Wheat is coming into Portland in very satisfactory quantities, and the warehouses are rapidly filling and several ships are now loading. There is a free-selling movement and the local market is active. Holders show more disposition to let go than they have at any time this season. There is no expectation of better prices.

The silver brick case is practically dead. At the office of the clerk of the supreme court it was said that the suit brought against Secretary Foster was still on the calendar, but inasmuch as he had gone out of office and his successor, Secretary Carlisle, could not be made a party, it was unlikely that the case would be pressed. It will be remembered that a motion made last winter to advance the case and make it a special matter was disallowed.

At the convention of the W. C. T. U. at Stockton, resolutions were adopted protesting against the desecration of the Sabbath by having the laborers at work on the Midwinter Fair on Sunday, and against the opening of the fair on that day. There were also protests against daily newspapers giving so much space to crime and impure matter. Resolutions were passed that every effort should be made to secure the ballot for women, and in favor of a branch of work for young women and children.

Whereas, under the provisions of an ordinance of the town of Medford known as Ordinance No. 84, passed the 26th day of Aug. A. D. 1889, entitled an Ordinance to provide for the making and repairing of sidewalks, it is the judgement of the board of trustees that the public convenience require that Section 1 of said ordinanse to be enforced and a new sidewalk be ordered built and constructed upon and along the street hereinafter described, by the property owners owning property adjacent thereto.

Therefore, it is ordered that the property owners owning and holding property along the following line within the town of Medford, Oregon, to-wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of block No. Thirteen (13) and running east along north side Seventh (7) street to the southeast corner of block Three (3) in the town of Medford, Jackson county, Oregon, do within twenty (20) days from the 26th day of Oct. A. D. 1893, cause said sidewalk to be built as set forth above and in front of their respective property adjacent thereto on the grade that will be established by board of trustees. Said sidewalk to be built of plank not less than six (6) inches or more than eight (8) inches in width and two (2) inches in thickness and of a regular width of twelve (12) feet and substantially spiked with not less than twenty (20) penny nails and to be provided with not less than seven (7) stringers and not less than two by six (2x6) inches, also provided with mud sills not more than eight (8) feet apart. B. S. Webb, City Recorder.

A terrific storm visited the states bordering the Gulf of Mexico. Thousands of persons perished, and miles of the country is completely devastated. The relief parties who have returned confirm the worst of the news sent out. To date 2,041 lives are reported lost. The property loss will reach several millions. The dead are being buried in trenches, as it is impossible to get coffins.

A most disastrous shipwreck occurred on the Washington coast, about three miles north of the Quillayute river, when the Chilean bark Leanor of Valparaiso was driven ashore and smashed to pieces by the heavy surf. The horror was made more terrible by the death of the captain with his wife in his arms, the drowning of four seamen and the sufferings of those who reached the shore exhausted and far from help.

Harry Gray, who was involved in the murder of Clara Matthews, narrowly escaped lynching at Lincoln, Placer county, Cal. It was in the home of his dead victim that the attempt was made, and the main actors in the demonstration were the prominent citizens of the town wuence Clara was taken to be butchered. As it was, only the piteous appeal for mercy of his own kindred saved the wretched man's life, and he fled the town in terror, while his would-be executioners gave vent to their fury by hanging him in effigy when prevented from hanging him in the flesh.
