NEWS OF THE STAFE.

The city of Cottage Grove is in debt only $100.

Baker City will hold its first municipal election in four years on the first Monday in November.

The prevailing impression among eastern Oregon cattlemen is that winter beef cattle will be scarce and high.

Heavy snow storms are reported from the vicinity of Mount Hood. Many sheep were caught out, as the herders did not look for snow so early in the F. D. Nelson, of Arlington, has invented a gold-saving machine. He says that it will save all gold, no matter how fine the particles may be.

The Western Electrical Supply Com pany has offered to equip Baker City with a fire alarm system for $4000. The proposition includes 15 fire alarm boxes. All the street cars in Astoria have been fitted with electric headlights, which innovation might with profit be introduced by street car companies in some larger cities.

T. R. Howard, who lives near Oak-land, raised a sunflower which meas-ured 16 inches in diameter. The talk was nine feet high. Stalk and flower weighed 25 pounds.

Oregon's hop yield this year will amount to about 12000,000 pounds, which means about a million and a half dollars put in circulation for this product alone, and this in a few localities.

The milk dealers' union of Portland has decided to advance the price of milk from $1.75 to $2, on account of the high price of cows and scarcity of grass. Good cows cannot be bought for less than $50 to $60 now, the milkmen say, while two years ago they could be obtained for $25.

The La Grande beet sugar factory commenced the manufacture of sugar last week. It is estimated that there are enough beets in the Grand Ronde valley to keep the factory running 100 days. At the last test of the sugar-beets at that place some lots when analyzed showed a percentage of sugar of 18.7. This will cause the beets to Data compiled by B. S. Pague, of the weather bureau, shows that for 26 years the mean October temperature has been 53 degrees. The warmest day was Oct. 8, 1891, when the mercury ceached 83 degrees. Oct. 31, 1887 and 1895 the temperature was 31 degrees. The average rain fall is 4.06 inches. The greatest monthly precipitation was in 1882 with 11.58, and there was only a trace in 1895.

"NO BOXES SOLD HERE."

A Sign Displayed In Shops Which Guard

"No Boxes Sold Here" is the sign that hangs in one of the principal jewelry establishments in the city. The sign made its appearance after the shopping of one Christmas season. But there is no time of the year in which the de-mand for boxes is quite discontinued, and the sign serves its purpose always.

The demand for boxes was prompted by the amiable desire to deceive some the article presented to him came from the best establishment in the city. Similar attempts are made at the well known glass and china shops, at one of the well known French confectioners and at all of the establishments which have made a reputation in some par-

Nearly all of these answer such applications with the words of the sign, "No Boxes Sold Here," but there are some few which sell them as regularly as they do other objects of merchandise and are quite indifferent to what be-comes of them so long as they get their rather high prices for the empty boxes bearing the name of the firm. Similar bearing the name of the firm. indifference is shown by a well known English pickle factory, which allows its labels to be sold here and pasted over any sort of stuff that the purchaser of them happens to concoct .-

Wonderful Pumping Engines. The standard attained by the per formance of modern pumping engines is pretty high, as was illustrated by an incident which occurred not long ago here in New York, where some large pumping engines that had recently teen set up and were working at rather high speed and almost absolutely without noise were inspected by an expert in such matters who hailed from an interior city. He remarked, "Well, these engines work very nicely now, but wai until you got to pumping water at the speed and then you will hear something from them probably." His astonishment may perhaps be imagined when it was demonstrated thim that they were at that momen pumping water and had been continuously doing so for 48 hours.

A HARD RAILROAD TO BEAT.

Man In Double Distilled Ili Luci

The Southern Pacific is about the worst road in the wide, wide world to The Southern Pacific has such a plain monopoly of California business that it is not necessary for it to look for favors, so it closes down very tight. Even the tickets which the scalpers succeed in getting are so hedged about with pre-cautions that it is like taking a civil service examination to beat one of them.

The favorite is a long slip which is designed to be punched to fit the scription of the purchaser, so that by no means can it be used by another than the rightful owner. When one of these tickets appears in a scalper's stock it looks like a porous plaster, being punctured for the color of the eyes, the hair, stature, weight, complexion and other details of the physical make up. Once Jim Crawford of Laramie found himself stack in San Francisco with $4 and a fearful hunger for home. But $4 was as nothing to the fare back over the desert. While he was worrying his soul with regrets he came upon a neatly folded slip of paper which had been lost, doubtless by some hurried tourist. It was one of those pieces of organette mu-sic representing a ride back to Ogden.

Jim read it over, printed matter, punches and all, and rushed for a drug store. He bought dyes for his hair, a stain for his complexion, got a pair of blue goggles and ran a concealing band-age over his chin. A barber took off his mustache, and for a dollar a cheap oculist made his eyes blue, so that the goggles were re-enforced with corrobo-ration. It took all his money but 40 cents. Then he climbed aboard the

He had reached Port Costa when the conductor came around and gave one hurried look at the ticket.

"This thing expired a month ago," he said tersely.

The telegraph poles were pendulous with blue and brimstone for two weeks after Crawford had finished his walk back to Oakiand.—Chicago Record.

CONTRASTS IN NAPLES.

One of the strangest contrasts in Naplee is to walk from the royal palace, with its fine marble staircase, up the new Corse Re d'Italia and to climb into the steep streets around the Church of San Soverino e Sosio.

These streets are the dwelling places of the dyers, and one steps from regal magnificence into a crowd of seminaked people, who are busily dipping great hanks of cotton or wool into seething caldrons. As elsewhere, the work is carried on in the street, and little streams of water-red, yellow, brown and black -pour over the rough stones and gather in multicolored pools, while on low benches against the walls women are washing clothes, standing in the dirty, scapy water that splashes over from their tubs.

The passersby walk heedlessly through the dye and soapsuds, while the children find pleasant occupation in throw-ing mud of every variety of color at anybody who chances to be wearing light colored garments. It is a veritable feast of color from the merely spectacu-lar point of view, but a visit to these streets leaves a bodily as well as a mental impression.

Very often in the depths of these sor-did alleys one comes across a forgotten old palace, built when carriages were unknown, its great court of honor crowded with booths, its vast halls filled with a heterogeneous collection of men, women and children, fowls, goats, sheep and occasionally a donkey, all living together in the happiest proximity. The massive old walls are hidden beneath centuries of dirt; the woodwork has, for the most part, disappear ed; the rooms that once knew the revels of Angevin nobles now shelter the hap-hazard existence of lazzaroni.—Lud-

SAVED BY A DREAM.

A THRICE REPEATED WARNING THAT WAS LUCKILY HEEDED.

How Two Men Narrowly Escaped Assassi nation In a Western Ontario Inn-The Reality Was a Perfect Reproduction of the Vision of the Brain.

Miss Mabel Wiloughby, writing in the Torouto Globe, relates this strange

"Mauy years ago my great-uncle, a magistrate of Niagara district, had occasion, as he often had, to make a journey on horseback through some of the more unsettled parts of western On-tario. As those were the pioneer days, many parts of Ontario now thickly settled and prosperous communities were almost unbroken stretches of forest, in-tersected by roads, passable only by equestrians. The only places of public accommodation were small tayerns or inns to be found at intervals of many miles along these trails or roads. My uncle and his father-in-law, who ac-companied him, carried large sums of money with which to buy grain and cattle from the settlers.

"One afternoon, toward nightfall, as they were nearing the small inn where they intended stopping for the night, they heard the sound of horses' hoofs close behind them, and, turning in his saddle, my uncle saw that the strangers approaching him were a dark visaged pair of men whom he had noticed at the dinner table with him at the last hostelry. They, however, saluted my uncle and Mr. H., his father-in-law, in a very civil manner and returned the compliments of the hour.

The party soon reached the iun, to uncle's surprise, the two strangers trotted on past the only resting place there was for miles. But he concluded that they were hunters or settlers living farther on, and so for the time thought no more of it.

"Our two grain dealers took their supper and shortly afterward retired comfortably for the night. Not long after going to bed Mr. H., feeling thirsty, rose and went down to the barroom for a drink of water. (No laughter here. He was a local preacher and stanch ad-herent to the Methodist church.)

"On entering the bar he was greatly surprised to see stretched out on the wooden benches the guests of the dinner table and traveling companions of the early evening. However, he trou-bled very little about the matter, as he thought that they had been overtaken by night and turned back. On returning to the bedroom he found my uncle dozing, and so made no mention of the uncanny pair in the barroom, and in a few minutes fell asleep also.

"After a short sleep uncle awoke and almost started out of bed, having had a most vivid and frightful drenn, in which he saw one of those men advanc-ing toward him with a dark lantera turned upon his face and a drawn knife in his hand But, finding the room perfectly quiet, uncle persuaded himself that his dream was the result of some slight apprehension be had had concerntwo men, and so fell asleep again, but only to have the horrible vi-specter.

"Now thoroughly alarmed and feeling that his dream was sent as a warn ing, he roused the old gentleman by his side and told him of it. Mr. H. then told him of the men in the barroom. This increasing their apprehension, the two men decided to watch by turns, Mr. H. taking the first watch. Not five minutes had elapsed before a footstep just outside their door caught the ear of

'In a moment the door opened very softly, and a man stealthily entered and crept toward the bed, while the two in the bed prepared for immediate defense when the villain had come close enough to be seen distinctly, kept perfectly quiet. When within about two yards of the bed, the intending assassin, manipulation of his lantern, which un-til this time had remained perfectly dark, threw a clear light over the supposed sleepers and revealed to them the reality of the vision—the same man, knife and lantern, with his murderous intention hideously written on his fixed countenance.

'One glance at his intended victims and his expression changed to amaze-ment and fear and he stood like one paralyzed as he met my uncle's steady and white face, who, with pistol pre-sented, waited but another move on the part of the villain to kill him on the spot. But the man didn't move. All was perfectly still, except for a smoth-ered prayer from the old gentleman. Uncle was the first to speak, demanding what he wanted. No reply was given. Uncle then, threateningly advancing his piece, ordered him to leave the room at once on pain of death. In obedience to this the robber, without turning his face or changing his atti-tude in any way, backed as steadily from the room as he had entered it and was seen no more."

Three Doctors in Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin.

"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e., Theory) says is best is to be chosen in the last place. But If you can get Dr. Inclination, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation to gether, they will give you the best advice that can be taken.

when you have a bad cold Dr. Inclination would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experien e would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. mind,—Shakespeare. Nearly all women who truly love, love in this aublime way. Men seldom do.

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and preatige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for many thousands of women. He has devised a perfect and scientific remedy for women's aliments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specife for all weak nesses, diseases, disorders, displacements, irregularities, and debilitating drains peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers well it, and no honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute that he may make a little larger profit.

"I was afflicted with kidney trouble and I have always had a torpid liver," writes Mrs. E. Crosswhite, of Duffau, Brath Co. Texas. "When I commenced your medicine I was not she to stand on my feet. I used one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription and five visias of his "Plessant Pellets." I am now well. I had now wife do if four months when I commenced the reattents. Young Girls Fading Away.

Symptoms that seem like consumption; a lack of blood; friends feared one girl would fall dead on the street; restored to health by a sensible woman's suggestion.

Their anxious parents and friends watch them slowly fade away. A death-like pallor, transparent com-plexion and listleseness are signs of this condition.

The body lasks blood.

Mrs. John Tansey knows the meaning of these symptoma, and the cure.

She lives at 130 Baker Street, Detroit,

Her advice to mothers has been of great value to her neighbors. She tells the story to help others who are at a distance. She said:

She said:

"When my daughter was sixteen years old she began to waste away.

"Had I not known there was no taint of consumption in the family I would have believed her in age were affected.

"She grew it inner and thinner every day. She lacked only the hacking cough to show all the outward signs of consumption.

"Our doctor called the disease by an odd name, which I learned meant simply weak blood.

"No treatme it seemed to do her any good.

"She was I, ding away before our eyes.

"I was indo se to try Dr. Williams? Pink Pills for Pale People, and the change they made was ain set magical.

"Before she had taken half a box there was a great ir speevement ig her looks, appetite and was, it.

"She gained strength rapidly. Soon she was in perfect health.

"Since then I have kept Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the house always and have done much good with them." One example:

"There is a young girl friend of my daughter who seemed almost transparent.

"She was white and very thin. We were atraid she would fall dead in the strest when she went out.

"I begged her to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally induced her to try them. They helped her wonderfully, probably saved her life and restored her to perfect health. Now she is recommending them to other young women.

"I earnestly advise mothers with growing daughters to keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always on hand as a household remedy.

Many women's lives are miserable because such symptoms as Mrs. Tansey's daughter showed were neglected while they were developing into womanhood. During that period of rapid development the blood needs the highest degree of strength to repair the tissues that are rapidly wasted.

These needed elements are supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The vegetable ingredients of these pills act like magic in restoring strength to the muscles and roses to the cheeks of growing girls or adults weakened by overwork.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cost 50 cents a box s six boxes $2.50.
