

TROUBLE IS THREATENED IN CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST.

Chicago, March 30.—A posse comitatus and then a force of militia are in prospect as participants in the Durbin-Lorimer election contest. The announcement was made last night by W. T. Underwood, counsel for Congressman Lorimer, subsequent to the disclosure that the board of election commissioners would direct the arrest today by policemen of all deputy sheriffs or other persons or officials who might attempt to interfere with the reopening of ballots in the congressional contest.

LOUD DENIES IT.

San Francisco, March 30.—Eugene F. Loud, recently one of the congressmen from California, denies that he worked for the raise of salary granted to Mr. Machen, the postal officer, whose operations while at the head of the free delivery system are now under investigation. It is alleged by the defense in this case that Congressman Loud, Hemmingsway and Littauer were advocates of the increase in salary and they may be summoned as witnesses to tell about the matter and explain any interest they may have had.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, it has become incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 2 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Officials Make Concessions.

New Haven, Conn.—The action of President John H. Mall of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad in inviting the trainmen of the system to another conference and agreeing that Valentine Fitzpatrick, third vice grand master of the Trainmen's National Brotherhood, shall take part in the conference, is believed to have cleared for the present what was fast becoming a very critical situation.

Hope for Good Results.

Seattle—With arbitration as a righteous weapon the commercial community of Seattle is demanding a settlement of the differences between the Seattle Electric company and the striking street carmen. While the fifth day of the contest brings but little change in a situation which has been acutely aggravated from the start, there is hope of an early change for the better.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown, of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by Chas. Strang, druggist. Trial bottles free.

TO ANSWER CARMEN.

San Francisco, March 30.—Officials of the United Railroads stated Sunday that the answer of the company to the demands of the Carmen's union will be ready this afternoon, when the conference committee of the union is expected to call on Manager Chapman. There are many clauses of the proposed trade rules to be interpreted and each, so Mr. Chapman says, has to be carefully looked into, so that the reply to each may be properly explained.

A HORSE IN BATTLE

HOW HE FEELS WHEN IN THE MIDST OF A FIERCE ONSLAUGHT.

A Writer of Horse Stories Describes the Experiences of an Arab Charger in the Ranks of Stuart's Cavalry—The Gallop to Battle.

Probably no one will ever know just how a horse feels when going into battle. There is no way of finding out. So it is likely that no one will dispute the correctness of the description which Sewell Ford gives in "Horses Nine," published by Scribner's.

The horse in question is Pasha, a half blood Arab hunter that has been pressed into service in Stuart's Black Horse cavalry. The story runs:

Early the next morning Pasha was awakened by the distant growl of heavy guns. By daylight he was on the move, thousands of other horses with him. Nearer and nearer they rode to the place where the guns were growing. Sometimes they were on roads, sometimes they crossed fields, and again they plunged into the woods where the low branches struck one's eyes and scratched one's flanks. At last they broke clear of the trees to some sudden plain upon such a scene as Pasha had never before witnessed.

Far across the open field he could see troop on troop of horses coming toward him. They seemed to be pouring over the crest of a low hill, as if driven onward by some unseen force behind. Instantly Pasha heard, rising from the throats of thousands of riders on either side and behind him, that noise, wild yell which he had come to know meant the approach of trouble. High and shrill and menacing it rang as it was taken up and repeated by those in the rear. Next the bugles began to sound, and in quick obedience the horses formed in line just on the edge of the woods, a line which stretched and stretched on either flank until one could hardly see where it ended.

From the distant line came no answering cry, but Pasha could hear the bugles blowing, and he could see the fronts massing. Then came the order to charge at a gallop. This set Pasha to tugging eagerly at the bit, but for what reason he did not know. He knew only that he was part of a great and solid line of men and horses sweeping furiously across a field toward that other line which he had seen pouring over the hill crest.

He could scarcely see at all now. The thousands of hoofs had raised a cloud of dust that not only enveloped the on rushing line, but rolled before it. Nor could Pasha hear anything save the thunderous thud of many feet. Even the shrieking of the shells was drowned. But for the restraining bit Pasha would have leaped forward and cleared the line. Never had he been so stirred. The inherited memory of countless desert raids made by his Arab ancestors was doing its work. For what seemed a long time this continued, and then in the midst of the blind and frenzied race there loomed out of the thick air, as if it had appeared by magic, the opposing line. Pasha caught a glimpse of something which seemed like a heaving wall of tossing heads and of foam whitened necks and shoulders. Here and there gleamed red, distended nostrils and straining eyes. Bending above was another wall—a wall of dusty blue coats, of grim faces and of dust powdered hats. Bristling above all was a threatening crest of waving blades.

What would happen when the lines met? Almost before the query was thought there came the answer. With an earth jarring crash they came together. The lines wavered back from the shock of impact, and then the whole struggle appeared to Pasha to center about him. Of course this was not so. But it was a fact that the most conspicuous figure in either line had been that of the cream white charger in the very center of the Black Horse regiment.

How Not to Get Old.

Once upon a time a young man who had a dread of growing old and having to give up the pleasures of youth preached the doctrine of good companionship and jolly living.

"Eat, drink and be merry," he said. "Seek gay companions and let wine and song keep your blood in motion, and you will never know what it is to be old."

He followed his own counsel and died in his youth.

Moral.—Devotion to appetite prevents a man from growing old.—New York Herald.

Thrift.

Every man who saves money is called mean and stingy by the loafers on the street corners and pointed out with reproach by the men who idle away their time. In order to get ahead a man must save, must spend less than he makes, and above all things, he must work. Don't be ashamed of having any one say that you are "mean." Attend to your own business and you are all right. The men who criticize the thrifty really pay them a big compliment. It is the tribute sloth pays industry.—Nortonville News.

An Easy One.

"What supports the sun in the heavens?" asked the country schoolteacher. "Why, its beams, of course," replied a precocious youngster.—Kansas City Independent.

Extremes Extremely Uncomfortable.

"What does comfortable circumstance mean?" "Why, you're 'comfortable' when you're neither poor nor rich."—Detroit Free Press.

Sincerity is the basis of all true friendship. Without sincerity it is like a ship without ballast.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court for Jackson County, Oregon.

Emma Baker, Plaintiff, vs. James Baker, Defendant.

To James H. Baker, the above-named defendant, in the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you, in the above-entitled suit on or before six weeks from the date of the first publication of said summons, to-wit: the 24th day of April, A. D. 1903, the last day of the time prescribed in the order for publication of this summons, to-wit: which said order requires that you appear and answer on or before the expiration of six weeks from the day of the first publication of this summons, the first publication thereof being on the 13th day of March, A. D. 1903, and you are hereby notified that you fail to appear and answer, or otherwise fail to said complaint with said time, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: For a dissolution of the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, and that said marriage be held for null and void, and that the plaintiff have the care, control and custody of the minor children of said plaintiff and defendant, and for such other and further relief as to the court may appear just and equitable, and that plaintiff have judgment for her costs and disbursements.

This summons published in the MEDFORD MAIL, a newspaper published at Medford, Oregon, by order of Hon. R. K. Hanna, one of the Justices of the Circuit Court for Jackson County, Oregon, which said order provided that the first publication be had on March 13, 1903.
