HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Great Strike of Iron Workers Ordered. Death and Much Suffering From the Heat in the East—Senator Depew Is Deluged With Marriage Proposals.

Comptroller of the Currency Dawes appointed a temporary receiver for the City National bank of Buffalo.

In the great inter-university boat race Yale beat Harvard in the last half mile of the four-mile course by a scant two lengths.

The grand jury at Honolulu reported that it found no evidence that there was any bribery of the members of the legislature, as charged by Governor Dole.

J. P. Morgan has given more than $1,000,000 for the erection of three of the five buildings that are planned for the Harvard Medical school in Boston. The gift is for the prosecution of "applied biological research."

A dispatch from Pittsburgh says that a general order for a strike of all union sheet steel workers was issued by President T. J. Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. There are over 60,000 men affected by this order, and every mill operated by the American Sheet Steel company where union men are employed throughout the country will close indefinitely, or until such time as a settlement of the matters in dispute has been reached.

Sunday in New York was the hottest June day on record. Sixteen deaths were officially reported and scores were prostrated. The previous day 14 deaths occurred and 200 horses died in the streets. In Chicago and throughout the middle west hundreds of deaths were caused by the heat.

Joseph Brailsford, chairman of the Ebb Vale Steel, Iron and Coal company, in a speech at Manchester, England, spoke bitterly of the disadvantages under which British ironmasters labored in competing with America. "It is useless," said he, "to follow the advice of theorists and adopt the latest machinery. Technical education is all useless in the face of the tariff which has permitted the Americans to hold their own markets against the world and to sell abroad at a loss or profit as occasion offered." In the billion-dollar steel trust Mr. Brailsford said the United States evidently contemplated the domination of not only its home trade, but the trade of the world.

In the case of Earl Russell, the grand jury at the Old Bailey court in London returned a true bill against him for bigamy, and the recorder said the trial would take place in the house of lords. In charging the jury the recorder said that if the earl's divorce was valid in the United States it would not be binding in Great Britain.

D. B. Henderson, speaker of the United States house of representatives, and Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy in London, were present at the inspection of the Yeomen of the Guard by King Edward in the garden of Marlborough House. Mr. Henderson was afterward presented to the king, and they engaged in a conversation which lasted half an hour.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew, previous to his sailing from New York for London, volunteered the statement that he had been deluged with offers of marriage. A young widow, with millions, argued that she had money and tact enough to make him president. Another assures the genial senator that she is considered pretty, and, being a trained nurse, is qualified to make his declining years nappy. Another lady, while giving the senator her reasons why he should fly to her, tells him to beware of designing widows. Some of the letters, he said, contained rare humor, but he would not reveal either names or contents. In answer to a question as to his matrimonial intentions Depew said: "Barkis isn't willin'. Why do you want me to get married? Am I not contented and happy as I am?"

In the bankruptcy court in London the creditors of the Duke of Manchester formally accepted a compromise of 12s 6d in the pound. The duke reiterated that his failure was due to the loss of several thousand pounds in theatrical speculations, and said he had not gambled.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury at New York against Fire Commissioner John J. Scannell, charging him with neglect of duty. Another indictment was returned jointly charging Commissioner Scannell and William L. Marks with conspiracy. It is alleged that nearly all supplies for the fire department have been purchased through Marks.

The report of the select committee of the British house of lords appointed to consider the accession declaration of the sovereign in regard to transubstantiation finds that the language can be advantageously modified without diminishing its efficacy as security for the maintenance of the Protestant succession. The form of declaration suggested by the committee does not contain phrases relative to idolatry, etc., which are so objectionable to Roman Catholics.

General Maximo Gomez arrived in New York with his son, Urban, and Alexander Gonzales, private secretary to General Wood. A number of Cuban and American friends of the old soldier had gathered at the Pennsylvania's Twenty-third-street ferry to greet the general and they cheered him heartily when he appeared.

A dispatch from London says that the engagement of Vivian Sartoris, granddaughter of Ulysses S. Grant, and Archibald Balfour has been broken. Frequent quarrels between the young people is given as the cause.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Lord Kitchener, in a dispatch from Pretoria dated June 29, says: "The Boers attacked two blockhouses on the Delagoa line near Brugspruit Heights, on June 28. An armored train arrived and scattered the Boers, killing four. It is reported that 20 casualties were carried off. Field Marshal de Pries has surrendered at Pietersburg with 44 men."

A dispatch from Cape Town, dated June 27, says the Boer invaders, under Malan, about 8,000 strong, attacked Richmond. Three sangars or entrenchments outside the town were captured by the Boers, the small garrison being distributed principally at the jail for and Flagstaff hill. The town refused to surrender. A messenger was sent in for the third time to demand the surrender of the town, and at the same time a party of burghers entered the town and effected the capture of a sangar in the market square, not a shot being fired on account of the white flag carried by the messenger. The Boers, finding it impossible to capture either the jail for or Flagstaff hill, turned their attention to another trench in the town, which was held by eight men, and those, after having held the position for 11 hours, surrendered.

During the night the Boers learned that relief was approaching and withdrew. They captured 12 horses and looted the stores. The Boer loss is reported as five men killed and several wounded. The British casualties are not given.

The Kingston (Jamaica) chamber of commerce passed a resolution asking the governor of Jamaica, Sir Augustus Hemming, to request the imperial authorities to send 3,000 Boer prisoners to the island. Jamaica offers money and great advantages for farming.

A dispatch from Hamilton, Bermuda, says that the British transport Armenia, having on board the first shipment of Boer prisoners to be quartered on Durrell's and Tucker's islands, arrived June 28. The prisoners, a mixed lot of native Dutch and Europeans, were in good spirits, though rather ragged. An attempt at mutiny occurred during the voyage, but it was suppressed, and the ringleaders were placed in irons. The prisoners said they had been well treated.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and had with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac. Chas. Strang, druggist.

Settle Up Notice.

As I am desirous of settling up my business in Medford preparatory to going away, all those knowing themselves indebted to me, either by book account or note, are earnestly requested to call at the old stand and settle at once.

G. L. DAVIS.

The Best Prescription for Malaria, Chills and fever is a bottle of GROVE'S TARKES'S CHILL TONIC. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50c.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The attention of the navy department has been formally called to what appears to be an unsatisfactory condition of affairs in Guam. A recent mail brought a copy of an order issued by the naval commandant of the island, Commander Steator Schroeder, denouncing "hoodlumism and lawlessness," which, he says, are rampant at the station. The order reflects upon the integrity of every officer and man in the marine corps on duty in the island.

Without regard to ministerial investigations, and without consulting the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the United States war department will take up the caution question and gather its own statistics. Orders were received at all the forts and posts on June 15th directing commanding officers to take exact memoranda of what occurs during and after pay day, the number of arrests, the number of absentees, the number of deserters. The unsatisfactory state of things under the present law has brought about this action.

Candidates for admission to the naval academy living at remote distances from Annapolis may hereafter be examined mentally by the civil service board nearest to their homes. All physical examinations, however, will take place at Annapolis, and candidates living in the middle Atlantic states will have their mental examinations there.

Joseph Cook, the noted lecturer and author, died at his home in Teanderog, N. Y. He was born in 1848.

A London dispatch says that the navy league, a patriotic non-partisan association of influential men, has issued a circular, in which it is said that in the Mediterranean fleet there is a deficiency of all classes of vessels, from battleships to destroyers, as well as a complete absence of auxiliaries of all kinds, while many items, such as smokeless powder, telescopic sights, etc., necessary in fighting a fleet are lacking.

Delegate Wilcox from Hawaii says he will introduce a bill in the next session of Congress to admit Hawaii to statehood. Efforts will be made to have a cable laid between Honolulu and San Francisco.

Jeff Brophy was down from Leeds last Saturday. In our last issue Mr. Brophy advertised that he had lost a couple of coats, and within two days the lost was found—wholly through the advertisement which appeared in these columns. There is little need of parties who have lost stock spending weeks hunting for it over the country when a few lines in these columns will find it for them in a very few days.

The doctor attended a reunion of the medical class of six, who graduated with him at Indianapolis, in 1861, just before the war broke out, and which proved to be a very agreeable affair, as one may well suppose. He did not visit the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, as he expected. He says that the exposition thus far has been a failure, and that the attendance is very small, owing to the railroads refusing to give better rates. In the east, the doctor says one scarcely ever hears the fair mentioned, and says he has heard more said about it since he arrived home than he heard during his three months' stay in the east. In coming home, through the south, he experienced some of the hottest, most humid weather in all his experience.
