

THE MEDFORD MAIL

BLITON & YORK, Publishers. A. S. BLITON, Editor. W. T. YORK, Manager. Published Every Friday Morning.

Subscription $1.50 per year in advance. Entered in the Post Office at Medford, Oregon as Second-Class Mail Matter. MEDFORD, FRIDAY, AUG. 25, 1893.

The Oregon Herald, a populist paper, published at Oregon City, lasted very quick. It appeared four weeks and then the sheriff appeared and is now carrying the keys to the office.

A dollar by changing hands ten times a day may pay or help to pay ten debts, but if it is placed in an old stocking and hidden in a feather bed the owner is helping to make money scarce and hard times.

The confidence men, "tin horn" gamblers and circus "short change" folks must find these very trying times for their business. With all the disadvantages of a money famine there is some little satisfaction in knowing that the above named infections cannot thrive under these trying situations.

Within the past few months about a dozen cashiers or ex-cashiers of broken banks have terminated their own existence by shooting or poisoning themselves.

The statistics of last year's immigration are not encouraging. They show that illiterate, cheap and undesirable immigrants are pouring into the country in numbers that may well arrest public attention.

The Oregonian said Washburn's circus was all right and a good one. It proved to be a hilk—and the Oregonian lied.

Eugene merchants continue to haul goods from Corvallis on wagons, and the teamsters make good wages. The railway may get some of the hauling after the rainy season commences, but it is to be hoped that a steamer line will relieve them of the work.

The Oregon State Journal, published at Eugene, in speaking of the defaulting treasurers of Douglas and Jackson county closes by asking "What is the matter with Southern Oregon, anyhow?"

Some uneasiness is felt at Corvallis about the safety of L. L. Horning. He left there five weeks ago for the gold mines of Southern Oregon, and no tidings of his subsequent movements have been received.

A large number of men who are net professional tramps are passing through the Willamette valley, from the silver states. It is said there are 2000 men moving between Walla Walla and Portland.

I prescribe Simmons Liver Regulator, and it cures all the troubles it resolves.—Dr. D. W. Williams, St. Paul, Minn.

A Big Real Estate Deal.

For the past few weeks there has been in process of negotiation a real estate deal in this locality which is of no small proportions and last Monday week the transfer was made. The tract of land is located twelve miles north of Medford, known as the Pat Donagan ranch and embraces 4200 acres of as-fine land as the Rogue river valley possesses.

It is deals of such importance as the above which tends greatly to the fast development of our country and to none others is the credit in this instance, as in many more, due but to Messrs. Hamilton & Palm.

Joe Goldstone, who is now in New York city, writes THE MAIL like this: "The heat here is intense; in fact, it is not a breeze is blowing. I tell you boys, I miss the beautiful evenings and the cool breeze of the Rogue river valley."

Among the Churches. Rev. T. N. Wilson will preach at the Episcopal church in Medford next Tuesday evening at the usual hour.

Services next Sunday as usual. Subject for 11 o'clock service—Can I know that I am saved? Evening subject—Serving Christ and his reward.

One of Kaiser's Pans. From the Valley Record. Ex-President Harrison has been invited to attend the soldiers' reunion at Medford.

Musical Convention. B. R. Willit was down from Ashland doing a little talk around among our musical inclined people regarding a convention which is billed to convene at Ashland on Monday, September 4th, and continue four days.

Saint Mary's Academy. The Saint Mary's Academy, of Jacksonville, Oregon, conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Names, will resume studies on September 4, '93.

Take Good Care of the Children. For summer-complaints in children, there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

For $1 You Can Get 20 pounds of beans, 20 bars of soap, 14 extra C sugar, 14 rolled oats, 4 pkgs. Arbuckle's coffee, at Fawcett & Morris.

MINES AND MINING.

Judge Bond has two shifts busily at work on his recent purchase, the Tin Pan mine. He is in one hundred feet on a tunnel and the prospects grow better with each foot of tunneling.

It was a rich find that Benj. Thurston made last Monday. He was prospecting on Galls creek and at a point about an half mile south and east of the well known Tin Pan mine he struck something that is decidedly rich.

Alex. Orme was up from his mine, Wednesday and reported he had that day sold his Tough Nut mine to J. H. King, of Seattle, for $1000 cash. Tough Nut is an extension of the Bertina mine which he bonded to Seattle parties some few weeks ago and from which he took $6000 three years ago.

It Has Been Settled. The decision of the Behring sea tribunal of arbitration was handed down last Tuesday week. Five points of article 6 are decided against United States.

Mrs. Dealer, of Salem, is stopping at the hotel. Rufus Cole and wife were up from Coles Sunday visiting. The railroad carpenters are working on the big trestle near here.

Central Point Items. Mr. Neoland, of Table Rock, was gratified about our lively little city last Saturday.

Mr. Olsson, who has been confined to the house for a couple of weeks with a troublesome knee, is able to be out again.

Mr. Estus, brother-in-law of Dr. J. C. Lee, is stopping at his sister's. He intends buying a small tract of land near this city.

Miss Gertrude Bryan, daughter of Rev. Bryan, returned home from Portland a few days ago, where she has been attending school.

S. H. Holt, of Medford, was in the city last Saturday distributing bills for the state fair at Salem, and doing a little business for the Alliance.

J. J. Hansen is justly proud of his trotter, and no person says him any even though he drives to town every day for the purpose of speeding him.

Rufus Cox the rustler, threshed 2700 bushels of wheat for Mrs. Ish, near Medford, last Saturday. He reports that that lady will have about 9000 bushels.

Esquire Parkyppile now wears "specs" with a dignity well becoming to his advanced years—and to pay homage to the fact that he is a full fledged grand-pa.

A report is going the rounds that Mr. Dunstan, who wintered here two years ago, is coming back to the Rogue river valley—likes the climate here much better than in Washington.

Rev. Chastine has rented the Wm. Carey property, in the north part of town, and will take possession this week. The gentleman is of the Baptist persuasion and will have charge of that church at this place.

Mrs. J. W. Merritt has been very ill for the past ten days, but is at present much improved, so much so that her recovery is almost assured. The lady has many friends here and all rejoice over the favorable turn her malady has taken.
