Lingering Summer Colds.

Don't let a cold run at this season. Summer colds are the hardest kind to cure and if neglected may linger along for months. A long sleeve like this will pull down the strongest constitution. One Minute Cough Cure will break up the attack at once. Safe, sure, acts at once.
Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. The children like it.

DEATH OF MRS. J. J. KINCAID.

DIED.—Mrs. Ellen Kincaid, wife of J. J. Kincaid, died at the family home, near Tolo, on Thursday, Sept.
11, 1902, aged 53 years, 7 months and 10 days.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Ellen Haddin, was born in Louis county, Iowa. She, together with her husband and children, came to Oregon in 1876, where they have since lived at their home near Tolo.

His home, like many others, has been broken. Death has been here and called away a companion, mother, sister and friend from our side. But the relatives may rest assured, that as they are now, so once was she; as she is now they will soon be, for time is winging us away to an eternal home. "Life is but a winter's day, a journey to the tomb." Good-byes come often here; but there are no good-byes in Heaven.

She leaves a husband, three children, and seven grand children, besides other near relatives to mourn their loss. Rev. E. B. Lockhart conducted the funeral services, and the remains were laid to rest in Central point cemetery, Friday.

The family is very thankful to friends for their kindness during their trouble.

DEATH OF MRS. A. F. CARPENTER.

DIED.—Olive R. Evans was born in the state of Michigan, June 14, 1836, and departed this life Monday, Sept. 15, 1902, being 66 years, 3 months and 1 day old.

She was united in marriage to Aaron F. Carpenter, Oct. 20, 1861, with whom she had traveled life's rugged journey for nearly 41 years.
She leaves a sorrowing husband, and three daughters, Mrs. Sarah E.
Robertson, Mrs. Angelina S. Cox, and Miss Lilly V. Wilson, to mourn their loss. She had been lingering between life and death for many months; but she bore her great suffering with patience and fortitude and never murmured.

She was always a faithful wife and mother and a true and earnest friend. The faithful husband done all he could to care for her during her sickness, and so hoped she would regain her strength. But alas, for earthly hopes! The "golden bowl is broken," the jewel has been taken away, and only the carpet of clay has been returned to us to mock our grief, and remind us of our loss.

The funeral services were held at the family home, two miles west of town, Rev. E. B. Lockhart officiating, after which the remains were taken to Jacksonville cemetery and laid to rest, on Wednesday September 17th.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

AMERICA COMMEMORATES DEATH OF WM. MCKINLEY.

Widow of the Late President Visits Tomb at Westlawn Cemetery, Accompanied by Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart—Services in Other Cities.

Canton, O., Sept. 15.—There was a general observance of McKinley Memorial day Sunday in the city which claimed him as its own. From almost every pulpit there was reference in prayer or in address to him and his work. His favorite hymns were sung.
The address that attracted the most attention here was that given by Judge William R. Day, former secretary of state, and a friend and adviser of Mc-Kinley's for many years. The address was delivered in the First Methodist Episcopal church, of which McKinley was a member, and in which the public funeral was held Sept. 19, 1901.
The only decorations were flowers and a portrait of the late president around which were the folds of the Stars and Stripes, emblematic of the patriotic spirit of McKinley.

Although conscious of the fact that it was just one year ago that her beloved husband died, Mrs. McKinley did not vary the programme followed by her for several months. All days to her have been memorial days. Her usual trip to Westlawn cemetery was taken this forenoon, and she laid flowers on the casket that contains the remains of the nation's martyred chief. Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, who is her guest, went with her into the McKinley tomb and also laid a bou-quet of flowers on the coffin. Their subsequent drive took them to the McKinley family burial plot, where the daily bouquets were laid by Mrs.
McKinley's direction. The afternoon and evening were spent at the Mc-Kinley home. During the day there were many visitors at the McKinley vault.

Judge Day's tribute to his martyred chief was in part as follows:
"This tragedy, which fills our hearts with grief, has a lesson for the living, and calls upon lawmakers and law-enforcers for all that legislation and
