Hinman Is Still at Large.

Robt. Hinman, the Roseburg jailbreaker, of whom mention was made in THE MAIL last week, is making it decidedly interesting for the people down in California as the following telegram of date, December 3, would seem to indicate:

A pitched battle was fought on the streets of Angel's Camp this evening between two officers and Robert Hinman, the desperado who is wanted at Roseburg, Or., for breaking jail and shooting a deputy sheriff. Before the constable had an opportunity to prepare for Hinman's arrest, he broke away and ran up the street, which was full of people. The officers followed him, firing at every step. Hinman turned and took a shot at each of his pursuers, but without effect. The officers' ammunition was finally exhausted and they were obliged to give up the pursuit, while their man disappeared in the darkness. A posse was organized and sent in pursuit, but up to a late hour he had not been found. It thing real is to be done.—N. Y. Ledger is thought by the officers that he was hit by one of the shots.

The supper present or in which they seem to take was served by Mrs. Howser, assisted by Miss Alice Carter. The table presented a beautiful sight and the supper was most delicious. About 12:30 "Home Sweet Home" was rendered by the musicians, Mesers. C. Carter, F. Walker and Walfred Gardner, after which all congratuated Representative-elect J. J. Howser and wished the young statesman a seccessful trip. The guests then departed for their respective homes, having spent a most enjoyable evening and one long to be remembered. J. T. R.

Aching Joints Announce the presence of rheumatism which causes untold suffering. Rheumatism is due to lactic acid in the blood. It cannot be cured by liniments or other outward applications. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, re-moves the cause of rheumatism and permanently cures the disease. This s the testimony of thousands of people who once suffered the pains of rheumatism but who have actually been cured by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Its great power to act upon the blood and remove every impurity is the secret of the wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Openness of mind is the merit of the philosopher, whose business lies all in his study. His work is not that of dealing with events, with combinations that move and have their critical mements, default in seizing which may lead to misfortunes beyond repair. The philosopher deals with abstractions. He can take his time. The present interests work out the exact distance before he fires his bird will pass out of sight. The Journal of the American Medical Association has an editorial, the general trend of which is to show that hyply being laid upon the shelf, or, at least its use confined to irregulars outside of the recognized school of medicine. This is a rather curious statement to make, at least if one measures the interest of subjects upon which German physicians are writing more monograms at a more active interest. The sensational side of hypnotism is certainly dying out, but a certain practical side, which is represented by the word "suggestion," has undoubtedly come to stay and to be used in therapeutics.

A Diplomatic Tutor.

From a French journal comes this little anecdote of a tutor and his royal pupil: The lesson was in Roman history and the prince was unprepared. "We come now to the Emperor Caligula. What do you know about him, prince?" The question was followed by a silence that was becoming awkward, when it was broken by the diplomatic tutor. "Your highness is right," he said, "perfeetly right. The less said about this emperor the better."
