CITY HAPPENINGS.

—Attorney M. Purdin is laid up, as the result of an encounter with a vicious horse. Mr. Purdin had professional business at Prospect and the team he secured to transport him there and back were "bronchos." One of them in particular the judge was warned against as being particularly "light-headed." Friday morning he and Stan Aiken went into the barn at the latter's place at Prospect to harness the animals for the homeward drive. Mr. Purdin had been told not to go into the stall on a certain side of the horse, as the animal was "liable" to kick. He says now he will trust to "liability" hereafter rather than take the "certainty" he experienced. He entered the stall and had reached a point about midway between the entrance and the manger when the vicious brute suddenly sprang forward, kicking with both feet, and striking Mr. Purdin on the right leg below the knee, inflicting severe bruises and wounds. Mr. Purdin says he don't know how many times he was kicked—they came so fast he couldn't count them—but he managed at last to crawl into the manger out of reach of the flying heels of the broncho. In spite of his severe hurt he drove all the way—50 miles—from Prospect to Medford that day; but had to have help to get out of the vehicle when he arrived. An X-ray examination revealed no broken bones, though several of the bruises are very severe.

—Cigars for Christmas presents—from 50 cents the box to as high as you find you can afford. The greater the price the better the smoke; but the cheaper ones are "nausea bad fra als their cheap." At Wilson's Rialto cigar store.

—Tuesday evening, November 29th, was social and election night with Medford Lodge No. 421, Fraternal Union of America. The following officers were elected for the following term of office: F. M. Phoebe Mitchell; Justice, Lillian Sackett; secretary, L. A. Jordan; treasurer, William B. Jackson; truth, Sarah Jackson; mercy, Lettie Hall; protection, Ella Shoults; guide, Jane Morgan; guard, Sarah Andrus; sentinel, Maggie Noble; stewards, George Jackson, F. M. Jordan and L. C. Corwin. The business of the evening was followed by a pumpkin social. The lights were turned off and the ghost with the jack-o'-lantern appeared and marched around the room to strains of the Jack-o'-lantern march, played by Frater Noble, and was placed on the altar with the motto, "Let your light so shine that the world may see your good work." It kept watch while the bountiful repast was served in courses: whipped cream with angel food, followed by pop corn and fruits, served in a pumpkin boat, decorated with ivy. The committee responsible for this entertainment were Fraters Andrus, Shoults and Parmalee. XX.

—Shearer & Smylie, General draying. Household moving. All kinds of wood for sale.

—Miss Gertrude Fay entertained a number of her young friends on Monday evening, the occasion being the celebration of her thirteenth birthday. From 7:30 until 10:30 the young folks enjoyed themselves as only those in the heyday of their youth can.

Games of various kinds, music, etc., served to fill in the hours. The festivities were interrupted for a short time by the serving of ice cream and cake, which interruption, however, didn't seem to be unwelcome to the young people. The rooms were decorated with vines and madrona berries—the nearest approach to the traditional holly this coast produces, and the bright red of the berries contrasting with the dark green of the vines made a very pleasant ensemble. Miss Gertrude was the recipient of many handsome souvenirs of the occasion. Those present were: Pansy Carney, Nellie Evans, Fern Hutchison, Floeta Hockenjos, Hazel Davis, Helen Coss, Flora Gray, Yenita and Enid Hamilton, Ione Flynn, Agnes Isaacs, Eula Jacobs, Hazel and Ethel Cox, Loraine Bliton, Ethelyn Brown, Zela White, Frank Ray, Seley Hall, Cary Bundy.

—Don't forget to get your wife or your daughter, or both, a nice piano for Xmas. It is both useful and ornamental, tends to keep the family at home. A knowledge of music gives one the highest standing in society. The Coss Piano House, of Medford and Ashland, handles all grades at the lowest possible prices and terms to suit purchasers. See us before buying, as we are never under sold, as we buy direct from the factory east. COSS PIANO HOUSE. 28-1m —The work of altering and fitting up the rooms over Hutchison & Lumsden's store for the use of the Commercial Club has been begun and is being rapidly pushed to completion, although it is not likely that the "house-warming" can be held on December 5th, as planned. The executive committee is doing all that can be done to hasten matters, but the fact that the rooms were only vacated by former occupants the first of the week has delayed them, so that it will probably be necessary to postpone the opening for a week longer. Meantime the executive committee and a sub-committee appointed by the directors are working along other lines with an idea of developing some advantageous plans of advertising the country around Medford in the most effective way. Several plans are under discussion, but until they are further developed they will not be made public. It is probable that the club will endeavor to use several of these plans, and the committee is now at work on a series of pamphlets which will probably be furnished to any one receiving inquiries regarding this section. It is to be hoped that this work will be carried out without delay, as publicity is all that Medford needs to make it the best city in Southern Oregon. Meanwhile, let us all "push it along." We must be a unit for the up-building of Medford and the Rogue river valley or the up-build will be a down-build.

—If you want to give your friends in the East some idea of what scenes in Southern Oregon are like, you send them a collection of the stereo views taken by N. S. Bennett. These views comprise a wide range of subjects and thoroughly cover the scenery of Southern Oregon. They can be had either at the Medford Book Store or at H. B. Nye's.

—Medford theater goers will be pleased to learn that Georgia Harper and company will open a week's engagement at Wilson's opera house on December 12th, with a repertoire of high-class plays. Miss Harper played an engagement in Medford about two years ago, playing "East Lynne" and "The Lyric Queen," and made an extremely favorable impression upon the people of this place. The company is now reported to be better and stronger than ever, and the repertoire one of the best of any company on the road. Among the members of Miss Harper's company is Lynn Purdin, son of Judge Mahlon Purdin, of Medford.

—Guaranteed Forest Reserve scrip or sale, in large or small quantities, by Frank E. Alley, upstairs over Lane Office, Roseburg, Oregon. Will place same for non-resident purchasers.

—Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Cameron left Friday for Portland, whither the doctor was called in attendance upon Miss McVickers, a trained nurse, who has been in attendance upon patients for Dr. Cameron in Medford. Miss McVickers left Medford for Portland a couple of weeks ago to be operated upon for some trouble. The operation was performed, but the patient did not recover as quickly as it was hoped she would and Dr. Cameron was sent for. She is now improving but neither the doctor nor Mrs. Cameron will return until she is out of danger.

—Please your wife, sister, daughter, daughter-in-law or a friend by buying something for all from Elwood's complete line of silver ware.

—Rev. A. S. Foster, formerly of Medford, now at Tillamook, Oregon, is conducting revival services in that town, assisted by Rev. Snyder, an evangelist, and as a result of their labors over forty persons have professed conversion and have determined to henceforth live Christian lives. Rev. Foster's many friends will be pleased to learn of his remarkable success in bringing about such results for the betterment of mankind.

—Indian baskets and novelties—See the display in my window. D. E. Russell, the Confectioner.

—The foot ball game on Thanksgiving between Ashland and Medford teams at the Medford grounds was won by the local team by a score of 6 to 0. Ashland was out played from start to finish. The game was characterized by some pretty rough playing, for which both sides were about equally responsible. These tactics were commenced by the Ashland team at the game the Sunday before, and on Thanksgiving they were beaten at their own game. The tackle by Miles of which Ashland complains so much was accidental and under the circumstances, unavoidable. Ashland and Medford have each won a game from the other and have beaten Grants Pass, so that the honors are about even.

—Wanted—Stock hogs by Wortman & Goss.

—H. W. Miller, the timber locator, who was bound over to appear before the United States circuit court at Portland for fraudulent dealings in government lands, and who was subsequently arrested at Redding, Calif., on a similar charge, was taken last week to San Francisco in charge of an U. S. deputy marshal, to answer to an accusation of subornation of perjury.

—Lost—A fur glove, between Medford and Trail, Monday, November 21st. Please leave at Hutchison & Lumsden's and get reward.

—Strawberries and raspberries the latter part of November is no dream in Southern Oregon. They actually grew here this late in the season and are partaken of by the whole family. Wm. Davis showed us well loaded stems of ripe berries of both these varieties on Monday of this week. He gathered enough of them Sunday for a good meal.

—When in doubt try Wilson's Rialto cigar store. One smoke from Wilson's cigar case dispels all doubt—and the doubter becomes a steady customer.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Griffin arrived in Medford this week from Crescent City, California, where Mr. Griffin has been stopping for the past two years, and where he was married last fall to a young lady of that city. They will make Medford their future home, Mr. Griffin having taken the agency for the Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine. He has opened an office on the Westside, in the building formerly occupied by J. E. Soliss.

—Lost—On upper Rogue river, near the McClannahan place, one black fox hound dog and one-half fox hound dog, answer to the names of "Brin" and "Collie." I will pay $5 reward for information leading to their recovery. H. W. Jackson, Medford.

—Silas Bullock and family arrived in Medford this week from Roseburg, Oregon—recently from Oklahoma. Mr. Bullock has purchased the Stanwood place, east of Medford, from F. H. Rogers and has moved thereto. There are eighty acres in the piece and the price paid was $1200.

—Wanted—Ten bushels of beardless barley. Address W. T. Kinney, Lake creek. Will pay premium for the grain.

—J. S. Orr, formerly county judge of Klamath county, who is now a resident of Reno, Nev., was elected a member of the legislature in that state at the November election. Judge Orr's law partner, Mr. Norcross, was elected a judge of the supreme court at the same election.

—Sewing machines—all makes—on easy payments; also machines for rent. B. S. Griffin & Co., Westside.

—Messrs. Mayor & Reid, the electricians, are having pretty plenty of work, but not more than they deserve. They have just finished wiring the Hutton-Nauber saloon and are now working on the Commercial Club rooms and Dr. Cameron's residence.

—Blue prints of township maps, showing all vacant land, fifty cents each. For reliable information concerning Government land write to Frank E. Alley, Abstractor, Roseburg, Oregon.

—W. F. Brock, who has been in the employ of the Portland Oregonian for the past seven years, as a staff correspondent and in the circulation department, passed through the valley Wednesday, en route to Sacramento, where he has accepted a position on the Sacramento Union.

—Cigar clippings—at Wilson's Rialto store. Fresh, clean stock just received.

—As a window dresser Ray Crystal, salesman for Brown & Crystal, has few equals. He has natural ability which ought some day, if allowed scope, to rank him among the best artisans in this line.

—Needles, oil and repairs for all sewing machines. Repairing done and guaranteed. B. S. Griffin & Co., Westside.

—A new sidewalk has been put in on Sixth street, between A and B, also a new walk on the same street between I and J. New crossings have been put in at each of those places.

—Ladies' and gents' chains and shes, all kinds, prices right. See Elwood.

—Manager Wilson informs us that he is negotiating to secure the production of James A. Herne's great American play, "Shore Acres," in the near future. Definite announcements will be made later.
