OUR COUNTY Correspondents

Eagle Point Eagles.
By A. C. HOWLETT.
Rev. M. C. Davis the Sunday school man will preach here on the eve of the fourth Sunday, Dec. 23.
J. W. Grover and Al Mayfield have returned to California to look after their mining interests.
Mrs. J. B. Jackson's sister Mrs. Dollie Greenwall, has come down from Washington on a visit.
Ed Higenbotham and his charming wife were pleasant callers one night last week.
Your Eagle Point correspondent is still making improvements at the Sunny Side, this time putting up a large shed for horses so as to accommodate the crowds that come occasionally.
The committee have decided to have the Christmas tree entertainment Dec. 24 in the church instead of Heckathorn's hall, as was announced. The soliciting committee have succeeded so well that we expect to have a rousing good time.
B. F. Harris and family passed through here on their way to Butte Falls last week, returning on Friday. He is still hopeful of the outcome of our M. & C. L. R. E., and from present appearances work will commence in the near future.
John McKee of Kerby, living on the headwaters of Clarks creek, called twice last week, once on his way to Ashland to see his sister, Mrs. Thos. Fredenburg, who has been quite sick for several months, and on his return. He reports her condition improved and has hopes of her early recovery.

There is a great deal of interest manifested here just now in the subject of real estate. There has some land been sold and parties have been here taking options on land and getting a list of lands that can be bought. Land has been listed from $8 to $200 per acre. Of course those who have set the price on land at $200 per acre don't want or expect to sell, but our land will sell and in a few years the Butte creek country will be one of the leading fruit producing sections in the state. There are strangers coming almost every day enquiring about our possibilities in the line of fruits of all kinds.
Our mail contractor, James Binger, reports that last Saturday the water in McNeal creek was so high that it was almost past fording. There should be a bridge put across that stream so that the mail carrier would not have to take the chance of being washed away and have the people who get their mail along that route take the chance of losing their mail. As it is, if he could not cross that stream on his return trip the law compels him to return to the nearest postoffice with the mail sack--to Payton--a distance of about ten miles. Let us have some of the money that is expended where it is of no benefit and put in a bridge across that dangerous mountain stream.
There has been considerable talk among the would-be wise ones in our midst with regard to the mode of egress from Daley's hall in case of a fire, and I am glad to be able to state that Mr. D. has sent and had a door made three feet wide to put in the rear end of the hall, thus giving two openings, one in each end of the house, one a large double door in front and the other in the rear end, both opening outward, and as his hall is on the lower floor access to the street can be had without any special risk. He is expecting as large a crowd this time as was ever in attendance at any ball in this town. There are already about half as many tickets sold for the masquerade ball Jan. 1st as there were for the last dance.

BOOTH TO TAKE FATHER'S HAND
Salvationists to Be Reconciled After Long Estrangement.
New York, Dec. 18.--Word is expected here within the next few days of a reconciliation, after long estrangement, between Commander Ballington Booth of the Volunteers of America and his father General William Booth, head of the Salvation Army.
Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth are now on their way to England, and it was said that correspondence before they left made it practically certain that General Booth and his son would be reconciled.
General Booth is in feeble health, and it is understood he has expressed a wish to see his son before he dies.
The meeting will not mean any change in the attitude of the Volunteers toward the Army in this country. The two leaders will meet as father and son, and not as the heads of the two great rival organizations.
To those friends with whom he talked before he sailed Commander Booth is said to have made it clear that nothing could cause him to abandon the Volunteer movement here or make it in any way an adjunct of the Salvation Army.

NOBEL PEACE PRIZE AWARDED.
Plenty of Opposition to President Roosevelt.
New York, Dec. 18.--As Norwegian storking did not bestow the Nobel peace prize on President Roosevelt without opposition. For some months before the bestowal of the prize, it is stated, there had been considerable agitation in favor of awarding the prize to the so-called "Karlstad commission," the group of Swedish and Norwegian statesmen who arbitrated the difference between Sweden and Norway at the time of the breach and who negotiated a peaceful separation of the two countries.
The well known Norwegian author, Elizabeth Schoyen, led the fight on the Norwegian side. The keynote of her argument was that an ounce of prevention was better than a pound of cure, and she pointed out that the joint commission had halted on the brink of a dangerous crisis, a situation which would have led to a war that would have been disastrous in its consequences to both of the Scandinavian countries, while President Roosevelt merely was the means of ending a war after all the damage had been done.

CONTEST NOTICE.
Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Roseburg, Ore., Sept. 27, 1906.
A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Oscar Tibbets, contestant, against homestead entry No. 1184, made August 14, 1902, for SW 1/4, SW 1/4, Section 30, Township 35 South, Range 2 West, by Percy G. Payne, Contestee, in which it is alleged that said Percy G. Payne has abandoned said land for a period of one year last past; that the improvements which were placed upon the land by the said homesteader have been sold by him and by other parties have been removed from the said homestead; said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation, at 10 o'clock a. m. on February 13, 1907, before A. S. Hilton, U. S. Commissioner, at his office in Medford, Oregon; and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on February 27, 1907, before the Register and Receiver, at the United States Land Office in Roseburg, Oregon.
The said contest having, in a proper affidavit filed Sept. 27, 1906, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.
BENJAMIN L. EDDY, Register.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it--Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you--healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.
