OUR COUNTY . . . Correspondents

Eagle Point Eagles.
BY A. C. HOWLETT.

J. J. Fryer and family went to Rogue river last Sunday.

Mrs. Cawley, of Klamath County, visited Mrs. Thomas last week.

Thos. Coy is making some improvements on his farm property.

Merritt Brown caught ninety-nine fish in Little Butte last Sunday.

Geo. Brown is getting the material on the ground to build his new residence.

Mrs. Thomas and Frary were in Jacksonville on business one day last week.

Mrs. Argelee Green, accompanied by her father, Mr. Fryer, made a trip to Jacksonville last week.

A. V. Barnum, of Ft. Klamath, spent Sunday night in town on his way to Medford to buy supplies.

Our stockmen are nearly all busy gathering in beef cattle and some have already sold their fall beef.

Jos. Rader is getting material on the ground for making a few improvements about his house and making more fence.

A party from Talent camped on Butte creek last week, remaining several days fishing and enjoying themselves generally.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichols and Mesdames Thomas, Frary, Sinclair and Cawley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grover last Sunday.

Last week E. Pool, C. Snider and Wm. Smith, accompanied by Mrs. E. Pool, went to Applegate, the men to take a hunt and Mrs. Pool to visit friends.

Prof. Hazelton has been secured to teach the advanced department of our school and as soon as a majority of the pupils can attend he will enter upon his duties.

During the last week our school directors have had the school building insured, a well dug on the grounds and a pump put in and it begins to look as though they intended to have things convenient around there.

Last Sunday we had the pleasure of a visit from Mrs. C. M. Fries, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Amos Lundy, the latter two ladies from Klamath County. Mrs. Fries, her sister Mrs. Anderson, and Mr. Lundy when children, were among the pupils in my first school on Butte creek in 1867, which made the visit, if anything, more pleasant.

Your correspondent here finished hauling lumber from the Welch sawmill last week and while there learned that parties were in the woods on the head waters of Evans creek, who were killing deer for their hams and leaving the hides and the rest of the carcass where they were killed. One young man reports having found fourteen carcasses in one day.

Prevented a Tragedy.
Timely information given Mrs. Geo. Long, of New Strataville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Chas. Strang's drug store.

Galls Creek Items.
BY M. S. E.
(Received too late for last week.)

Frank Dungey was a Gold Hill visitor Sunday.

Wm. Blackert made a trip to Foots creek Tuesday.

D. D. Dunkin made a flying trip to Gold Hill Tuesday.

J. W. Dunkin went to Gold Hill last Monday upon business.

Mr. and Mrs. Damowood spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Olson.

Miss Anna Noah, of Gold Hill, was the guest of Miss Stella Olson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Gorsline, of Medford, passed through here Saturday evening on their way to Woodville.

Misses Etta and Ethel Brown, of Kansas creek, were visiting here Thursday.

Our school commenced on Monday, September 31, with Miss Mary Smith as teacher.

Story of a Slave.
To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female disease quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a Godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by Chas. Strang, druggist.

Brownboro Items.
BY REBECCA.

W. Farlow is stopping in town for a few days with Mr. Baldwin.

McCray and party camped over Saturday and Sunday in town.

Fred Stanley has gone to Hornbrook, Calif., to spend the fall season.

E. V. Osborne was taken suddenly ill last Thursday, but is now improving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Charley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller Sunday.

Frank Graham, Fred Stanley and Chris Edler returned from eastern Oregon a short time since.

J. A. Miller returned last week from the building of a bridge across the north fork of Butte creek.

T. A. Culbertson and family, of Ft. Klamath, and J. D. Culbertson and family, of Lake Creek, were the guests of their sister, Mrs. J. K. Bell, and family one night last week.

It Happened in a Drug Store.
"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is for sale by Chas. Strang, druggist.

An Ideal Life Has This Artist.
W. L. Taylor, who makes the finest pictures that appear in The Ladies' Home Journal, leads the ideal life that every artist dreams of. He neither seeks nor accepts work from any one. He has an agreed income from the Philadelphia magazine, and as this is a generous amount he has nothing in the way of finances to worry him. He lives in an artistic home at Wellesley, Massachusetts, in the top story of which he has his studio. His work is carefully laid out for him by his editor for an entire year in advance, and he works at it only when he feels at his best. Otherwise he paddles in his canoe or walks. He has no time imposed upon him when his work shall be turned in. He generally uses up the best of two months to paint a single picture. Few artists have really a more ideal life.

It Saved His Leg.
P. A. Danforth, of LuGrange, Ga., suffered intensely for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in ten days. For ulcers, wounds, burns, boils, pain or piles it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Chas. Strang, druggist.

SLAKE INDUSTRY.

Klamath Falls People Have a Market for Their Myriads of Reptiles.

The following article from a Klamath Falls correspondent appeared in a recent issue of the Portland Oregonian:

The snake industry at Klamath Falls bids fair to become important. A few weeks ago Postmaster Castel received a letter from a concern in Minnesota making inquiry as to the price of the reptiles, and if a shipment could be made to a Minnesota snake farm. Although the letter was written on printed letter heads, the postmaster thought some one was trying to perpetrate a joke upon him. He replied, however, and stated that he would supply all the snakes wanted at 25 cents a pound. By return mail, much to his surprise, came an order for 400 pounds of snakes, delivered at the nearest railroad station. The Minnesota man went on to state that next season he would make further orders an object to Mr. Castel, but he would take 800 pounds more this fall. Snake-catching is now the order of the day here. It is a paying business, as one man can easily capture 100 in a day, and this represents at least 50 pounds.

The Klamath Falls snakes have a world-wide reputation. Along this river or falls, on a warm day, miles of snakes, curling, wriggling and crawling over each other, is no unusual sight, and if the weather is a little cool, one has to wait for them to get out of the way or take a stick and lift them aside, as many do. The stranger, on his first trip to this section, is continually dodging and jumping sidewise, although he is informed that the reptiles are perfectly harmless. The inhabitant doesn't mind them at all. Little girls gather apronfuls and boys carry small ones around in their pockets. They are regarded as pets here generally and are seldom harmed. They come down into the very town and while walking along the streets a couple of dozen may be seen in going a block. They simply wriggle out of the way—crawl between the cracks of the plank sidewalks, or move off to one side. The snakes are regarded as benefactors by the community, and there is some complaint at parting with the few required to fill the Minnesota man's order.

The reptiles live and breed among the rocks and cliffs along the falls, and it is asserted that they have completely routed the rattlesnakes from the entire section, besides destroying all the mice and other pests that infested the place. They attack a rattlesnake and while one alone has been known to kill the largest rattler, a number will wind themselves about the venomous reptile and strangle it in a short time. It is claimed that before these snakes made their appearance that the rattlers infested the entire region, but they are now seldom seen.

It is believed here that tons of the snakes could be shipped from this place annually without materially decreasing the supply, and the industry may prove a paying one. Snake oil commands an enormous price for medicinal purposes, and it is known that a superior quality of the oil can be manufactured from the Klamath Falls species.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried through different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by Chas. Strang, druggist.

Newport and Yachina bay continue to offer for the summer vacation, greater variety of attractions than can be found on any other north Pacific resort. Excellent beaches and safe bathing, enticing rides and rambles, good boating and fishing; clams, crabs and oysters for the gathering, and unequalled profusion of pebbles and shells and agates. Add to this cheerful and obliging hosts, who are providing at very reasonable rates, home-like quarters, and most liberal fare. They want let one get hungry at Newport.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

J. Nunan, Plaintiff, vs. O. B. and Addie Dews, Defendants.

BY VIRTUE OF an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Jackson, on a judgment rendered in said Circuit Court on the 4th day of April, 1900, wherein J. Nunan, plaintiff, recovered a judgment against O. B. and Addie Dews, husband and wife, defendants, for the sum of two hundred sixty-six and 60/100 dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from the 8th day of April, 1899, and the further sum of twelve and 60/100 dollars costs, which judgment was enrolled and docketed in the office of the county clerk of Jackson County, Oregon, on the 12th day of April, 1900, and where certain real property belonging to said defendants, consisting of the SE 1/4 of Sec. 18, Tp. 40 S., R. 3 W., in Jackson County, Oregon, was attached on the 5th day of February, 1900, at the suit and instance of the above named plaintiff to satisfy the demands of said plaintiff in said suit, and whereas an order of sale of the attached property was duly made by said Circuit Court on the 4th day of April, 1900, therefore in obedience to the command of said execution and order of sale, I did duly levy upon and will sell as the law directs, at the front door of the court house in the Town of Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon, on Saturday, November 3, 1900.

At the hour of two o'clock p. m. of said day, the following described property, to-wit:

The southeast quarter of Section 18, Tp. 40 South, Range 3 West, in Jackson County, Oregon.

ALEX. ORME, Sheriff of Jackson County, Oregon. Dated at Jacksonville, Oregon, September 28, 1900.

BLOOD POISON

In some cases the external signs of Contagious Blood Poison are so slight that the victim is firmly within the grasp of the monster before the true nature of the disease is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swollen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, sore throat, eruptions on skin, copper colored spots, and falling hair and eyebrows leave no room for doubt, as these are all unmistakable signs of Contagious Blood Poison.

Doctors still prescribe mercury and potash as the only cure for Blood Poison. These poisonous minerals never yet made a complete and permanent cure of Contagious Blood Poison. They drive the disease back into the system, cover it up for a while, but it breaks out again in worse form. These powerful minerals produce mercurial rheumatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and finger nails to drop off. Mercury and potash make wrecks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never able to get free from aches and pains.

S. S. S. acts in an entirely different manner, being a purely vegetable remedy; it forces the poison out of the system, and instead of tearing down, builds up and invigorates the general health. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this specific virus, and therefore the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. No matter in what stage or how hopeless the case may appear, even though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. S. can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S. S. is not a new, untried remedy; an experience of nearly fifty years has proven it a sure and unfailing cure for this disease. It is the only purely vegetable blood medicine known.

Mr. H. L. Myers, 100 Mulberry St., Newark, N. J., says: "I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do me no good I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large, red spots on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite improved. I was soon entirely well, and I myself as clear as a piece of glass."

Send for our Home Treatment Book, which contains valuable information about this disease, with complete directions for self treatment. Our medical department is in charge of physicians who have made a life-time study of blood diseases. Don't hesitate to write for any information or advice wanted. We make no charge whatsoever for this. All correspondence is held in the most sacred confidence. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

Mercury AND Potash Make Wrecks, Not Cures

CAREFUL OF THEIR VOICES.

Famous Public Singers Forego Many Pleasures for the Sake of Their Art.

Adelina Patti has led a life of self-denial for the sake of her voice. As a young girl she never had any of the pleasures which fall to others, says the Chicago Chronicle. Parties, dancing and fun of every kind were denied her. Her father and her brother-in-law, M. Strakosch, who was also her impresario, were in constant fear that she would fatigue her voice. One can imagine how bright and lovely a child Patti was, how eager her delight in innocent pleasure, yet pleasure had to be foregone. As to girlish flirtations, until she married the marquis de Caux at 24 the little diva had been kept almost like a nun at home and knew absolutely nothing of the world. The pleasures of the table were not for her. She used to eat only plainly cooked meat and toast, so that even the slightest indigestion would not impair the clearness of her voice.

On ordinary days, when Patti has to sing in opera at night, she dines off beef and potatoes and baked apples at about 3:30 p. m., for beef is said to give force and apples smoothness to the voice. After dinner the prima donna fasts until she sings, taking between the acts of an opera homeopathic doses of phosphorus and capicum, both of which are beneficial to the throat. If tired a cup of bouillon is prepared for her.

Patti never speaks a word on the days when she has to sing. Nor does Mme. Albani, who otherwise takes less care of her voice than the diva and fears only indigestible food, salmon, nuts and such like. Both declare they never even "look" at tea, which hardens the vocal chords. Between the parts of a concert or opera Albani drinks a glass of claret. She believes implicitly in the virtues of a cold bath.

Melba says: "I eat anything, but all day and my voice is never affected." But, then, Melba's voice and her whole physique are singularly strong and her nerves are of the steepest.

Jean De Reszke, whose throat is not strong, and who suffers from changeable climates and complains of the heat of theaters behind the scenes, is chary of his fine tenor notes. He scarcely ever goes into society nowadays, restricts himself as to diet and pins his faith to bicycling. Nothing, he firmly believes, is so beneficial to the vocal chords as to take a quiet morning spin in fresh country air.

Sims Reeves, throughout his whole professional career, was zealous in nursing his voice. Before singing he always sucked a lozenge, in which he much believed; it was "home made"—of glycerine, lemon juice and gum arabic. Jenny Lind avoided fatigue of all kinds, and whenever she had to sing she partook at intervals during the day of a soup, prepared with chicken broth, cream and barley, which was supposed to be softening to the voice.
