Mr. Mackey, the Medford photographer, came out on Tuesday of last week, and on Wednesday took a picture of our school. He decided not to take a picture of the school house, so he arranged the children on some long benches in the field near by, having the timber and hills for the background.

On Thursday of last week the residence of Mr. Middlebush, on the Williscroft farm, took fire in the roof from the stove pipe, and but for the timely action of Mrs. M. the house would have burned to the ground. The same day the house belonging to Geo. Brown, now occupied by James Mays, took fire from the stove pipe burning out but was extinguished before any damage was done.

G. W. Howard, the horse man, of Dry creek, was in town last week. He has but recently returned from Siskiyou County, Calif., where he has located a quartz claim. He says seventeen years ago he ran a tunnel seventy-five feet in the mountain where he was and the side of the mountain slid down and covered the mouth of the tunnel, and he left it. When he went back this time he found it had remained undisturbed. He says the quartz is very rich.

Jennings to do house work and while starting a fire with coal oil, spilled some on her apron and the flames from the stove flashed up and caught her clothing and but for the timely aid of Mr. Jennings and his sons she would have burned to death. As soon as Mr. Jennings discovered the fire he got a blanket and smothered the flames after quite a struggle. One arm and both sides were painfully burned. THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED!
 T. A. Slocum, the Great Chemist and Scientist, will Send to Sufferers These Free Bottles of His Newly Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy to the afflicted than the generous offer of the honored and distinguished chemist, T. A. Slocum, M. C., of New York City.

He has discovered a reliable and absolute cure for consumption, and all bronchial, throat, lung and chest diseases, catarrhal affections, general decline and weakness, loss of flesh and all conditions of wasting away; and to make its great merits known, will send three free bottles of his newly discovered remedies to any afflicted reader of THE MAIL.

Already his "new scientific system of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases. The Doctor considers it not only his professional, but his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

He has proved the "dreaded consumption" to be a curable disease beyond a doubt, in any climate and has on file in his American and European laboratories thousands of "heartfelt testimonials of gratitude" from those benefited and cured in all parts of the world.

Catarrhal and pulmonary troubles lead to consumption, and consumption, uninterrupted, means speedy and certain death. Don't delay until it is too late. Simply write T. A. Slocum, M. C., 98 Pine street, New York, giving express and postoffice address and the free medicine will be promptly sent. Please tell the Doctor you saw his offer in THE MAIL.

Winter Mulching.

On the subject of winter mulching American Cultivator has the following to say:

Whenever there is danger of trees or shrubs being winter killed, it may be obviated by spreading a heavy mulch as far as their roots extend. At the same time the tree trunks should be protected from attacks of mice which will find hiding places under the mulch. This may be done by applying a strong dilution of paris green to the trunk in the fall, putting it up two feet or more from the ground. It is better to wait until the ground is frozen quite deeply before applying the mulch. If a heavy mulch is applied early in the fall, it may prevent the soil from freezing to much depth through the winter. Where a few inches of soil are frozen and the soil remains in that condition there is less injury to roots than is sure to follow the succession of freezing and thawing on uncovered ground.

In mulching strawberry beds do not apply anything that will pack closely above them, else they will be smothered during the thawing weather in winter. Where evergreen branches can be had they make an excellent mulch for strawberries.

Mrs. A. Inveon, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request, as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by G. H. Haskins, druggist.

Foot and Queen.

Dr. Max Muller relates that the late queen of Holland frequently came to England and was fond of meeting while there distinguished literary people. On one occasion she lunched with Dean Stanley and asked him to invite several literary men, among whom were Tennyson, Lord Houghton, Huxley and Max Muller himself.

Luncheon was ready, and everybody had come to the deanery except Tennyson. Dean Stanley suggested that the party should wait no longer, but the queen refused to sit down before the laureate's arrival. There was another period of waiting, painful to all the company.

Finally someone suggested that probably Tennyson was "meeting about in the cloisters somewhere." One was sent to see, and the poet was indeed found there, apparently oblivious that anything was going on. He was brought in and placed at the table next the queen of the Netherlands.

The queen took the conversation into her own hands and in particular tried to draw Tennyson out. He was not in talking mood. She addressed him a question.

"Yes, ma'am," he answered.

Then there was another question.

"No, ma'am," came from Tennyson.

Again she asked his opinion about something. The question was not susceptible of answer by "Yes" or "No."

"Ma'am," said Tennyson after a great effort, "there is a great deal to be said on both sides of the question."

Presently he turned and whispered to Max Muller, "I wish they had put some of you talking fellows next to regina."

Which is better, to thoroughly cleanse and purify the blood just now, or make yourself liable to the many dangerous ailments which are so prevalent during summer? Impurities have been accumulating in the blood all winter, and right now is the time to get rid of them. A thorough course of Swift's Specific is needed to cleanse the blood and purify the system, toning up and strengthening it all over. Those who take this precaution now are comparatively safe all summer; but to neglect it is to invite some form of sickness which is so common during the trying hot season. It is now that a course of Swift's Specific will accomplish so much toward rendering the system capable of resisting the evil influences which are so liable to attack it during the summer when sickness is so abundant. It is the best tonic and system-builder on the market, because it is a real blood remedy and is made solely to search out and remove all impurities, and supply an abundance of pure, rich and red blood. S. S. S. is made exclusively of roots and herbs, and is Nature's own remedy. It is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other mineral. Be sure to get S. S. S. There is nothing half as good.
