Roads are in an awful fix from here to Medford; the nearer Medford you get the worse the roads. The road is the reflex manifestation of the civilization of a community; therefore, etc. We believe that every man in Medford and Central Point should be hung for the sin of omission. If you pull through that lane alongside of Olwell's orchard and then go and look at the windrows of good gravel along Bear creek you will see what is omitted. Why Brother Nickell did not rush a bill through the legislature declaring this particular road a nuisance, is amazing. A great opportunity for fame, and an "ad" in "Times" was hereby foolishly thrown away.

Notice—To Whom it May Concern.

In the matter of building sidewalks, the town board duly considered the same, and appearing to the board that a new sidewalk should be constructed from the north-east corner of C and 7th street to the intersection of the county road near the Medford distillery. On motion, which was unanimously adopted, the following order was made, to-wit:

WHEREAS—Under the provisions of an ordinance No. 84, passed the 20th day of August, A. D. 1929, entitled, "An ordinance to provide for the making and repairing of sidewalks," it is the judgment of the board of trustees that the public convenience requires that section 1 of said ordinance be amended so that a new sidewalk be ordered built and constructed upon and along the streets hereinafter described, by the property owners owning property adjacent thereto.

THEREFORE—It is ordered that the property owners owning and holding property along the following line within the town of Medford, Oregon, to-wit: Commencing at the north-east corner of C and 7th street and running thence along the east side of C street to its intersection with the county road near the Medford distillery at north boundary line of said town, six inches wide or more than eight inches in width and 14 inches in thickness and of a width 24 inches, with 4 stringers 2x4 walk to be substantially spiked with not less than 12 penny nails. All lumber to be of red fir and notice is hereby given that a failure to so build and complete said sidewalk within 30 days from the 31st day of March, A. D. 1933, will result in the town of Medford, Oregon, being subject to the penalties provided by said ordinance.

Dated at Medford, Oregon, this 14th day of March, A. D. 1933.

WM. I. VAWTER, Mayor.
Attest: J. H. Paris, Town Recorder.

Several of the citizens are building new board fences around their fine farms and are moving the time worn, old fashioned, Virginia rail fences to the back ground. A few years ago the principle occupation of this neighborhood was the making and hauling of rails, and rails passed as legal tender to pay for produce and groceries, but with the introduction of more modern improvements no more rails are used. It is hard for an old timer to get used to the new order of things, and every day brings something new in this rushing, progressive age.

I have been reading the predictions of John McGovern and Andrew H. Green, in regard to the future of the great city of America one hundred years hence, and it occurred to me it would be a fine idea for THE MAIL to solicit essays from the students of the various schools, teachers or any one else, to give their opinion in regard to the development of our beautiful valley during the next ten years. Not of any one particular spot, but the whole of this coast, surrounded as it is by the rim of everlasting mountains. If one part is improved for the whole valley will feel the impulse. It is evident some great change must take place in our financial and business affairs, or there will not be employment for the rising generation that are now attending our numerous schools.

A great deal of excitement, which caused a large crowd to gather, happened today. Some time ago Ben Dyer discovered a very rich ledge of gold quartz where the railroad had cut through the point of a hill near here, but the R. R. Co. would not allow him to work the mine on their right of way, until he should prospect the ledge further away, and then if it proved rich, they were to give him the privilege to open to the right of way. He sunk a shaft fifty or sixty feet away, first having bonded the land from the owner, G. F. Billings. On last Friday he came to his home, having left his tools and windlass at the mine. Today when he and his men went back, they found some parties from Ashland working the mine, claiming to hold a bond for a deed from G. F. Billings for the land, and also asserting that they had taken out seven hundred dollars since last Saturday. It made Mr. Dyer pretty hostile and it is hard to say how it will terminate. It throws a rather wrong appearance, either on the Ashland parties, or else on our esteemed Sunday school leader, G. F. Billings.

Wm. Abbott has been running his saw mill nearly all winter and has a supply of lumber on hand, waiting for the roads to dry up so as to be able to deliver, to fill the numerous orders.

If we are not much mistaken your correspondent at Phoenix has chosen a misnomer for his nom de plume, for if he is the person we take him to be he is the hero of a hundred bear fights, and always came off victorious.

This little village is at present very quiet, for nearly every able bodied man is at work on the farm, or chopping cord wood, or prospecting, although just at present the snow on old Wagner Peak is too deep to admit of successful prospecting, but as soon as the snow shall have disappeared a great deal of actual work will be done, and without a doubt numerous ledges will be developed.

We have churches here of several denominations. Rev. J. Morrison of the Seventh Day Baptist, Father Brower, of the Dunkard, Bro. Kahler of the Methodist with friend Stevens of the Baptist, and Sunday school led by Billings. Also spiritual circles innumerable, and a literary society, and last but not least by a good deal, the Alliance, with one hundred and thirty five members, and more coming.

Mrs. B. C. Goddard passed over to the unknown shore after a long and painful illness, at her daughter's home, Mrs. Ersula Dean, on Saturday morning, March 18. A large procession of her friends and neighbors followed her remains to the Talent cemetery, where, with appropriate ceremony she was laid away to the long rest, after so long a journey on earth, she having passed her sixty-sixth birthday. She was a dutiful wife, affectionate mother, and true friend. Sic transit gloria mundi.

At about 2 o'clock p. m., the house of James Purvis, being the fine residence built by David E. Stearns during his life, caught fire from a defective flue, and in one hour was entirely consumed. The neighbors immediately gathered from far and near, but a strong wind blowing, they were unable to save the residence, but prevented the out buildings from catching fire and also secured the most of the household goods. Their loss is about $1,500 and comes very heavy on Mr. Purvis at this time.

Talent Talk.

Talent school closed for the term, having had six months, under the management of Prof. Beatty and Miss Roberts.

Old Mr. Beeson has been laid up with rheumatism and a combination of complaints, the effect of la grippe of a year ago.

The young folks of Talent attended a pleasant social dance given by the Phoenix folks, of which I guess Manafraidofabear will give you a report.

Our constable, J. B. Carlisle, is suffering from a severe cold, contracted while sinking a one hundred foot shaft on the divide, between Wagner creek and Ashland.

A meeting will be called soon to try to raise means to build a new school building. The one now in use is not fit to confine criminals in, much less innocent pupils and teachers.

James W. Briner is spending a few days with us, buying a supply of provisions to take to his rich placer mines on Beaver creek, where he expects to dig out a small fortune this summer.

Wm. Abbott has been running his saw mill nearly all winter and has a supply of lumber on hand, waiting for the roads to dry up so as to be able to deliver, to fill the numerous orders.

A great deal of excitement, which

Thackery's Tea Service.

Mrs. Anne Thackery Ritten tells that her illustrious father's house was like a bachelor's establishment, with cracked china and frayed tabbies. One morning, however, there mysteriously appeared a hamper containing a beautiful breakfast array, accompanied by a copy of the following:

Of esteem as a token—
Fate preserve it unbroken—
A friend sends this tea dish of porcelain rare,
And with truth and sincerity
Wishes health and prosperity
To the fair M. A. Thackery's "Washy Fair!"

No one could guess who the mysterious donor might be, and for many mornings the problem was agitated while the family took their breakfast from the fine new china. Years after, when James was about to sail for Australia, he said reproachfully to his old employer: "I sent you the breakfast things. You guessed a great many people, but you never guessed they came from me."

Songs Sung by Gray Clad Soldiers.
The "Jack Morgan Songster," compiled by a captain in General Lee's army during the rebellion, is today retained as a veritable curio in the collection of an Indiana gentleman. This book contains the songs sung by the Confederate soldiers, including the original "Dixie," "Happy Land of Canada," etc.

But it was not always of war alarms that the gray clad soldiers sang. The book includes many of the old time sentimental favorites—"Nelly Gray," "Annie Laurie," "Lorena," and "Lorena's Lullaby," "The Old Kentucky Home," "Belle Braddon," "Do They Miss Me at Home?" "Ever of Thee," "In the Sweet Dell," "Old Bob Bidley," "Home, Sweet Home," "Oh, Willy, We Have Missed You," and many and many another of the like, that thirty years ago were on every melodious lip.

Traveling Stones.
The traveling stones in Nevada are said to equal as curiosities those of Australia. These stones are perfectly round, about as large as a walnut and of an ivory nature. When distributed about on the floor, table or any smooth surface within two or three feet of each other they immediately commence traveling toward each other and meet at a common center, and there lie huddled in a bunch like eggs in a nest. A single stone removed to a distance of four feet upon being released returns to the heap, but if taken away as much as five feet remains motionless. They are largely composed of magnetic iron ore.

The Laggieher's Surprise.
Here's a big bit, and good, too, if 'twasn't so muddy.

"Ossie!"—Truth.

A Score.

Hard Up Gent—Say, boss, can't yer give a feller a few cents to help him along?

Mr. Delawney—Why don't you do something faw yav on living? You had better ask for bawins instead of money.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.
Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by G. H. HASKINS, Druggist.

Cholera in Pennsylvania.
Swickley, Penn.: We had an epidemic of cholera, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This Remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhoea for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine. P. P. KNAPP, Ph. G.
