha Cardwell made a flying trip to Jacksonville Saturday. Miss Mary Jacobs has returned home after an extended visit at Ashland. Our sportsmen are good hunters, but they don't seem to bring in much game. It is quite the fashion for our young men to attend business college at Medford.

Miss Young, of Eagle Point, is visiting relatives and friends here this week. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton has been quite ill, but is better at present. J. M. Childers and Bent Vincent, of Sams Valley, were in town on business last week. Mrs. Strickland's little girl is getting well. Whether she had scarlet fever or not is not known. Rev. Bryan failed to keep his appointment Sunday evening on account of inclement weather. Miss Jennie Linvill, of Sams Valley, passed through here Tuesday on her way to the county seat. Remember the dance this Friday evening at the Central Point hotel. Music by Ashland orchestra. Miss Edna Gibson, who is teaching school on Gall creek, visited her parents here a few days this week. Born, Feb. 4th, to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Geer, a daughter, and on the same date to Mr. and Mrs. Reid, a son. George Clements came down from Medford last Tuesday, to have his picture made by our artist, Mrs. Nichols. Mr. Cooksey, a former resident of this place, but now living on the Hunsaker ranch at Table Rock, is very low with consumption.

O. A. Heatherly, who has been the guest of his father-in-law, Wm. Owen, for several weeks, will return in a few days to his home in Colfax, Wash. Israel Harris, of Beagle, was in town Monday with a four horse team, and took out a load of feed, flour, etc. He said the snow was about eight inches deep out there, and over a foot of snow is reported at the Meadows. An enjoyable time is expected at Fradenburgh's dance tonight (Friday). A party from Grants Pass will be in attendance, besides a large number from other towns in this county. This is the opportunity of your life to have a good time.

J. B. Welch returned to the Meadows last Friday. He contemplates moving his saw mill which is now in upper Sams Valley, to the body of timber west of Willow Springs. That will be quite a convenience to many, as there is talk of building by several of our citizens. Bill Webb, who left Central Point several months ago and hurried down into California, returned from that state and got off the train at Ashland Monday and went at once to Tolman Springs to get Mrs. Webb and his son Claude. They went for Woodville, Oregon, Wednesday.—Klamath Falls Star.
