Their return was hastened somewhat by the illness of Austin, he being taken sick while in the mountains. They re-port having had a very pleasant time and succeeded in getting forty gallons of berries. Mrs. D. J. S. Pearce and son and daughter were also of the party, but they did not return until later.

On Wednesday of last week your correspondent started for Ft. Klamath with a load of tomatoes and a few sacks of the famous Eagle Point outons. On the way I passed a large number of teams loaded Klamath county, where he has been with lumber from the mills up prospecting for a cattle ranch. Rogue river; also met quite a number of teams going to the valley for fruit and supplies, and a good many Rogue River valley people who were returning home from Klamath County, where they had been work-ing during haying. While I was at Fort Klamath, H. L. Nelson and C. H. Blaesser, of lows, came in with a quantity of relics which they had dug up at the old fort and which they intended taking home with them. Mr. Nelson also had a stone that he dived to the bottom of Crater lake after, where the water was six or seven feet deep. They had quite a collection of curios. had quite a collection of curios. Saturday morning I met John Ply-male, of Medford, and John Mill sap, of Ashland, at the Hoyt botel in Ft. Klamath. Mr. Plymale re-cently had one bone of his right arm broken by a horse, at Chewau-can, but he and Mr. Millsap were on their way to the huckleberry natch to have a good time. Satur-day afternoon I called on A. Hoyt and family. Mrs. Hoyt is in poor realth, and is talking of going to Medford for medical treatment. I also called on Mr, and Mrs. F. A. Culbertson, formerly of Jackson County. They have one of the finest stock ranches in that section. James W. Pew and several other Jackson County are visiting at Fort Klamath and vicinity. When I Klamath and vicinity. Retired army officers are considerably wrought up over a decision of the secretary of war which deprives them of wearing the usiform of their brevet rank and compels them to wear the costume of the actual rank with which they are retired. The intention of the war department was evidently to spare retired officers the expense of conforming to the recently adopted uniform regulations, but the effect of the order as it is worded is to prohibit them the uniform of the higher title.
