She Understood.

"Ignorance," remarked young Borem, "they say is bliss."

"Oh, that probably accounts for it," rejoined Miss Cutting.

"Accounts for what?" queried the youth.

"The contented and happy look you usually wear," she replied.—Chicago News.

An Offset.

A asks B to lend him 50 cents. B has but 25 cents and gives that to A. A accepts it, remarking that he will trust B for the balance. B later asks A to settle with him, whereupon A claims that as B owes him 25 cents one debt offsets the other. What is the answer?—Baltimore American.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1. all druggists.

BLIZZARDS IN THE EAST.

St. Paul, March 17.—The weather in this vicinity today is bright and clear, but high winds emphasized the cold. In this city Lewis Orluwski, aged 70 years, was found dead early today on the street, apparently as a result of exposure to the cold. Details from the storm that raged for three days in the Dakotas are slow to arrive, owing principally to the condition of the wires. At least four and possibly many more persons are dead because of the storm, and the loss of stock will be very heavy. The storm was felt most by the new settlers, and heavier loss of life is feared among these people.

All trains are still tied up in North Dakota, although rotary plows and large crews have been working steadily in an attempt to clear the track for through trains.

Death of James C. Tolman.

The death of General James Clark Tolman at his home in Ashland on Saturday morning last removes one of the most prominent pioneer figures in Southern Oregon history. Gen. Tolman was born in Ohio during the early settlement of that state and came to California with the first of the gold seekers. He afterwards returned to Iowa, where he was married to Miss Elizabeth Coe, and in 1852 crossed the plains as a trader and captain of a train of ten wagons. The train reached Yreka in eighty-two days, without the loss of an animal, although compelled to fight their way through the Modoc country. Gen. Tolman and part of the train crossed the Siskiyou into the Rogue River valley, being the first settlers to come from the east direct.

When the state government was organized in 1858 Mr. Tolman was elected county judge of Jackson County and was re-elected in 1862, although the county was overwhelmingly Democratic. He was nominated for governor on the Republican ticket in 1874, but was defeated. In 1878 he was appointed surveyor-general of Oregon by President Hayes and reappointed by President Arthur in 1882.

Gen. Tolman, in the early '50's went to Coos County and lived there for some time, finally returning to Jackson County. During his stay in Coos County he took up a donation claim on the site of the present city of Marshfield and started that town.

He was eighty-nine years and three days of age at the time of his death.

Lakeview Experiences Earthquake Shocks.

From the Lakeview Examiner.

The people of Lakeview have been aroused to a high pitch of excitement during the past week—in fact the excitement borders on terror with some people who have before experienced the vibrations from earthquake shocks, where they have seen buildings topple over and fall about them and the earth come up and "shake" hands with them.

No such calamity has thus far sent the people of Lakeview terror-stricken to a place of safety, and doubtless no such a thing will occur. But it is true nevertheless, that our people have for the past week experienced forcible vibrations of the earth. Some say the first shock was felt last Thursday night, but the heaviest one occurred at 10:38 on Saturday evening, followed by light vibrations at early hours on Sunday morning. Again on Sunday evening at 9:07 a light shock was felt, and on Monday night at 10:30 the earth trembled. The Saturday evening shock "rattled" things up considerably—including the nerves of the more timid people. Some believe the quake widened the breach in the south wall of the Odd Fellows hall, or the Field building, while others who have been watching the break think the wall was not affected much by the quake.

At any rate the trouble has caused a sensation in Lakeview, and the strange visitor is much talked about.

Wants to Trade.

I want to trade twenty acres of land near Oregon City, for farm in Rogue River valley—not less than eighty acres. I will pay difference in value of places. Address J. C. Dixon, Eby, Clackamas County, Oregon.

A Short National Anthem.

Japan has perhaps the shortest of all national anthems. It is called "Kimi Ga Yo," from its first three words, and consists of thirty-two syllables, which count in poetry, however, as thirty-one. The exceeding brevity is due to the national fondness for conciseness of phrase and for economy of expression in all forms of art.

The patriotic song is what the Japanese call a "tanko," or verse of five lines, the first and third being of five and the others of seven syllables. Below is given the anthem in Japanese, with an English translation:

Kimi Ga Yo.
Kimi ga yo wa
Chiyo ni yachiyo ni
Sazareba hi no
Izawa to narite
Koko no musu made.

TRANSLATION.
May our lord's dominion last
Till a thousand years have passed
Twice four thousand times o'er! old!
Firm as changeless rock, earth rooted,
Mass of ages uncomputed.

—Japan and America.

An Empire Sold at Auction.

The Roman empire was once sold to the highest bidder. On the death of Pertinax in 193 the Praetorian guards put up the empire for sale by auction, and, after an animated competition between Sulpician and Julian, it was knocked down to the latter for 6250 drachmas. The Romans held auctions of various kinds, the proceedings being much the same in all cases. The auctioneer, which was a sale of plunder, was held under a spear stuck in the ground. The magistrate, auctioneer, or auctioneer, was chosen from among the argentarii, or money changers, and his assistants were the cashiers.

Perhaps!

How many people when they marry carefully put aside their joint love letters as one of the most cherished possessions of their future life, and in how many cases afterward do they ever take them out and look at them?

Now, why is this? Partly perhaps because the time of romance is over and practical, everyday life has begun; partly, also, we will hope, because now they can say so many nice things to each other, and there is no need to read over the past nice things they have written.—Golden Penny.

In a Fog.

A befogged individual was groping his way down one of London's side streets leading off the Strand when he suddenly bumped up against a man coming from the opposite direction.

"Could you tell me where this street leads to?" he inquired after the necessary apologies had been made.

"Certainly," replied the other. "It leads into the river. I have just come out of it."—Free Lance.

Crossed Vegetables.

A cross between a headless cabbage and the turnip produced the rape plant. Cabbage and turnips themselves are relatives; the lettuce plant also claims near kin to them, and far back in plant life grew a parent plant with some of the characteristics that each now claims as its own, from which all three, and many another plant also, descended.

Crushed.

"You are an iceberg!" exclaimed her elderly but well preserved adorer, pale with anger and mortification. "A dozen Cupids, with a hundred arrows each, could never find a vulnerable place in your flinty heart!"

"Not if they used an old bean to shoot with," coldly replied the beautiful girl.

Extremes Meet.

Peter Cunningham was telling one evening where he had been dining and what he got. "We had a thing I never saw before—a soup made of calves' tails."

"Extremes meet," was the remark of Douglas Jerrold, at that time the prince of wits in England.

His Ambition.

Young Jones—I mean to so live that when I die all the great cities of the earth shall quarrel over the question of my birthplace.

Young Brown—Yes; each one will lay the blame on some other.

MEN WANTED.

Few good men, accustomed to rock work, can get employment at the Fish Lake ditch camp, three miles above Brownsboro. Wages $1.75 per day; board $3.25 per week.

D. E. MORRIS, Superintendent of Construction.

Life Stories in Faces.

Character indeed is written plainly enough on the faces one meets in daily life. Some speak of tragedy, some of comedy, and not a few give you a distinct warning.

Even a ride in a street car or a short railway journey gives proof of this fact. Look around you. Those two strangers opposite you never saw before, yet you know that one is passionate, the other mean, and your heart warns to the little old lady near by. You want no one to assure you she is kind and gentle, while a whole network of wrinkles about the eyes tells you that the old gentleman in the corner loves his joke.

Strange how quick we are to read our neighbor's face and how slow to realize that our own is open for him to read! Yet it is. The story is there, and we are writing it every day of our lives. Not only do smiles and frowns leave traces, but every passion which sways the heart stamps its record upon the face.

Torne Mountain Legend.

There is a Washington legend connected with Torne mountain which is always told to those who visit the Klamath country. The mountain is the highest in the range, and on a clear day, it is said, one can see Sandy Hook from the summit. Half way up the mountain there is a deep cleft in the rocks, at the bottom of which is a spring. From some hidden point water falls into the spring with a steady dripping not unlike the ticking of a watch.

"Listen and you will hear George Washington's watch," say the old settlers. "He dropped it into the spring when he came up the mountain to watch the British leave New York."

"Tick-tick-tick-tick" is the sound which comes out of the rocks. "It is going yet," says the guide. "Must have been a good watch, don't you think so?"—New York Tribune.

Albani and Gye.

The story of Mme. Albani's first London engagement is as follows: Colonel Mapleson heard of her singing at a theater at Malta, and, thinking that she would be successful, he made her an offer, through an agent, of a contract to sing in Her Majesty's theater. She agreed to it and went to London; but on arriving there, she told the cabman to drive her to the Italian opera house. He, instead of going to Her Majesty's, took her to Covent Garden, which was also devoted to Italian opera.

She was shown up to the manager's office and stated that she had come to sign the contract which Mr. Mapleson had offered her. Mr. Gye, thinking to play a joke on his rival, Mapleson, made out a contract, and Albani signed it. Mr. Gye then told her that he was not Colonel Mapleson, but that he could do much better by her. He offered to tear up the contract if she liked, but told her that Nilsson was singing at Her Majesty's and would brook no rival.

Albani decided to let the contract stand and thus became one of the stars of Covent Garden, eventually marrying the son of Mr. Gye.

Not in the Piece.

Irate but Unmusical Father—For gracious sake, Mary, give us a rest! Daughter—Can't do it, pa. There's none in the music.

Engines and Boilers for Sale.

I have for sale at my machine shop, in Medford, one 10-horse power boiler with 8-horse power engine, one 3-horse power engine and boiler, one 8-horse power engine and boiler. These have all been overhauled and repaired and are practically as good as new.
