Sam McGee's Alaska Letter.

Under date of September 17th, S. B. McGee writes from Ft. Wrangel, Alaska, to E. W. Carder, of this city, as follows:

I have been up the Stickeen river on the new trail to Teslin lake. The mouth of the river is just seven miles from Ft. Wrangel. It is 150 miles up the river to Telegraph creek and twelve miles to Taltan, an Indian village on Taltan creek. The next camp is Jimtown, twenty-five miles, and the next is Middle creek and then Beebie creek, and so on until you reach a chain of lakes which you follow until you come to Teslin lake. You can go in a boat from here to Telegraph creek, 150 miles. There is a steamer which runs to that point. More will be put on next season. It costs $40 a ton to get your freight taken up on the boat. Four men can build a boat for $25 that will take six tons up the river—by doing the work themselves. It is 150 miles from Telegraph creek to Teslin lake by land and a good, easy pack trail. There are about one hundred head of pack horses at Telegraph creek. A charge of twenty cents per pound is made to pack the 150 miles. There is going to be big travel through this way next spring as it is the only feasible route to the Yukon. There are thousands of people already at Skaguay who can't get across. Don't go that way. They are coming back and going up the Stickeen. The best time to go is in April or the first of May when the Stickeen river breaks up, then there is an abundance of feed along the trail. Yes, that Copper river is a fake and Cook's inlet is all worked out; so is the Caseyare and Deer lake mines in British Columbia. The only place to go to is the upper and middle Yukon country. Don't go to the Klondike—every foot of that country is staked off—unless you want to go there and branch out for some other point. Dawson City is overrun and provision is scarce.

(Right here Sam starts in to give a list of provision necessary for one man one month but before the list is finished he has gotten the amount up to six months and says it will cost, at Ft. Wrangel, $36, but whether he intended this amount for one or six months we are unable to guess. Following this is a list of tools and clothing necessary, which we give.)

In tools one should take a forty-two inch steel pick, gold pan, rocker irons, steel pike, full spring steel shovel, hand, rip and whip saws, ax, hatchet, hammer, copper nails for boat building, two pounds of pitch, two pounds of oakum, tent, pocket knife, shotgun and rifle, and one hundred feet of one-half inch rope. In clothing one should provide themselves with two or three suits of heavy woolen underwear, woolen socks, woolen shirts, one pair hip rubber boots, with leather soles, one pair heavy prospector's shoes, a suit of mackinaw clothing, an oil skin coat, a sou'wester hat, three pairs best woolen blankets and one rubber blanket, also snow glasses, as without them the sun will quickly produce snow blindness.

The entire outfit, including wearing apparel named, will cost $100 and will weigh about 700 pounds. The trip should never be made alone but should be made in parties of four or eight. One shotgun and one rifle is enough in each party. If there is any more information wanted just let me know. And mosquitoes, oh! you will find them by the million and they are the best bill presenters you ever saw.

LONDON IN 1772.

It Was Considered a Joke to Turn Cattle into a Ball Room.

Can anyone tell me anything of the city assembly rooms and the assembly rooms "on the Surrey side," i. e., South-wark, about the year 1772? The social side of the city about that time is curiously difficult to get at satisfactorily.

For instance, when Catherine Hulston went to London in 1783, being then 27 years of age, she went with a certain Mr. J. Woodhouse and his mother. They called for her at 7:30 in the evening, the gentleman being dressed in a suit of pale-blue French silk, spotted with pink and green, the coat lined with pink silk, his hair in a bag, a white feather in his hat, a sword by his side, and his ruffe and frill of fine point lace. This seems very splendid. At the assembly the men were chiefly in "dress coats"—meaning, probably, of blue or pink silk, like that of Mr. Woodhouse; those who were not wore "cloth coats, trimmed with narrow gold lace, with waistcoats of silver tissue, and the hair "in a queue, with curls flying out on each side of the head."

The other ladies were covered with diamonds. "The subscription to the city assembly is three guineas; there are 200 subscribers and late nights; the subscribers are the first people in the city; the rooms are lighted with wax; the branches for the candles, the urns for the tea and coffee and the baskets for the cakes and macaroons are of silver." I want to know more about this assembly.

As regards the Surrey assembly, all I can tell you about it is that the room was on the ground floor, and that on a certain night—the opening night of the season of 1772 (?)—while the dancing was at its height, some wag threw open the front door and gave admission to a drove of oxen, which began to run about in a most terrifying manner; some of the men drew their swords valiantly; others tumbled down; the ladies fainted and fell over the men; caps, hoops, tippets, handkerchiefs were lying all about the floor. And the oxen bellowed and ran about, threatening with their horns. What would have happened one knows not; but "the sprightly Mrs. Hanniver"—presumably a lady connected with the supper department—"coming from the Lactarium with bub for the gentlemen"—"bub" is defined by Webster as a strong malt drink—snatched from the master of the ceremonies his mopstick—did the M. C. on the Surrey side carry a mopstick as a wand of office?—and with so much spirit belabored the horny tribe that they fled incontinently.

When the company gathered themselves together, and picked up what they could, being horribly disheveled, amid the general woe—hoops gone, wigs pulled to pieces, headgear destroyed, dresses torn—they proceeded, suspect, to refresh themselves with the sprightly Mrs. Hanniver's stimulating jub. If anyone will tell me more about this assembly, I shall be grateful. —Sir Walter Besant, in London Queen.

Melrose to Many Millions.

Miss Grace Elliot, a San Francisco girl of 21 years, has through her attorney, laid claim to the fortune of $25,900,000 left by Juliana Clark, her father, who died in Australia 20 years ago. Clark and his wife came to San Francisco from Australia and soon after arriving a daughter was born and Mrs. Clark died. Clara, who was his wife to be buried in her native country and prepared to return to Australia. He could not take the child with him so he placed it in an orphan asylum, saying he would call for her as soon as he could return. When he reached Australia he died. Soon after his death, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot adopted the daughter and raised and educated her. Nothing was heard of Clara's vast estate until a couple of weeks ago, when a dispatch from the east stated that two nieces intended to claim it. Miss Elliot's attorneys claim that the estate can be transferred to her without contest, simply by proving her identity, which can easily be done.

Gave Back My Health.

There is no reason for being despondent and considering diseases of the blood incurable, simply because the treatment of physicians and many so-called blood remedies fail to effect a cure. Though it is naturally disheartening to the sufferer who faithfully takes the prescribed treatment of the physicians, often at the expense of hundreds of dollars, to find himself, no better as time goes by, still a cure will result from the right remedy, S.S.S., no matter what other treatment has failed.

The reason that S.S.S. (Swift's Specific) has so successfully cured even the worst cases after other treatment had been tried in vain is that it is the only remedy which forces the poison from the blood and permanently eliminates it from the system, which is the only correct principle of curing the disease. Mercurial remedies bottle up the poison and tear down the system, while S.S.S. forces out the poison and builds up and adds strength and vigor to the entire system. It is nature's remedy, and contains no harmful ingredient.

Mr. Charles Glenn, of 1563 Dudley St., Cincinnati, is one of the many who constantly praise S.S.S. for giving him back his health. He says:

"From childhood I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, and have taken almost every blood remedy on the market, but my case was deep-seated, and one by one they failed. The large, red blotches increased in size and number, and soon covered my entire body. My parents had me treated by a number of physicians, but the disease was too much for them, and after their temporary relief was over, I found myself growing steadily worse. Thus I grew into manhood, handicapped by a terrible disease and having tried so many remedies without relief, when a friend urged me to take S.S.S. I had little faith in any medicine. I was happy to find, however, that I had at last gotten the right remedy, for one bottle of S.S.S. did me so much good that I soon had hopes of being cured. I continued the remedy, and was cured completely, leaving my skin perfectly clear. My general health was also built up, and I am robust and strong. I believe S.S.S. will cure the worst case of blood poisoning in the world."

S.S.S. is a real blood remedy, and will cure the most obstinate cases of Cancer, Eczema, Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, old sores, or any disease caused by impure blood. It is and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain not a particle of mercury, potash, arsenic or other mineral. S.S.S. is sold by all druggists.

Valuable books on blood and skin diseases will be mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.

I have had heart trouble for years (enlargement of the heart). Finally diabetes set in. The two appeared to work together. What would relieve one would make the other worse. Among my many other troubles were frequent and copious urinations (exceeding a gallon during the night). In fact, I was troubled to such an extent in this way that on leaving home mornings I had to reckon in advance places to stop where I could relieve myself. I had tried numerous preparations highly recommended for all kidney ailments without apparent effect, until taking your Sparagus Kidney Pills, two boxes of which were sufficient to perform a complete, and to all outward appearances, permanent cure. Good Baking Powder cannot be sold for 25 cents or 30 cents a pound. Cream of tartar is expensive and cream of tartar is necessary to good baking powder.
