OUR COUNTY Correspondents

Eagle Point Eagles.

BY A. C. HOWLETT.

I unintentionally omitted to state in my last that H. P. Harriman, a veterinary dentist, was out in our town week before last, doing dental work for some of our citizens. He seems to have good success in his line.

George W. Shively, of North Dakota, a son-in-law of Elder J. P. Moomaw, formerly of this place, but now of Marshfield, arrived here last week and has arranged to go onto the J. H. Carlton place. He was preceded a few days by his brother-in-law, Cyfus Moomaw.

J. F. Dittsworth, of Leeds, came to the Sully Side Hotel last Friday evening to take a rest and have his hand treated. He has a very bad carbuncle on one of his fingers, but at present writing, Tuesday, it is improving and his general health is also improving rapidly.

Messrs. Lee and Healey came out last week and closed the deal for the Daley saw mill, on Round Top, consideration $1500. They have also negotiated for a large lot of timber in that vicinity. They expect to have the mill running next week. The change will work a great benefit to this section of the country, as we have not been able to procure a sufficient amount of lumber here for local purposes. The calculations are that there will be several new buildings go up here this summer and fall. People are already looking around for suitable lots for building purposes.

The sad intelligence reached us last Sunday evening that Mrs. Charles Heiff, of Lake creek, died Sunday morning. She was apparently as well as ever when she woke up and her husband suggested that she lay and rest, while the girls prepared breakfast, and when the girls went to call her, she was dead. That is as far as I have been able to learn the particulars, but suppose that your correspondent, Bro. Kenney, will furnish your readers with all of the facts in the case. The many friends of the family here deeply sympathize with them in their hour of sad bereavement.

On Wednesday of last week the Woman's Aid Society gave a quilting at Mrs. J. H. Carlton's and the dinner was served at Mrs. J. Frank Brown's—a basket dinner—and it is not necessary for me to say that the dinner was simply superb, for the ladies of this section know just how to get up a fine dinner and when the reader reads over the names of those who were present, they will conclude that

Woolville Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Sams visited Grants Pass Friday.

J. B. Hair went to Medford on business Tuesday.

Alex. Schneider is suffering from a light attack of la grippe.

J. M. Whipple and Ross F. Smithline departed for Fort Jones, Calif., last Thursday.

The Bagley Improvement Co. will build a temporary dam to store water for irrigating purposes this season, and later will rebuild permanently on a stronger basis.

Mrs. Bessie Randall and son, Will Pyburn, went to Grants Pass Tuesday, the former to purchase paint, paper, etc., to finish her residence, and the latter to have dental work done.

Meedames Curtis, Barnard and Precourt came up from Grants Pass Wednesday and held an informal meeting in the church for the ladies of this congregation. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Barnard and a discussion of home missionary topics followed. Their kindness is appreciated by the ladies here.

Louis Brownworth, a respected citizen of this neighborhood, died at his home, Friday morning, April 14, 1905, aged seventy-eight years. Mr. Brownworth's demise was not unexpected, as he had been ill for some time. He leaves a wife and several grown children. Their many friends sympathize with them in their grief. The remains were interred in the Rock Point cemetery, beside those of a daughter, Mrs. S. E. Owings, who died only a short time ago.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best and Most Popular.

"Mothers buy it for croupy children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs, and elderly people buy it for a grippé," say Moore Bros., Elton, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but that this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by Chas. Strang.

W. C. T. U. Items.

The Union was called to order at the home of Mrs. Dodge to an extra large attendance with scripture reading by the president, prayers by Meedames Hubbard and Enna, song, "Nearer my God to Thee." Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Several committees showed sixteen visits made to the sick with flowers and aid. A letter was read in regard to placing a W. C. T. U. seat in the park. Owing to the conference said letter was laid on the table until after conference. Mrs. Buck read a splendid article from the pen of Miss Wheeler Wilcox, instructing mothers to live peacefully with their husbands. Mrs. Smith, from Washington, gave some useful hints about the Union she just left. Mrs. Burchell favored the meeting with one of the fine orations, "My Mother's Voice," which was much enjoyed by all. The Doxology was then sung and the meeting dismissed by Mrs. Smith, to meet at the Christian church, April 14th. Light refreshments were served, it being Mothers' Day, before the meeting adjourned. Come one, come all.

Beck's Narrow Escape.

David Beck, the celebrated portrait painter and pupil of Van Dyke, while traveling through Germany was suddenly taken ill and to all appearances died and was laid out a corpse. His servants, sitting round the bed, grieved heartily for the loss of so good a master, and as grief is thirsty drank as heartily at the same time. One of them, becoming more befuddled than the rest, then addressed his companions thus: "Our master when alive was fond of his glass. Let us give him of gratitude, then, give him one now he is dead." Assent was given; the head of the dead painter was raised up and some wine poured down or spilled about, the fragrance or spirit of which caused Beck to open his eyes, upon which the servant, who, being drunk, half forgetting his master was dead, forced down the remainder of the glass. The painter gradually revived and thus escaped a living interment.

Cures Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. C. Peterson, 625 Lake St., Topeka, Kansas, says: "Of all cough remedies Ballard's Horehound Syrup is my favorite; it has done and will do all that it claims for it—to specially cure all coughs and colds—and it is so sweet and pleasant to the taste." 25c, 50c, $1.00 a bottle at Strang's drug store.

Cook Island Laws.

There are some strange laws in the Cook Islands, in the eastern Pacific. The population is Maori and each island legislates for itself. The island council of Manihiki, one of the group, has in force an ordinance to regulate village life within the island. It begins by re-enacting "the ancient law of Manihiki as to dogs" and sentencing to death any dogs on the island. Pigs are not to wander at large, and any person going about after 9 p. m. may be arrested and taken to the courthouse to explain his reason for being abroad. No debt incurred by a native inhabitant is to be recoverable in any court. Selling or giving intoxicating liquor to any native inhabitant is punishable with a fine of $50.

Keep your bowels regular by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. There is nothing better. For sale by Charles Strang.

The Marble Bible of Burma.

Great as has been the amount of labor expended on the various Bibles of the world, the palm for execution must be given to the Kutho-daw, which is a Buddhist monument near Mandalay, in Burma. It consists of about 700 temples, each containing a slab of white marble on which the whole of this Buddhist Bible, containing over 8,000,000 syllables, has been engraved. The Burmese alphabet is used, but the language is Pali. This wonderful Bible is absolutely unique. The Kutho-daw was erected in 1857 by Mindon-min, the last king but one of Burma. The vast collection of temples together form a square, with a dominating temple in the center. Each of the marble slabs on which the sacred text is inscribed is surmounted by an ornamental canopy in sagged form.

Dumas and His Economical Son.

Alexandre Dumas, the great French story writer, was very fond and proud of his son Alexandre, who also became a famous author. His regard for him was increased apparently by the fact that the son had a very good appreciation of the value of money, a quality which the father did not possess in the slightest degree.

A writer of recollections relates that he once visited Dumas at St. Germain. He had just been bitten in the hand by his dog and was unable to write, but was dictating a novel.

His son went out as the visitor came in.

"Alexander has just left me," said the father. "What a good fellow that boy is! Just fancy, this morning I received 650 francs. He said to me, 'I'll take 50 francs of it.' I didn't quite understand thought he was going to leave me only 50. So I called out: 'Hold on! Let me have 100 of it at least!' 'But I tell you I'm only going to take 50!' he called out. 'Oh, oh,' said I, 'I thought you were going to take the 100. Well, take as much as you want!'"

And Dumas added proudly, "What a golden-hearted fellow Alexandre is, to—sure!"
