TROLLEY CARS IN SMASHUP

ONE LIFE LOST AND FIFTY PLEAS URE SEEKERS ARE SERIOUS. LY INJURED.

Shrieks of Mangled Passengers Heard for Great Distance and Many Hasten to Render Assistance.

Baltimore, May 27 .- William Stem a hundred men and women were in jured, several of them seriously, in a collision between two trolley cars returning to the city from Westport, a suburb of this city.

In the neighborhood of the terminus of the Westport car line are several summer residences, and the cars, which were the last to come to the city, were filled with belated pleasure The last car but one had reached a point where the tracks cross those of the Western Maryland railroad's new tide water extension. The conductor had gone ahead, as is customary, to make sure that no railroad train was approaching.

Before he could signal the motor man that the crossing was clear the last car appeared at the top of a steep grade at the bottom of which the West ern Maryland tracks cross the railroad The rear car was running at full speed. The motorman, Sebastian Helldorfer, attempted to stop it, but the brakes failed to hold and the car rushed down the incline with constantly increasing speed. There was a crash that aroused the neighborhood then shricks that were heard in the city, which is separated from the scene of the accident by a wide arm of the Patapsco river, known as Spring Gar-

The forward car was hurled clea across the railroad tracks and both it and the one that followed was badly wrecked.

The lights were extinguished and those that remained in the cars fought each other in their efforts to escape, and in doing so trampled those who had been thrown to the ground by the collision. The firebells of Westport summoned the citizens of the town and they set to work to aid the injured and telephoned to this city for ambulances and further aid, which was promptly

When light was obtained Stemler was found, horribly mangled, on the rear platform of the forward car, upon which he was riding. His arm had been torn from his body. He was still alive, but died a few minutes after being taken from the wreck. The motor man was found in an unconscious condition on the front platform of the car. His escape from instant death little short of miraculous. He was taken to a hospital and is not expected to live. Private carriages belonging to residents of the neighborhood were used to bring the injured to the city, and as soon as possible after the accident the railway company sent special cars to assist in this work.

OBJECT TO FIXED RITUAL

Presbyterians Wrestle With Problem Brought up by Dr. VanDyke.

Winona Lake, Ind., May 27,-Whethor the Presbyterian general assembly should depart from the laws and tra-ditions of the church in America and adopt a form of worship, even to the extent of saying the churches might use this form or not, as they liked, was the principal question which came before the general assembly yesterday.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, chairman of the committee, came Wednesday to do some active campaigning in favor of it on the floor.

The form of worship which the ommittee offered was regarded as Ter was almost instanty killed and half a hundred men and women were in its objection on the ground that the Presbyterian church was not a denomination for rituals, printed prayers and fixed forms

> Dr. Van Dyke said he would not consent for the assembly to adopt this form of the service which the committee offered, but he wanted the assembly to give its approval. He said someone had called these prepared prayers "canned prayers," but for two years he had been toiling on these prayers. Tears came into his eyes when he said he had in these two years gone to the mercy seat of

Led All the Guests. In the days of King George III, of England the Persian ambassador to his court demanded, but was denied, prece dence over all other foreign repres tives. He refused to go to court, caus-ing it to be reported abroad that he was ill. He met the prince regent at the house of the Lady Sallsbury of the time. "I am very sorry to offend your royal highness by not going to court," he said. "Now, sir, my sovereign, he tell me I go first; your people say I must go last. Now, this very had for me when I go back to Persia." So saying, he made a significant pass toward his head, expressing decapitation. The prince tried to appease him. "But, sir, you still angry with me. You have not invited me to your party tomorrow night." The prince explained that it was only a children's party, but the ambassador might come if he chose. He did choose, for he went and, being the only ambassador there, led all the guests, thus scoring heavily for Persia. neck again.
