John's Many Names.

The majority of the names that you see on the signs of laundries or tea stores kept by Chinamen are simply fancy names adopted for their ausplcious significance. They are simply mottoes, having no reference to the proprietor or the members of a firm whatsoever.

Every properly constituted Chinaman has five names besides his surname or cognomen. The last is fixed and handed down from one generation to another.

Every male child born in China is first called by his "milk name." When he grows old enough to attend school, he takes a "book name." When he has learned the mysteries of composition, he competes for literary honors under an assumed name, which is finally adopted. When he successfully passes his examinations and obtains his degree, his equals address him by another, either coined by them or adopted by

An Explanation from Ashland.

ASIILAND, Ore., Jan. 11, 1901. EDITOR MEDFORD MAIL:-I feel It my duty to reply to an item in the Eagle Point Eaglets, which appeared in the Jan, 4th issue of THE MAIL, and therefore, I wish to present a few facts Spencer. for the enlightenment of the Eagle Point correspondent. In the first place, Prof. Vining did not take the Normal football team to Eagle Point. The game was arranged between the manager and captain of the Eagle Point team and myself. After all the arrangements were made and we were ready to go, Prof. Vining was invited to go along as referee and he went as the guest of the team. The team went under charge of the captain, who was responsible to the faculty for their conduct and behavior. Second, the faculty did not know that any of the measles and they can in no wise be consured. There was at that time only one case of the measles in Ashland and it was not known even by the player R Smith, S G Vandyke. who took sick at Eagle Point, that he had been exposed. Had we known that he was exposed to the measles we would H D Kubli, O E Rose. not have gone to Eagle Point, for there were several of our own boys who took the measles from the same exposure. We were not so anxious to spread the measles as to knowingly take them to any place. As for arranging for the Eagle Point boys to come to Ashland New Years day-haven't the Eagle Houck, CF Young, TJ Downing, Dan Point boys been challenging the Ashland boys for a game all winter? In regard to the business men alluded to, Frank Olwell left for Sacramento I think they are all too honorable to censure the faculty of this school when ens. they know the facts of the case and I hope that this explanation will prove sathere from Colorado Tuesday and isfactory to them. The captain of the will make this their home. one is responsible for the measles going Table Rock, spent Sunday with to Eagle Point. Hoping this will prove Mr. Myers' folks, of this precinct. a satisfactory explanation to all people E. L. Olwell left for San Fran- who are capable of taking an honest view of the case, I am Very truly yours, ROBERT H. JONAS,

Capt. Normal Football Team.

What's In a Namof

"Experienced patent medicine men," says a gossiper in the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "admit the impossibility of predicting when the turning point will be reached in booming any new remedy. The amount sunk in ex-ploiting two articles before returns come in may vary $100,000. In my opinion, the name has a good deal to do with getting a demand started. If it is hard to remember or hard to pronounce, it is undoubtedly a serious handlcap, and, on the contrary, a catchy, simple title, just odd enough to stick in one's memory, is in itself an advertimement worth thousands of dollars. I have a house in mind that a good sized fortune trying to spent popularize a tablet preparation with a queer Indian title that no two people pronounced in exactly the same way. It was a good thing and cleverly put before the public, and it failed solely, 1 think, because people were reluctant to ask for it for fear of making themselves ridiculous by butchering the pronunciation. That's a point about which the average customer is very sensitive."

Bury Their Lepers Alive.

The Chinese have a curiously cheerful way of disposing of their lepers. The relatives of the afflicted person propose to him that they bury him live, and, such is the fatalism of the Chinese, that the victim readily consents. An extra elaborate meal is served to him in the way of a farewell banquet, and then the funeral procession forms. The man who is about to be immured under the sod follows his own coffin, and when he reaches the grave he takes a dose of landanum. tops into the box and settles down for eternity.

Dr. Wittenberg, writing on the sub-ject of leprosy in China, states that the pure nerve form is the least common. In such cases, as is well known, the patients may go on for years. As to the mixed form, it is fairly common, but it s a difficult matter to estimate the number of lepers in any given district. The sufferers lead the common life so long as they remain free from destruc tive lesions. When these occur to any marked degree, the leper is either segregated in a but or he is allowed to wander about the country, sustaining life by begging. Dr. Wittenberg records cases of direct contagion from mother-in-law to daughter-in-law.

Dear Love, when spring has come, all nature wakes And from her languid lids the bandage takes To lock with wondering eyrs upon the world. The trees unfold their robes of silvery green, And thrifty inserts from the blossoms glean; Each birding fields a must both fond and true, And 1, dear Love, have you.

Dear Love, in summer time each lengthened day To harvest fields a tribute rich must pay Of sumshine packed in grains of yellow corn. The earth is weighted with the scalon's store; No creature, tree nor vine can sak for more. Bature has satisfied each bird and bee, Has given you to me

Dear Love, chill fall doth paint in colors rare The forests and the fields that scon grow bare As winter clasps them to her icy breast. Nature must wake and work and rest awhile. Some time ago a well known bar-rister had under cross examination a youth from the country who rejoiced in the name of Sampson, whose replies were the causes of much laughter in court.

"And so," questioned the barrister, you wish the court to believe that you are a peacefully disposed and inoffensive kind of person?

Yes.' "And that you have no desire to fol-

Food Values.

Blanched almonds are the highest kind of nerve or brain or muscle food, having no heat or waste, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. Walasits give brain or nerve tood, muscle, heat and waste. Green water grapes are bl oil parifying, but of little food value. Fare grapes are feeding and blood purify in ;. but too rich for those who suffer from the liver. Tomatoes have higher nervo or brain food qualities; they are thin-ning and stimulating. Juley fruits give more or less nerve or brain autriment and some few muscle food and waste, Apples supply the higher nerve and muscle food, but do not give staying qualities. Prunes afford the highest nerve or brain food, supply heat and waste, but are not muscle feeding. anges are refreshing and feeding. Green figs contain nerve and muscle food, heat and waste. The great majority of small fresh seed fruits are laxative.¹ Lemons and tomatoes should not be used dally in cold weather; they, have a thinning and cooling effect. Raisins are stimulating according to their quality.
