Klamath County News.

Klamath Falls Express.

The Miner tract of timberland surrounding Pokegama was sold to a Wisconsin syndicate last week. This tract of land comprises over 2,000 acres of splendid pine timber and the consideration was $15.000, or about $22 an acre.

The Government started about 50 horses for Umatilla the first the week. These horses had been used by the reclamation service in the construction of laterals and the second unit of the canal. The stormy weather has put a stop to all lateral work, and if it continues work on the main canal will also be suspended for the Winter.

The Umatilla project is so far advanced that the horses can be used on the project during the Winter month and hence the transfer.

Shippington, the town on the Upper lake is the latest promotion. The articles of incorporation are already prepared. The capital stock of the corporation is $12,000 and the stock will be fully paid at the first annual meeting of the stockholders, which will be held January 7th. Two thousand dollars of the original $12,000 subscribed will be reserved for developing the property. The new embraces 1,600 feet of high ground water front, which will be divided into twenty-foot lots for small boat landings. Also a large wharf will be built near the old Hanks landing for large boats. The corporation is planning extensive improvements for the new town. A canal, sufficiently deep for small crafts, will be taken from the upper lake. This canal will encircle the new city and a beautiful driveway will be constructed along the canal. Plans for a park are now receiving attention and the means of beautification are being considered.

Klamath Republican.

The derailing a freight car on the Klamath Lake railroad, near the steel bridge, Sunday nearly caused a serious accident. The car loaded with cement and in leaving the tract nearly precipitated the passenger coach down a 30-foot embankment. The passengers were transferred to the engine and reached Pokegama only 20 minutes late.

The warm wave that hit this region last Thursday and Friday cleared the lower lake of the ice that has been obstructing the channel and preventing the Steamer Klamath from transporting freight and passengers from Laird's landing. The steamer left Friday afternoon for the terminus on lower lake and since then has been busy night and day bringing up the freight that has accumulated at that point.

Remarkable Curer.

"I was much afflicted with sciatica," writes Ed. C. Nud, Iowaville, Sedgwick, Co., Kan., going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me.

I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment ever used; have recomended it to a number of persons; all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm."

25c, 50c and $1. Sold by Chas. Strang, Medford; Central Point Pharmacy.

VACATES HIS PALACE

ARCHBISHOP VACATES HIS PALACE TO ACCEPT HOSPITALITY OF CONSERVATIVE LEADER.

Paris, Dec. 18.—Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, today voluntarily vacated the episcopal palace and temporarily accepted the hospitality of Denys Cachin, the Conservative Deputy, at the latter's residence in the Rue de Babylone. The departure of the primate was the occasion for an imposing manifestation on the part of the majority of the bishops and priests of Paris, many members of the nobility and about 4,000 men, women and children.

The gathering completely blocked the street in front of the Episcopal Palace, and those present sang the credo and other canticles as the cardinal was assisted into his carriage by the coadjutor archbishop, Mgr. Amiette and his two vicars general. The crowd knelt and chanted as the cardinal seated himself in the vehicle. The venerable prelate, who was much affected, then arose and blessed the multitude.

A number of young Catholics thereupon approached the carriage, detached the horses and with difficulty dragged it through the dense masses of people lining the streets. On all sides were heard cries of "Long live Piux X," and "Long live the cardinal."

About three-quarters of an hour were consumed in pulling the carriage from the palace to the residence of M. Cochin, a distance of about one mile. Detchments of mounted Republican Guards preceded and followed the procession in order to prevent any possible disorder, but there was not the slightest attempt on the part of the crowds to make any counter manifestation.

The clerical crowd subsequently followed Mgr. Amiotte to the Church of St. Francis Xavier, where the coadjutor celeorated a benediction service at the end of which he thanked those present for the sentiments they had manifested and exhorted them to presevere in their attitude in defense for the rights of the Church.

Coughing Shell Caused Death

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe Democrat, Dec. 1st, 1901."

Ballard's Horeh und Syrup would have saved him. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Chas. Strang, Medford; Central Point Pharmacy.

WOMAN BURNED IN A BARREL.

Dark Crime Unearthed by Grewsome Find on Desolate Mountain.

Hazelton, Pa., Dec. 18.—The charred remains of a young woman were found yesterday on the mountain between here and Eberville. A slipper, combs and the frame of a woman's hat were picked up near by. Under the body were three wire hoops such as are used on barrels. It is the belief of the police that the woman was murdered and then placed in the barrel and burned. This theory is strengthened by the odor of kerosene near the place. The identity of the woman has not been established.

If it's a Deere it's Right

Because its made right, by a force of skilled plow experts whose equal cannot be found in any other plow factory in the world. There are many different makes of plows, each claiming to be the best, yet the fact remains that three John Deere plows are in use to one of any other kind. The John Deere Factory, the largest in the world, turns out every year more plows than any five other factories combined.

Standard of the World For Over 60 Years

The Pioneer Plow Maker, John Deere, made his first steel plow by hand from the blade of a saw in 1837. The first slab of steel rolled in the United States was rolled for the John Deere plows by William Woods, of Pittsburg, in 1846. And ever since those early days Deere Plows have shown the way and maintained the lead in this great national industry. Is it any wonder that the farmers of the world express their verdict in the familiar phrase,—"If it's a Deere—it's Right."

We make over 1000 styles of plows, each as good as it can be made,—the best that brains and perfect equipment can produce. No matter what your needs may be, we can supply them from our line.

OLD ABE PETERS

BY JOE CONE

COPYRIGHTED 1906 BY JOE CONE

ABE PETERS was a Yankee man an' sharper than a pin,
He lived way out in Lonesome Lane, all by himself, an' he Would never visit other folks or ask his neighbors in
An' never had Thanksgivin' or a Christmas jubilee.
He was the sharpest feller in a trade you ever knew,
He was the closest buyer ever seen around the town,
An' if he lent a dollar he was sure to get back two
An' always took advantage of the feller who was down.
The old folks used to talk of him beside the fire at night
An' dwell upon his dealin's in a most peculiar way;
The children used to mock him when he chanced to come in sight
An' this is but a sample of the things they used to say:

"Old Abe Peters of Lonesome Lane,
Old Abe Peters in town again,
Poor as a buzzard an' mean as a crow,
With lots of money, but none to show—
Old—Abe—Peters!"

There come a mighty blizzard, an' it buried Lonesome Lane.
Abe Peters he was covered under seven foot of snow;
He tried to leave his shanty, but he found it all in vain;
Each day he grew more frightened, with his fodder runnin' low
Some said, "Let's dig out Peters," an' some said, "No; let him go."
They argued o'er the matter till
the week was on the wane,
Till finally they ventured, half a score of souls or so,
An' this is what they shouted as they dug out Lonesome Lane:

"Old Abe Peters, unbuckle your gold;
Old Abe Peters, we're dry an' cold;
Cider or coffee or crackers an' beer
Or money to buy us some Christmas cheer—
Old—Abe—Peters!"

Abe Peters saw 'em comin' from his garret window pane;
He saw 'em diggin' fiercely through the mighty drifts of snow.
His heart warmed for a moment; then it turned to ice again.
He scowled with selfish malice on the workers down below.
And did he pass 'em coffee? Did he offer Christmas cheer
An' thank 'em for their labor, which, alas, was all in vain?
He warned 'em from his dooryard in a manner most severe
An' sued 'em all for trespass when he got around again.

"Abe Peters has vanished from Lonesome Lane;
Abe Peters will never come back again.
Just where he is quartered we do not know.
But it's safe to reckon he's found no snow—
Old—Abe—Peters!"

Abe Peters saw 'em comin'.

The Doll Hospital

By J. A. EDGERTON

[Copyright, 1906, by J. A. Edgerton.]

THE world is full of hospitals, not only for disease racked and wrecked human beings, but for dogs, horses, birds and—dolls. And why not? Dolls have ailments as well as other folks—in fact, rather more so. They lose their hair, their eyes, their teeth, their hands, their legs, their sawdust and even their complexions and heads. Small boys delight in crippling and maiming them, rockers smash them, big folks step on them. This is a hard world for dolls.

So the doll hospitals flourish. Most large cities support one. Doll surgery has become a science. The poor things do not have to take medicine, fortunately, except paint applied externally and sawdust internally, so that a pharmacopoeia is not required in doll doctoring. The operations are all surgical. But for all that the doll doctors are entitled to place M. D. after their names, M. D. standing for mender of dolls.

It is quite a grewsome sight in the wards and operating room of the hospital itself. There heads, arms, legs, eyes and trunks lie about in startling array. Most of the heads are minus hair and have great holes in the tops of them. Arms or legs are hanging literally by a thread. Noses are broken, heads are minus, feet have been amputated, faces are mashed in, while the internal machinery that makes the doll cry, say "mamma" and open and shut its eyes is out of whack as badly as some people's livers. The wax, china and papier mache babies have never developed appendicitis as yet, or stomach ache, but they are subject to almost every other ill.

The doll hospital is a great boon to the little mothers. They come at all hours of the day, bringing their ailing darlings, or, if they live too far away, they send dolly by express or messenger, with cramped and pathetic notes. One little girl had let her precious fall downstairs and break its leg, another had been listening to a hand organ on the street, and her brother, who was playing that he was a Chinese emperor and was executing some of his subjects, just to keep in practice, had cut dolly's head off with a fire-shovel. Still another small miss of seven had kissed the nose off Mehitable Jane—dolls usually have long noses, you know—and would the doctors please fix it? They would.

On the work table at the hospital are not only arms and legs galore, but all kinds of wigs, paints, threads and cords, miniature teeth, tiny curling irons, pastes and glues, hooks and scissors of many shapes and sizes and even an appalling assortment of glass eyes of various colors and sizes. The eyes, which open and shut with a weight, are placed in position through the opening in the head. A few stitches serve to mend loose arm or leg, while hooks and cords are usually required to fix a fractured joint. The paint brush touches up a faded complexion, as is the case even with flesh and blood grown folks.

There are almond eyed Chinese dolls with faded yellow complexions and long cues, Indians with feathers missing from their war bonnets, pickaninny dolls with moth eaten wool and angel faced cherubs with a battered appearance that makes them look as if they had been in a Bowery scrimmage.

But surgery does miracles, and this particular branch of it performs even greater wonders than that in the sure enough hospitals. It makes bodily members grow on where none had been before, and before its marvelous powers even decapitation is not fatal.

MUST GIVE ALL THE SAME RATE

RAILROAD CO. GRANTING LOW TARIFF TO ONE MUST SERVE OTHERS LIKEWISE.

Reduction Cannot Be Compensated, But If Made, All Must Be Treated in Like Manner.

Washington, Dec. 18.—In the case of the Alabama and Mississippi Railroad Company vs. the Mississippi Railroad Commission, the United States Supreme Court rendered a decision yesterday in support of the contentions of the State. The case involved the right of the commission to fix a flat rate of 3½ cents per mile per hundred pounds on carload lots of grain from Vicksburg to Meridian, both in Mississippi. The action of the commission in making the rate was based upon the allegation that the Vicksburg road was in the habit of giving that figure to patrons who also gave their business to the Shreveport and Pacific road, an allied concern, while the rate to the other patrons was 10 cents per 100. The Mississippi Supreme Court sustained the action of the Commissioners, and that finding is upheld by the Federal Supreme Court. The opinion was written by Justice Brewer, who said:

"We are not construing an act of the State of Mississippi, or passing upon the powers which by it are given to the State Railroad Commission. The question we have to consider is the power of the State to enforce an equality of local rates between all parties shipping the same distance over the same road. That a State has such power cannot be doubted, and it cannot be thwarted by any action of a railroad company which does not involve an actual interstate shipment, although done with a view of promoting the business interests of the company. While a State may not compel a railroad company to do business at a loss and while a railroad company may insist as against the power of the State upon the right to establish such rates as will afford reasonable compensation for the service rendered, yet when it voluntarily establishes local rates for some shippers it cannot resist the power of the State to enforce the same rates for all. The State may insist upon equality between all its citizens, and that equality cannot be defeated in respect to any local shipments by arrangements made with or to favor outside companies."

DAKOTA TOWNS WITHOUT COAL.

Many Schools and Manufacturing Plants Are Forced to Close.

Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 18.—The fuel situation today presents the most critical condition that has existed in the history of the State. Careful inquiry in every portion of the northern half of the State shows that there is not a town in which coal can be had except in small quantities, and to supply immediate needs, and in dozens of places there is not a pound to be bought, the dealers having been out of fuel for days, and in some instances for a week or more. Some town schools and ligating and manufacturing plants have been closed, and individuals are sharing their small fuel supplies with neighbors.

Mexico to Aid in Salton Sea Plans.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Mexican Government has assented to the proposition of the State Department that United States engineer officers shall enter Mexico for the purpose of closing the breach in the walls of the Imperial canal, which is causing the formation of the Salton Sea. Senator Flint of California will introduce a bill in Congress after the holiday recess, making an appropriation to defray the cost of the work.

Hearst Deeds Fort Ross to State.

Sacramento, Dec. 18.—Governor Pardee has received from W. R. Hearst the deeds for the transference of Fort Ross and the Sonoma mission, two historic landmarks deeded to the State by Hearst.

Flames Threaten Marysville.

Sacramento, Dec. 18.—A telephone message from Marysville says fire broke out there last night in the store of White, Cooley & Cutts. A dynamite explosion occurred and several people were injured.

Revolutionists Captured With Bombs.

Moscow, Dec. 18—Thirty members of the revolutionary fighting organization were arrested yesterday in the Basmanoff quarter of this city. Large stocks of arms, ammunition, dynamite and bombs were seized.

Outwits the Surgeon.

A complication of female troubles, with catarrh of the stomach and bowels, had reduced Mrs. Thos. Austin of Leavenworth, Ind., to such a deplorable condition that her doctor advised an operation; but her husband fearing fatal results, proposed this to try Electric Bitters and to the amazement of all knew her this medicine completely cured her. Guaranteed for sick headache, liver, kidney disease, biliousness, jaundice, chills and fever, and blood and nerve debility. Surgery made needless. Prices reasonable. Sold by all druggists. Ten days before the last day of each quarter Postmasters are required to place a bill bearing the date of the last day of the quarter in each rented box.
