Our base ball team are endeavoring to make arrangements to have the Jacksonville team come out here the latter part of the week and play a game for $100 on a side. As the arrangements are incomplete I am unable to give date and other particulars at this writing.

Since Mr. Cingode has fenced up the old road and turned it on the survey we have to pass over a very bad mud hole on the road to Medford, and the supervisor ought to have it repaired as it is not safe for light rigs and so bad that heavy loads have great difficulty in getting through.

J. W. Lawton and R. H. Whitehead, of Medford, two of the appraisers of the estate of the late Wm. Slinger, came out last week and appraised the property he had in this locality—the old Simon place. The farm was appraised at $6000 and the personal property at $8000, the above named property being partnership property of Ulrich, Slinger & Co.

Freezing weather in July would cause great discomfort and loss, but fortunately it is seldom known. A vast amount of misery is caused at this season, however, by impoverished blood, poor appetite and general debility. These conditions may be remedied by enriching the blood and toning the stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine seems to put new life into the whole physical system, simply because of its wonderful power to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, create an appetite and invigorate the digestive functions. We advise you to get a bottle and try it if you are not feeling just right. It will do you more good than a six weeks vacation. It is the best medicine money can buy.

Emil Markengberg, the organist, was killed last week at Santa Ana, while making a balloon ascension.

It is probable that a beet sugar factory will be established at Newburg, Or.

Smallpox has been discovered at Jackson, Amador county. Physicians report 30 developed cases, all excepting two of a mild type.

William Williamson, an assistant cook, either jumped or fell from the porch of the Belleville Terrace hotel at Los Angeles and was killed.

Story of a Slave.
To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not hold up in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a Godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by Chas. Strang, druggist.

MEXICO WANTS MONEY

Has a Million-Dollar Claim Against the United States.
Deposited a Quarter of a Century Ago with the Treasury to Abide by Litigation—Decided in Her Favor.

Within a few days the Mexican government will call upon the United States government for the return of nearly $1,000,000 in gold, American coin, which has been held as a special deposit—at least that is the supposition—in the treasury vaults for 20 years, says a Washington special correspondent to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

This money was sent here with other amounts to pay claims against Mexico, where such claims were properly adjudicated. The story in connection with the amount to be returned is interesting.

Under the treaty of 1868 a mixed commission, as it was known, was appointed by our government and Mexico to regulate accounts between the two republics. Two of the claims against Mexico, for seized cotton principally, were those of La Abra Mining company and Benjamin Weil, amounting to $500,000 and $100,000, respectively. The mixed commission had made awards in these cases, but the Mexican government solicited Gen. J. E. Slaughter, then a Confederate commander on the Rio Grande, to look after the claims, which he did after the civil war.

On the representation of Gen. Slaughter congress refused to permit payment of the money to the claimants. The matter came up again in the next congress, and in several succeeding congresses, and finally the last congress passed an act submitting the claims to the court of claims. In an elaborate decision that tribunal decided against the claimants. An appeal was made to the supreme court of the United States, and that tribunal affirmed the decision of the court from which appeal was had.

The claimants, after some time, went to the supreme court and made a motion for a new trial. Last Monday the motion was denied. By this act of the supreme court the Mexican government will receive the money, without interest, which has been held here in trust since 1876.

Gen. Slaughter lately had a conference with the Mexican minister, and it is understood that the latter informed his government that the money was subject to Mexico's order. One of the stories is to the effect that the money has been boxed up in the vaults of the treasury all these years. But the treasury officials deny this. They do not deny that Mexico may have claim upon the government for the amount stated, but they say positively that the amount named, nor any other amount, is boxed up in their vaults, and when the Mexican minister lines up his cart in front of the treasury building for the purpose of getting the treasure he will find nothing with which to make a load.

According to Gen. Slaughter's statement, the claimants in these cases put up the biggest bluff on the congress of this country that has been made in many years. Although every committee before which they appeared decided adversely, they came again and again, every time with a powerful lobby, and when the senate finally passed on the report only five votes were found in its favor, while in the house the defeat was so strong that the eyes and noses were not called for. The testimony taken before the various committees makes 30,000 pages of printed matter.

Gen. Slaughter, who has had charge of the case for Mexico, is 71 years old. He is a nephew of Mrs. Dolly Madison, and when he was visiting her in Washington, as a youngster, only 19 years of age, she presented him to President Polk, who gave him a commission as lieutenant in the regular army. He was one of four to receive such an appointment from civil life. When the civil war occurred he was in charge of a lot of government stores, ammunition and guns, at Eagle Pass, Tex. The state of Texas, after passing the act of secession, demanded the property at Eagle Pass. Slaughter refused to surrender it, and managed, by adroit measures, to get the property on board a transport, and it reached a place of safety in spite of efforts of the confederacy to capture it. Slaughter then sent his resignation to this government, and wrote in connection with it that, while he was opposed to secession, his people had taken the step, and he would stand by them. He enlisted in the confederate service and became a brigadier general. After the war he went to Mexico and was engaged by the Mexican government as a civil engineer. While so engaged he met Gen. Shelby, of Missouri, whom he had previously known, and gave him a contract of hauling ties for a Mexican railway. Gen. Slaughter was also a friend of former Gov. Thomas C. Reynolds, of Missouri, whose legal advice was followed by Gen. Slaughter in his litigations for the Mexican government.

Gen. Slaughter is now again in the service of the government as an engineer, with headquarters at New Orleans, and in the territory in which he is engaged is Eagle Pass, where he defended the property of the United States at the beginning of the civil war.

A freight train at Petersburg, Va., collided with a city street car, containing 6000 gallons of oil. The collision caused the car to leak and the oil took fire. Finally the tank exploded, killing seven men, six being blown to atoms. Two others are so badly injured that they will die.

A cartridge fired at close range by a small negro boy into a large collection of fireworks of a highly explosive character at Philadelphia, cost the lives of four children, and the probable death of three others and severe burns and lacerations to 30 other persons, only two of whom were adults.

A fight between two cattle men, Antonio Sosa and Jose Vasquez, occurred at San Pedro, Ariz., in which both were killed. The men fought with six-shooters. They quarreled over a cattle brand. The affair is serious owing to a bad feeling which has arisen between the cowboys employed by the dead ranchers. The feeling is bitter, and they are carrying on the quarrel over the brand.

Professor O. E. Eastman, an instructor of Harvard university at Cambridge, Mass., was arrested last week charged with murdering his brother-in-law, R. H. Grogan, Jr. The death of Grogan occurred in the rear of the family residence in a secluded spot well situated for a duel. The police found five pistols there. Eastman says that while he was examining one of the weapons it went off accidentally, wounding Grogan, who fell and then fired three shots at Eastman, one of them wounding him slightly. Grogan died in six minutes.

The estate of General the Marquis de Lafayette, the gift of American school children to France, was unveiled at Paris Wednesday before an assemblage of representative citizens of both interested nations.

The past week's scouting in Lason resulted in 11 Americans being killed and 16 wounded. One hundred and sixty Filipinos were killed during the week and eight Americans who had been prisoners in the hands of the rebels were surrendered and 100 rifles were turned over to the United States officials. The enemy ambushed a wagon train between Indang and Nalo. The Third Infantry lost nine men while on an expedition to punish the Ladrones in the delta of the Rio Grande. In the Antigua province of Panay a running fight of three hours duration resulted in the killing or wounding of 70 of the enemy. There were no casualties among the Americans. The insurgents are slowly accepting the amnesty provisions. In some instances the Americans are suspending operations in order to give the rebels an opportunity to take advantage of the decree.

More than two and a half million dollars' damage has already been done and a number of persons have been severely burned by a fire that started in the works of the Standard Oil company at Constable Hook, Bayonne, N. J. Twenty-three large tanks, 15 Union Tank line cars, the Crude Oil refinery, the compound sweating plant, a Hungarian tenement and a saloon have been utterly destroyed, and the contents of 20 huge oil tanks is still burning in a sea of flame covering over a hundred acres.

Warren Karp, the youngest of the four Karp brothers, whose names 30 years ago were synonymous with gun fighting on the Arizona prairie, died with his boots on at Wilcox, Ariz. He was shot through the heart in a saloon by Cowboy Johnny Rogett, and died almost instantly. The shooting occurred early in the morning and grew out of a feud that had existed between the two men ever since the bloody fights between the Karp and Arizona cattle rustlers about Tombstone in the early eighties.

The orders recently issued for the removal of a large number of troops from Cuba have been gladly welcomed by the Cubans, and General Wood is in receipt of many letters from various municipalities offering thanks for what they call his disposition to meet the Cubans, and declaring that the entire island is in a state of absolute tranquility. The Tenth Infantry, it is believed, will leave the island shortly after the departure of the regiments now under orders to proceed home.

A cable from Constantinople says that the Porte has promised an answer to the note of the American charge d'affaires, Mr. Orin, in regard to the American claims against Turkey by June 30. It has not been refused to recognize the claims, but is temporizing. It is believed that progress has been made, and that the only difficulty in the way of settlement is that the Porte is afraid that the example of the United States will be followed by other powers.

The schooner yacht Idler was lost in a terrific storm 16 miles off Cleveland, Friday, with six persons, all members of the family of James Corrigan, a wealthy shipowner.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment, and that is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and the eardrum is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; it may come out, but is caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mr. A. Sanders, writing from Coconino Grove, Fla., says there has been quite an epidemic of diarrhoea there. All About Fence Posts.
EDITHOR MEFORD MAIL—So many farmer friends speak to me about the irritating decay of fence posts that I venture, through your columns, to tell you how it can be avoided. Coasting with carbolineum avenarius, the German wood preservative, will absolutely arrest decay from soil, climate and vermin. It hardens the fence posts, hampers, house supports or other wooden fixtures treated and adds many years to their usefulness. I have saved time, work and money by using this compound, and think so arthritic farmer should be without it. I see from articles published in the Oregonian that they are employing carbolineum avenarius in Portland for paving blocks, the Madison street bridge timbers, etc., with excellent results. What it accomplishes for city work on a large scale, it will certainly accomplish for country people on a small scale when used for domestic purposes. No expert knowledge is required in using it. I have applied it with a brush the same as I would paint; or in treating fence posts or hop poles simply dipped them in a carbolineum avenarius bath. I have yet to record an unsuccessful trial of this preparation, and can cordially recommend it as a sure preserver of wood for whatever purpose used.

Carbolineum avenarius not only saves time and money by its preservative qualities, but its economic merits are augmented by the low price which it is sold in this territory. If others reap the benefit of my experience this letter will not be wasted, but prove an absolute benefaction to our farming community.

I understand that this compound can be procured at D. H. Miller's Medford, Oregon. I bought mine direct from Fisher, Thorsen & Co., at Portland, Oregon, who represent the German manufacturers.
