cial Friday night to her schoolmates and young lady and gentlemen friends. Music, games and plays were heartily indulged in until the old family clock struck 12, when ply, coffee and cake were served. All report having spent a most enjoyable evening, and think that Miss Alberta should wear a blue ribbon for the pleasing and satisfactory manner in which she conducted her first social entertainment.

Mrs. Stanley, of Sams Valley, a highly respected pioneer lady of Southern Oregon, died at Moonville, November 27, 1903. Infirmities of old age and other complications hastened her sudden and unexpected death. She was buried in Antioch cemetery Sunday. The autumn flowers entwined into beautiful wreaths were tastefully arranged. Rev. Gillette, of Gold Hill, assisted by Rev. Rosser, of Ashland, conducted the funeral services at the grave. Mrs. Stanley was 85 years old, and leaves seven living children, two of whom were present at her funeral—Dr. A. C. Stanley, of Gold Hill, and Miss Jane, who has been a lifelong, inseparable companion of her mother. Mrs. Stanley was a true and devoted mother, and a Christian woman in the fullest sense. Her many estimable qualities of patience, love and purity of heart and character are the precious gifts she has left as a future guide to others, and has stamped an indelible impression, long to be remembered and cherished by her children and large concourse of relatives and friends.

table was piled high with all kinds of fruit and vegetables, representing the beautiful production of this season for which we should all give thanks. There were between forty and fifty of the patrons and residents of the district present, and all seemed to be pleased with the exercises.

An Instance of Growth.

It is a pleasure, in this day of great industrial combinations, to note an instance where an independent concern has attained to mammoth proportions, and has grown steadily but surely for years from a small beginning into the fullness of the present time. Such an institution is cited in the seed business of D. E. Ferry & Co., who for nearly half a century have gone forward each year, constantly adding new customers and retaining all its old ones, until it is today the source of seed supply from which the great crops of this country spring. Seed houses have come and gone—some survived and flourished for years, but finally succumbed for one reason or another—while Ferry's kept growing all the time. Thousands of farmers, gardeners and flower growers look to them year after year for the seeds from which the prosperity of their fields and gardens are to grow, and the fact that they are never disappointed in Ferry's seeds is the secret of the wonderful expansion of this popular firm. You can buy their seeds in every city, town or hamlet of this land, and you are always certain that they are fresh, true to name and sure to grow. Their 1904 Seed Annual, a valuable guide in the selection of the proper seeds to plant, will be sent free to all readers of the MEDFORD MAIL who apply to D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Michigan.

Sheriff Rader was in our vicinity this week.

Miss Alice Darby is reported on the sick list this week.

Mr. L. Parker and family, of Jacksonville, have been visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. F. True, this week.

We have been informed that Chas. Wilson has sold his farm to Mr. Ostrander, who came here a short time ago. We understand that Mr. Wilson intends to move to Medford. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have proved to be excellent neighbors and we regret to lose them from our neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Ostrander are almost strangers among us, but if we are a judge this respect, we are sure they will prove to be excellent neighbors and will make many warm friends in our vicinity. We heartily welcome Mr. Ostrander and family to our locality.

There was an excellent Thanksgiving program rendered by the pupils of our school last Wednesday, the 25th. A mimic evening program was given by having the room darkened, and then lighted by lamps, candles, and jack-o'-lanterns. The room was decorated with evergreen and strings of red and white berries. A

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture is the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

BURNED IN JAIL.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 30—Two Indian boys, Fred Snider and a son of Pitt River Johnnie, both aged about 18 years, perished in flames this morning at 2 o'clock at Bonanza, a small town 24 miles east of here.

They spent the previous day in Bonanza, bent on a good time. Whiskey made them bad Indians, and they were locked up for the night by the town marshal. Incineration was evidently brought about by their endeavor to turn themselves out.

The inside of the jail was a burning inferno by the time people arrived at the scene, and the absence of any noise within told of the awful fate that had befallen the youths of the Yainax Indian School.

An early messenger arrived at Yainax conveying the news of the tragedy, and by 9 o'clock this morning a number of Indians had arrived at Bonanza. The town board held a meeting and ordered every business house in town closed. The people of the community fear that unless the guilty ones to the crime of providing the youths with whiskey are made amenable to the full extent of the law that harm of some kind will come to the town.

The Coroner and Deputy District Attorney are at Bonanza making investigations.

ADDITIONAL PERSONAL.

Misses Gennie Grimes and Dela Panky were in Medford Wednesday.

Messrs. Rice, Brevort and Bishop arrived from San Francisco with J. D. Heard on Wednesday evening, and are now guests of that gentleman for a few days.

Miss Etta Caton left this week for her home at Lincoln, Nebraska. Miss Caton is the young lady friend who accompanied Miss Sarah Knowles from the east, and who was with that lady when she died, while enroute to the home of her relatives in Medford.

F. J. Myers and daughter, of Neyada, Mo., arrived in Medford on Saturday for a short stay. Mr. Myers' father was one of the early residents of the Sams Valley country, where Mr. M. spent his boyhood. He arrived here to look up old friends and locate the landmarks familiar to him in his youth. Mr. Myers relates that where there are now fine fruit orchards growing, when he was here last the land, much of it, was covered with chaparral bushes and pine trees. Mr. Myers is now probate judge in the county in which he lives in Missouri.

Modern Antiquities.

The quest for things antique has led to systematic forgery and imitation on the part of dealers. Paris is the great center of this deceitful industry, says the Nation. There has been discovered in the suburbs a thriving factory for the fabrication of Egyptian mummies, cases and all. These are shipped to Egypt and in due time return as properly antiquated discoveries.

A funny story is now current about a collector of mediæval things. A certain clever workman in stone made to the order of a dealer in mediæval antiquities a Venetian chimneypiece of the fifteenth century and received for his work some two or three thousand francs. The dealer shipped the chimneypiece to Italy and had it set up in a palace near Venice, bringing back to Paris photographs of the palace and of the chimneypiece in situ. By means of these photographs he aroused the interest of a rich collector, who sent his secretary to Venice to make sure that the photographs did not lie, and on his favorable report bought the thing for 50,000 francs. On the arrival of the article at his house in Paris he sent for some workmen to open the cases. One of them appeared to him to go about the work rather carelessly, and he remonstrated with the man, who answered: "Have no fear, sir. I know just how it needs to be opened, for I packed it when it left Paris."

Quick Lunch.

He was obviously tired, preoccupied and in a hurry. He lifted himself to one of the stools at the quick lunch counter and in answer to a query said: "Bring me some plain beans, a piece of apple pie and a glass of milk."

In a little while the waitress reappeared.

"Pork and," she remarked impersonally, sliding the dishes before him.

"I asked for plain beans. I can't eat pork," he remonstrated.

"Oh!"

The dish was removed, and after stopping to chat a few minutes with a young man with a scarlet tie she returned. "Here's your beans," she remarked, and after a thoughtful moment, while still eyeing the scarlet tie, added:

"Let's see; you wanted pie—buckle-berry pie?"

"No, apple."

"Oh!"

There was another longer wait, a still longer sojourn in the entrancing neighborhood of the scarlet tie. Then a pie was brought.

"That all?" she asked, feeling abnormally for a check.

"No; I ordered—"

"Oh, yes; coffee. Excuse me for forgetting."—New York Telegram.
