That Medford Will Have a Creamery—Can Have It If the Farmers Will Furnish Enough Cows

There is Big Profit in the Business If Conducted Properly, to Both Farmer and Creamery.

J. W. Ling, of Harrisburg, arrived in Medford last week, and since his coming he has been doing a considerable amount of creamery talk among our townspeople and what few farmers he has been able to see. The gentleman is formerly from that great creamery belt of the world, which is in and about Elgin, Illinois, and is in consequence well versed in that line of business. Last spring he built a creamery at Harrisburg, Oregon, and successfully operated it during the season, so successful in fact that recently he sold the plant to good profit to himself. At the outset it was an up-hill job to get the attention of farmers to float in the creamery channel, but at the close of the season he had 250 cows listed and even a greater number than that is promised for the coming season.

Mr. Ling is here for the purpose of establishing a creamery in Medford, provided he can secure encouragement sufficient to warrant the undertaking. The plan of operations as mapped out by Mr. Ling is, not to build a creamery here this spring, but instead formulate all plans for its erection next fall, and be in readiness for operation one year from this spring. But before making the outlay of money, something like $1500, amount required in putting in the machinery and erecting the buildings, he must be guaranteed by the farmers hereabouts that they will supply him with the cream from at least 250 cows. In consideration of this guarantee from the farmers Mr. Ling agrees to make a contract with them to the effect that he will have the creamery in shape to receive their cream at a time not later than the spring of 1896.

There is one problem which is at present baffling the proposition somewhat which is the possibility of there not being range sufficient for feed for this number of cows. But a way out of this, which seems plausible to us, would be the sowing of a few acres more to alfalfa and less to wheat.

With the creamery located at Medford, the distance on all sides from which cream can be profitably gathered will be ten miles. The creamery sends out teams each morning which visits the farms of all those who have contracted to supply, and takes in all the cream from the two milkings of the day before. This is measured and placed to the farmers credit, and at the end of each month the cash is paid for all cream delivered during the month. As to the profit which accrues to the farmer, there is no question but that it is a big item, accepting the tabulated reports from farmers who have given the business a fair test, as our proof. We have now in mind one gentleman, who is a patron of the Coos Bay creamery, who reports that from cream supplied that creamery he made, during the year 1894, an average profit of $57.12 from each of his twenty-nine cows.

The question which seems the only one that right now stands in the light of our establishing this enterprise is, will our farmers so shape their farm matters as to provide the products from the necessary 250 cows. The question of profit can be fully demonstrated by applying for information to any well conducted creamery or its patrons. Mr. Ling feels himself safe in stating that cream sufficient to produce one pound of butter will never be worth less than twenty cents, net to the farmer—and the work of manufacturing the butter is a great load taken from the shoulders of the good housewife.

THE MAIL would like to see the proposition come to a successful issue, as we firmly believe there is money to be made out of it by the farmers. We would like to have the farmers living within the radius of ten miles of this city report at this office the number of cows they can put to this use. It is desired that not less than eight cows be listed by any one farmer—and as many more as he wishes. The plant will have a capacity for handling the cream from 450 cows.

Jacksonville News.

Miss Amy Cantrall, of Uniontown, was here Tuesday visiting relatives.

Judge Neil, Hon. T. Cameron and Chas. Nickell have returned from a visit at the Capital city.

Hon. W. F. Songer, of Ashland, was at this place a few days ago on probate business connected with the Wells estate.

Mrs. J. Beech, of Los Angeles, arrived in Jacksonville Thursday evening for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. T. Miller.

The Lenten season begun Wednesday. Services appropriate to the occasion were held at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Faber officiating.

John Jacobs, of Central Point, who has recently finished a business course at the Stockton Business college, is now clerking in the store of Rames, White & Co.

Misses Kate and Emma Plymale, who have been paying relatives here a brief visit, left for Salem during the week. Miss Emma will accept a position in a millinery store in that city.

W. E. Coul and family have become permanent residents of Jacksonville. Their household goods arrived from Tacoma a few days since, and now these estimable people are "at home" one block north of the court house.

A few weeks ago we predicted that A. N. Soliss would bear a title before his return. So it is. When his old haunts know him again his card will read "A. N. Soliss, Attorney and Counsellor at Law." Mr. Soliss was admitted to the bar last week.

Last Sunday Victor and Ben Plymale and Luther Engledow became "sadder but wiser" boys. They found a box that contained pebbles and powder, and wishing to separate them they thought the quicker way would be to touch a match to the same—result, a loud report, and three boys minus eyebrows and eyelashes, with hair badly singed and faces and hands bearing some painful burns. They will not repeat the operation.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Justus.

The sudden and very unexpected death of Mrs. George R. Justus, which occurred last Thursday evening, cast a shadow of gloom in the homes of the lady's many friends in this city.

She was apparently in her usual good health and spirit to within a few seconds of her death. She ate supper with the family and soon after repaired to the sitting room, where she spread upon the floor some dress goods, from which she was going to cut a dress for her mother. She had just knelt on the floor, preparatory to the task, when other occupants of the room, her husband, mother and adopted daughter, heard her calling to them to catch her, stating that she was fainting, but before they could reach her side she had fallen to the floor a corpse. All possible attention was given her but to no avail—life was extinct, and another evidence of the uncertainty of life was given to the world.

Friends gathered about the grief-stricken relatives and every comfort possible was tendered them, and by these friends and especially the members of the Good Templars, of which order she was an honored member, were made the arrangements incidental to the sad occurrence. Funeral services were held at the family residence, on G street, on Saturday following and were attended by a large concourse of sympathizing friends. The services were conducted under the management of the Good Templars order and the sermon was preached by Rev. E. S. Craven. Interment was made in the family burial lot in the Jacksonville cemetery.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Sarah Jane Robb, was of Scotch parentage, was born in Ireland, in 1840. She came to America with her parents in 1854 and located in Essex county, New York. In 1865 she moved to Weaver county, California, where soon after she married Geo. W. McKnight, by which marriage two children were born, one a girl, who died when quite young and the other Wm. McKnight, who now lives on Foots creek, this county. In 1873 deceased, with her family, moved to Jackson county, Oregon, where two years later her husband died. In 1882 she was again married, to Geo. R. Justus, with whom she lived until death took her from earth's troubles to that promised bright and perpetual home beyond the clouds. Since early childhood she had been a devout follower of Christ and a strict adherent to his teachings, and was a member of the Presbyterian church, during her early life but soon after coming to Jackson county she joined with the Methodist church and was a member of that church at the time of her death. She was also an honored member and earnest worker in the Good Templars order of this city.

RESOLUTIONS FROM L. O. G. T. LODGE.

WITNESSES: Almighty and alwise God has removed by death from our midst Sister Sarah J. Justus, Supt. of Juvenile Templars of our order, who in submission to the hand that directs all things, although the silver cord be loosed, and the golden bowl be broken, and the pitcher be broken at the fountain, the body returned to earth as it was and the spirit to God who gave it and who we hope sympathize tears over the grave of our departed sister, let the present example stimulate our most serious thought and strengthen our resolutions of amendment, be it therefore:

RESOLVED, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy in the sad hour of trial and affliction to the husband, mother, son, sisters, brother and relatives in the loss of one whose vacant chair can never be filled—a devoted wife, loving daughter, kind mother, affectionate sister and charitable neighbor. We therefore gravely commend them to the alwise care of Him who doeth all things well. The Lord say: Let the Lord take away, blessed be the name of the Lord. He it further:

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of this lodge; also a copy be sent to the family.

Submitted in Faith, Hope and Charity,
A. N. SAYER,
E. A. JONES,
ANNIE HAMMOND,
EMMA HOWARD,
Committee.

The following lines are written in memory of Mrs. Justus.

Our sister is gone,
She has left us forever,
No more will she meet with us in
The lodge room;
But one week ago
We met, and we parted,
And now she is sleeping within
The cold tomb.

How bright was her smile,
How cheerful her presence,
None thought that the Angel of Death was so near.
None thought that
The next time we gathered together
One chair would be vacant, one
Member not here.

So sudden the call,
So unlooked for the summons,
So soon did she pass to
Eternity's shore,
O, shall we not miss her,
And wish with sad hearts she was
With us once more?
She rests from her work,
All her labors are ended,
Life's burdens and cares she will
Carry no more;
But still in our hearts
Will her memory be cherished,
And the hope of reunion, when
Life shall be o'er.

—Sadie Squires.

And I never have any alterations, and our neighbors marvel at our congeniality.

What's the reason for this blessed state of affairs? You ask.

Well, when first our two throbbing hearts were made one, we established a sort of a set of rules which both of us have adhered to very steadfastly. But even then differences would arise. For instance: We needed a stove. She was in favor of a CHARTER OAK, while I favored another make. She wanted her way and I wanted mine.

Did we quarrel? Not a bit of it—we effected a compromise. That's an agreeable way to settle such disputes, you know.

Which did we buy? "H—well, we bought the kind my wife wanted—a CHARTER OAK.

Charter Oak stoves have no equal in quality and convenience. We are sole agents for them in Medford. We also have a full stock of shell and heavy hardware.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, of the County of Jackson.

Ida McBride, plaintiff, vs. J. W. Miller, defendant, for a divorce.

To J. W. McBride, the above named defendant:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of the above plaintiff, in the above entitled Court, now on file with the Clerk of said Court, within ten days from the date of the service of this summons upon you, if served in Jackson county, Oregon; but if served in any other county in the State of Oregon, then within twenty days from the date of the service of this summons upon you; or if served on you out of the State of Oregon, or by publication, then by the first day of the ensuing April term of said Court, to-wit: the first day of April, 1895; and you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, as hereby required, the plaintiff will take a default against you and will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the said complaint, to-wit: for a decree severing the marriage bonds heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant. This summons is published in THE MEDFORD MAIL for six consecutive weeks, by order of the Hon. W. C. Hale, one of the Judges of the First Judicial District, made at chambers, this the 22nd day of January, 1895.
