Yours For Business

CRYSTAL & MOREY

A LITTLE OF EVERTHING

It costs $1.50 to get a sack of onions at retail in Portland.

Eggs have been selling at 55 cents per dozen at wholesale at San Francisco of late.

The Packer announces that the first new potatoes of the season have arrived at Kansas City from Texas. Isn't this rather crowding matters?

It is the same old story at Boston, New York and Philadelphia. There is an oversupply of common apples, but fancy apples are scarce and in demand at good prices.

Western box apples are reported to be selling in New York at $2.50 and $3 for Yellow Newtowns, $2.25 to $2.50 for Spitzenbergs, $1.50 to $12.75 for Jonathans.

A buyer of mules in Grant county is reported by the Eagle to be paying $40 for colts and $65 for yearlings. There will probably be a boom in the mule-raising business there.

Klamath County News.

From the Republican:

The contract for the first one hundred miles of road between Klamath Falls and Natron has been let to Mason, Davis & Co. This firm is now engaged in completing its contract for the construction of the first division of the government canal, a work that will be finished before spring. How soon work is to commence is problematical. If this section is favored with an open winter, ground will be broken just as soon as the last section of the canal is completed. If on the contrary the weather is too severe to admit of immediate operations, the stock and equipment will be housed and work commenced next spring. Comparatively little of the canal remains to be finished, outside of the tunnel, and only climatic conditions will prevent railroad construction beginning at once. The awarding of this contract is indicative of the intention of the Harriman system to rush construction work on the Natron branch, and if possible bring about its completion by the end of 1907. Every effort is being put forth to facilitate the rapid construction of the California Northeastern, and it is now generally admitted that this part of the line between Weed and Natron will reach this city by next summer. The question of procuring laborers has been carefully looked into and plans have been made to furnish not only Mason, Davis & Co. with plenty of men, but also the contractors on the California Northeastern. The labor problem has grown to be such a serious one that a thorough reorganization of the employment bureau of the entire Harriman system has been effected and the result of this change will soon manifest itself by a large influx of laborers. Mason, Davis & Co. have for the past several weeks been accumulating immense stores of forage and other supplies in anticipation of this contract. At first it was supposed to be the intention of the firm to make an offer on the second division of the canal, but the real purpose of their heavy purchases is now apparent. The letting of this contract assures the completion of this road and settles the question of Klamath Falls being on the through line between Portland and San Francisco.

From the Express:

The steamer Klamath has been forced to give up its run to Laird's on account of ice. The steamer has the past week been making trips to Keno and other lake points bringing in larger cargoes of wood and freight. As soon as the weather moderates the boat will again resume her regular run to Lairds.

A crowd of skaters were treated to a free bath this morning. They were skating on the channel dredged out by the railroad dredge when the ice gave way and down went six of the crowd. Fortunately the water was only a few feet deep, but as most of the crowd was sitting down at the time the bunch looked like a crowd of drowned rats. The ice on the lake is quite solid and large crowds have been enjoying the splendid skating the past few days.

Rev. Jesse Kirk, the noted Klamath Indian, died Thursday evening at his home at old Fort Klamath, of typhoid fever, aged about forty-eight years. He was a son of Kellogue, one of the chiefs who signed the treaty of 1864, and has ever been prominent in the councils of his people.

Miss May Bigham has closed a successful three months term in the Antelope district.

Miss Lucy Kent, Griffin creek, 's excellent primary teacher, spent Thanksgiving day with home folks at Wellen.

Most of our young people attended the ball at Eagle Point November 29th and report an unusually large crowd and a very enjoyable time.

James Stevens, who has charge of the culinary department at the ditch ranch, spent Sunday with his family in Medford.

Misses Lottie and Mabel Webb of Medford visited our school on the last day, November 28th, as did also Mr. and Mrs. Jay. Owens and Mr. Bigham.

Miss Gay Webb has returned to her home near Medford, after completing a three months' term in the Roosevelt district.

John Bigham, accompanied by his daughters, Misses May and Lelia, and son, Earl, were trading with Medford merchants last Saturday.

Mrs. V. T. McCray and daughter, Miss Inez, returned to Medford Saturday, after a few days' pleasant visit with Supt. McCray at the ditch ranch. Miss Inez is attending the public school in the hub city

Miss Cora Gregory is spending the winter in Central Point, the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Gregory, and attending that city's excellent public school.

Mrs. H. C. Turpin entertained a number of her children and grandchildren on Thanksgiving day and all had a jolly time.

Our farmers' wives furnished a goodly supply of fat turkeys for the Thanksgiving trade. Most of them went to supply the Medford market, but a few were dressed and shipped to Portland.

Thomas Turpin, wife and little son are here on an extended visit with relatives and friends in Rogue River Valley. They own a fine farm near Mabdon, Wash., but as farming is all done in the fall in that section they can enjoy a winter's rest and recreation, knowing that their crops are growing. They are stopping at present with Tom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Turpin.

WHY CYPRESS WOOD SINKS.

Washington Scientists Made a Most Singular Discovery.

Southern lumbermen take great delight in a story of certain scientific gentlemen who were sent by the government at Washington to study the growth and uses of the bald cypress at a time when cypress lumber was comparatively new to the market. They went direct to a large camp, presented credentials to the superintendent and watched with minute care the process of cutting the timber and floating it down stream.

Cypress is a light, spongy wood that grows in swamps and absorbs water readily. The scientific gentlemen requested the superintendent to throw some logs into the river separate from the main rafts and followed their progress down stream in a boat. After floating south for some distance the logs with one accord sank. Much surprised, the scientific gentlemen retraced and followed another consignment. The phenomenon was repeated; at a certain distance from the camp all the logs sank.

The gentlemen from Washington, being very unscientific, did not think to question the unlettered superintendent about the power of cypress to become waterlogged, but after numerous observations and much comparing of notes reported to their department the startling discovery that cypress floated north of a certain parallel of latitude and south of it invariably sank. Of the cause they were not yet certain, but hazarded the suggestion that it might lie in the rotary motion of the earth, increasing in speed as the logs approached the equator until it was powerful enough to draw them under.—Philadelphia North American.

Cured Paralysis.

W. F. Bailey, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frostbites and skin eruptions. It does the work." Sold by Chas. Strang, Medford; Central Point Pharmacy.

If it's a Deere it's Right

Because its made right, by a force of skilled plow experts whose equal cannot be found in any other plow factory in the world. There are many different makes of plows, each claiming to be the best, yet the fact remains that three John Deere plows are in use to one of any other kind. The John Deere Factory, the largest in the world, turns out every year more plows than any five other factories combined.

Standard of the World For Over 60 Years

The Pioneer Plow Maker, John Deere, made his first steel plow by hand from the blade of a saw in 1837. The first slab of steel rolled in the United States was rolled for the John Deere plows by William Woods, of Pittsburg, in 1846. And ever since those early days Deere Plows have shown the way and maintained the lead in this great national industry. Is it any wonder that the farmers of the world express their verdict in the familiar phrase,—"If it's a Deere—it's Right."

We make over 1000 styles of plows, each as good as it can be made,—the best that brains and perfect equipment can produce. No matter what your needs may be, we can supply them from our line.
