Last Saturday night Miss Bessie Brown celebrated her fifteenth birthday anniversary by giving a party to quite a number of her schoolmates and friends. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing until after midnight when part of the company departed for their homes and quite a number re-mained over night with the family. Those who were present report having had a very pleasant time but they couldn't help having a good time in such a family, for Mr. and Mrs. Brown know just how to make everything pleasant on such occasions.

Hon. John Grieve, ex-county as-seesor, and Claud White passed through our town last Thursday on their way to Mt. Pitt precinct to appraise the real property of the late Mrs. Berry. The original ap-praisers were Thomas Wright, John Obenchain and Wm. Perry, but the latter being sick Mr. White was ap-pointed in his place. The property was appraised at $850. Mr. Grieve returned on Sunday and reports that the thermometer registered 10 degrees below zero at Mr. Beal's on Friday night and on Saturday night 8 degrees below zero at Mr. Edsell's. In our town the mercury stood at 8 degrees above but that is cold enough for our "Italy."

JUVENILE SOLDIERING.

The Boy's Mother Had to Give the Countersign Before She Could Approach the Barracks.

Since the tocsin of war has sounded. even the children in the nursery have their drills and go through the sem-blance of war, says the Des Moines News. In the northern part of the city a company of boys has been formed, and there is nothing done at Camp McKinley. The sudden changes of climate encountered by soldiers when troops are moved from one quarter of the model to another are astimated as the neighborhood realized they have been as a stimated as the soldierly at times. The mothers in the neighborhood realized world to another are estimated as that they might expect anything from increasing the annual mortality their warlike sons, and so were not surnouncement was made that the boy-were going into barracks in a barn i: in its power to check the opium ing their own cooking for some time and now they would be satisfied with noth-ing short of sleeping in their trouser and on the hay. On the first night spent by them in the barn, the mother of one of the boys had occasion to go to speak to her son. Up and down in front of the improvised barracks moved the sentinel. "Halt! Who goes there?" rang out the stern voice of the guard. "A friend," meekly answered the lady, deeply impressed with the solemnity of the occasion.
