To a casual observer Mexican poverty is extremely picturesque. It is not an imitation of respectative of respect to the remains of our comfort and light? To the Rible we have a superfect and light? To the Rible we have a superfect and light? tribute of respect to the remains of our little sister, Ada Adkins, the youngest member of our church. Only a few weeks ago Ada expressed a desire to unite with the church and be baptized, though it was known by her parents and others that for some time she had been trusting her Savior. She was released and at the property of the state of th ceived and it was an impressive scene when she obeyed her Savior in baptism. Ada possessed an intelligent faith in Jesus as her personal Savior, and had a remarkable grasp of the truth for trating the caves of the rocks and fell down in the depths of ocean—pierces. one so tender in years. She would talk about Jesus as one would speak of a personal friend. To her, Jesus was a coffin and left the dear form and real Savior. Not an historical charac-ter, but an ever present, living Savior. Since her public profession she has been very faithful and zealous in christian work. The conversion of her corruption, this corruptions shall put on immortality." "We have a building mind. In fact, she seemed to forget eternal in the heavens." Death to the herself, and was absorbed in anxious christian, is but the gateway to the parthought for her friends who were out of Christ. She said the day before her departure, when questioned about the row, sickness, disappointment crowd departure, when questioned about the possible results of her disease, "If I possible results of her disease, and when they find one who will give, they spread the glad tidings among all their class, and indeed I suspected them of having discovered some peculiar way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next station, so besieged way of telegraphing the information to the next stati she was afraid she would not meet them in Heaven, unless christians prayed for them. What an exhortation do we have in this earnest christian to pray for the unsaved! In mission work, too, she was deeply interested. More than she was deeply interested.
