

BAD TRINT

OUR COUNTY Correspondents

Eagle Point Ensign.
BY A. C. HOWLETT.

Rev. Davis went to Derby last Wednesday and to the surrounding region to organize Sunday schools.

Section Boss Anderson has rented the Paschey home and expects his family to arrive by the time this is in type.

Dr. Holt is building a barn on a lot he purchased from J. H. Carlton and getting the material all out of an old residence.

The P. & E. railroad has erected a small house for a store room to answer until they can get the lumber out to build a depot.

Mrs. Sarah Guerin, of Portland, has been here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Edmondson, Jr., came to the Sunny Side last week with a sick child and Dr. Holt was called. At this writing the child is thought to be some better.

The Sunny Side stage that starts from the Sunny Side Hotel every morning at 8:15 a. m. is almost always loaded and sometimes they are not able to take all the passengers.

Our town is getting to be one of the liveliest little towns in Southern Oregon and the present prospect is that we will have a big run all fall. The Sunny Side Hotel has already had to erect two large tents for lodging rooms and need still more.

Rev. A. J. Folsom, of Portland, Missionary of Congregational church and Rev. M. C. Davis and Edward Green will commence a series of meetings in Eagle Point next Monday, July 2, 1907. Rev. Folsom is said to be an energetic and live preacher and it will pay to go out and hear him.

The small mill that was erected at Battle Falls has been moved to the Caster place about twelve miles from here, and will be used to cut ties for the P. & E. railroad, and as soon as that is completed and teams can be secured work on the railroad will be pushed right along until it reaches the big timber.

John D. Holst and wife had a little celebration of their own on the Fourth of July, '07, when there came into the family a twelve pound daughter. To say that they had a joyful time does not overstate the facts in the case, for John thought it as one of the happiest Fourth he ever spent.

While at Round Top 1 had the pleasure of meeting Vern Baldwin, son of Monroe Baldwin, who started back to Redwood Falls, Minnesota, a short time ago, with an invalid son, who died on the way. Mr. Baldwin has so fallen in love with this country that he has decided to remain here and has taken up a timber claim near Grand Cove, this country.

John Kirkpatrick, who has been making his home with us for several months, started for Fort Klamath Tuesday morning with his son, Jeff, and Mr. Booth, who came in last week. They went to Medford and procured their loads returning to Eagle Point Monday. They report that the hay business in the Fort Klamath country will not be as extensive this summer as usual, that the stockmen out there are pasturing their lands more than usual and intend to turn off the cattle this fall as a large percent of them are steers and will be made into beef.

Mrs. O. Gilbert and her friend Mrs. E. Woolsoncroft, of Ashland, came out last Sunday on the P. & E. train and spent the day visiting old time friends in Eagle Point, among whom were Mrs. Geo. Brown and her family of daughters. They took dinner at the Sunny Side and then out for a drive and to see the town and surrounding country. They seemed to greatly enjoy the ride and the fine scenery, they drove by some of the famous onion and strawberry patches, and took in the most of the town.

On Tuesday of last week I took a trip to the Round Top mill after a load of lumber, an upon arriving there found that they had broke a cogwheel and that Mr. Stepp, one of the proprietors of the mill, had gone to Medford to get another one made at the Medford Iron Works. While there I learned that they had about three hundred thousand feet of lumber on hand and were sending it out as fast or faster than they could make it. They had just received an order for 20,000 feet of lumber for the Battle Falls building and another large order for the depot building at Eagle Point, besides smaller orders were constantly coming in. From what I can learn all the mills in that section of the country are kept busy all the time. The road to the Round Top mill is in the best condition I ever saw it in and with very little work it can be made to run faster than anyone to haul over.

BATTLE FALLS ITEMS.

J. Hookstorn, who has been sick, is improving.

On all sides the sound of hammer and saw is heard.

Rev. J. Merley left for Medford this week to be gone for a few days.

All our hotels and private boarding houses are liberally patronized.

The telephone line to be built will be a very great convenience to all of us.

Attorney Panta is kept busy attending to the legal matters hereabouts.

Every day visitors from the valley pass through our town for a season of camping.

D. G. Karnes and family are still with us and Mr. Karnes has purchased an additional number of lots and will build houses upon them.

The Mail is always a welcome visitor and eagerly expected and as we now have a daily mail as also daily stage we expect to be in closer touch with the outside world.

James Stewart and family have been here and Mr. Stewart expects to erect a fine business store, unless he succeeds in purchasing the stock of one of our merchants.

McMahon Bros., of Medford, intend making their new hotel a very desirable summer and winter hotel and to have the tables well supplied with all kinds of vegetables and fruits.

A general spirit of progressiveness and improvement are in evidence, streets are being cleaned, trash burned and a more slightly view given to our town and this is done by the free contributions of the citizens.

Will Chambers has sold out to Mr. Jester and gone to anchoring. Mr. Jester intends greatly improving his purchase by making several dwellings out of the property, as the demand is constant for homes.

Many new buildings are in course of erection, but the scarcity of lumber upon the ground is a great drawback to immediate improvement. It is hoped the new mill, some of the machinery of which is upon the ground, will overcome this difficulty.

George Estes, accompanied by his daughter and Mr. Donnell, of P. & E. railroad were here last week looking over the ground and visiting the tall timber and went away highly pleased and confident of the success of their enterprise. They were entertained by Mrs. Frank Netherland while here and take this opportunity of extending their thanks.

Best Medicine in the World for Colic and Diarrhoea.

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. C. L. Carter of Skirum, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." For sale by Chas. Strang.

Mr. and Mrs. Felton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred, Mrs. Blue and son Vernon, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Pignall, Mr. and Mrs. Liljeham and Miss Grace Houck each spent a portion of the past week at Ashland.

A. J. Olsen this week returned from the Meadows, and reports the finding of a 14-foot vein of coal on his property and the one adjacent. To all appearances there are about 700 acres of land in that vicinity underlain with the best of coal.

It is with regret we report the death of Dan Richards, one of our best known pioneer residents, which occurred Thursday, July 11th, at his home in Gold Hill. He had been a resident of this section for twenty-five years and was 62 years of age at the time of his death. The remains were shipped to Brownsville, Oregon, for interment.

BEAGLE ITEMS.

Glass Bros., the popular threshing machine men are heading and threshing on their home place in the vicinity of Antioch.

Monroe Gordon, Beagle's worthy postmaster, has built a pretty farm residence which greatly improves his place and surroundings, with the removal of the old land mark building of 50 years service.

A few of the farmers near Beagle that was in the path of the recent severe rain and hail storm lose a big percentage of their grain by the wind, its so flat and tangled. Headers are unable to gather it up and in order to save it they will buy hogs and pasture their fields.

Mrs. Morris Case, the successful progressive lady farmer of Antioch district, was again made the recipient of a happy surprise last Sunday on her 57 birthday by her many friends and neighbors, who gathered at her pretty home each one bringing their anniversary offering for the occasion and to show the respect and esteem they still held for her as a mother, grandmother and a true worth woman of their community. The dinner could not have been improved in quality or quantity and the festive hours were most happily and pleasantly spent socially by all and the happy 57th anniversary will be long and pleasantly cherished by the hostess.

The Eagle Refused to Soar.

The Yreka Journal tells how an eagle refused to do his part in the Fourth of July celebration at that place.

"The liberation of a large American eagle that had been in training for some time prior to the 4th of July, was to have been a prominent feature on that occasion, but the eagle fooled the crowd assembled. Lawyer Corburn made an interesting and patriotic speech in reference to the bird of freedom, admonishing his hearers to watch the noble bird soar aloft. Instead of doing so the eagle hopped down and ran back to his coop in Calkins' saloon." His long confinement rendered him incompetent to fly, even if so desiring."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

was a man who, against all odds, attained the highest honor a man could seek in the United States. Ballard's Horchard Syrup has attained place, never equaled by any other. It is a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Pulmonary diseases. Every mother should keep supplied with this wonder for such medicines. Chas. Strang, Medford; Central Point Pharmacy.

Age Love.

FROM COUNTY EXCHANGES

Central Point Herald:—Oldwell Bros. have moved their sheep to range on the Ashland forest reserve, where they will spend the summer. They report the feed good on the range.

Don Richards, who has been a resident of the Gold Hill section of Jackson county for about twenty five years, died last Thursday at that place. During his residence in the county he has been quite prominent in local Democratic politics and in business affairs and was highly respected. He was a native of South Carolina. The remains were taken to Brownsville, Oregon for interment.—Gold Hill News.

The other evening about eight o'clock, Tom Long, who herds sheep for the Barrons on the Hilt prairie range east of Ashland, and who unfortunately is a bachelor and has to do his own sewing, got busy with the implements required to sew on buttons, when by some accident he swallowed the old rusty needle that had long done him service. He experienced excruciating pains and the next day at 3 was brought to town to the Sanitarium. He could feel the needle, and with his assistance Dr. Sweeney located it. The ugly looking thing was cut out of the muscles of the abdomen wall, having worked almost through the bowel tissues. Mr. Long soon felt easier and started back the same evening to tend his sheep, a little sore but not seriously discommoded by his unpleasant experience.—Ashland Tidings.

Sunday afternoon the farmers of the Meadows district were visited with a hail storm that proved the most disastrous of any in years. A number of fine wheat fields were completely destroyed. Messrs. Glass & Sons, Dearmond, Case and Rogers were the heaviest losers. While the fields were totally spoiled for grain, yet the loss is not complete as they are now feeding hogs on the grain and in this manner will receive some compensation from the land. The storm seemed to follow the mountains around Gold Hill passing through the Meadows and coming between Woodville and Grants Pass.—Gold Hill News.

YOUR LIVER

is out of order. You go to bed in a bad humor and get up with a bad taste in your mouth. You want something to stimulate your liver. Just try Herbine, the liver regulator. A positive cure for Constipation, Dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. F.—Ft. Worth, Texas, writes:

"I have used Herbine in my family for years. Words can't express what I think about it. Everybody in my household are happy and well, and we owe it to Herbine. Chas. Strang, Medford; Central Point Pharmacy.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Remember that the money you squander won't work for you.

We are always too young to have known better if our mothers are the judges.

Men do a lot of things just as foolish as having their clothes button in the back.

Dreaming of what you would do if you had a large income is probably about the slowest way to get one.

The man who fails in his efforts to do something well is still more of a success than the one who never tries.

A mother worries if her daughters are not invited to parties and then sits up and worries because they are out late when they are invited.

Ever occur to you that you ought to dress up more and brush your clothes oftener? Most people as they become old neglect their personal appearance too much.—Athenian Glob.

Jury Friendships.

"The eleven men in the peculiar friendship are those with whom I served on a jury once," said a broker.

"There isn't any other human tie just like that existing among jurors in a criminal case. There we are, twelve men, all perfect strangers to each other, with different tastes, temperaments and habits, picked up and bound together for days in the most trying circumstances. The hardships, the trials of the situation, reveal us in a new light. Ill-hats unperceived traits crop out. We quarrel, we sympathize, we make up, in a manner that would surprise our closest friends. The responsibility that we share sets us apart from everybody else and establishes a bond of interest and sympathy that is pretty sure to last."—New York Sun.

A Plea for the Indolent.

Men who fill unbecomingly positions extracting severe mental toll are almost sure to be short lived. Persons whose callings subject them to a heavy nervous strain ought occasionally to spend a day or two in bed. Even an afternoon nap is a tonic and may do much to lessen the wear and tear of nervous, anxious days. One of the oldest statements of modern times, when once re-proached in early life for indolence, is: "I am a strong energy."—Wid. Men Matthews in Success Magazine.

The Angel Face.

"He said I had the face like one of Raphael's," said the blond, with ill concealed satisfaction.

"Oh, well, the faces of Raphael's angels were all painted, you know," replied the jealous little brunette.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A LOAN REPAYED.

The Fourth Earl Stanhope and the Gentlemanly Highwayman.

The fourth Earl Stanhope when on his way homeward late one dark night was held up by the most gentlemanly of highwaymen, who preferred his request for money or the nobleman's life in quite the nicest way. It happened that Lord Stanhope had not any money with him and was disinclined to yield the alternative.

"Your watch, then," suggested the gentleman at the opposite end of the pistol. That watch, the earl explained, was dear to him. He valued it at 100 guineas and would not surrender it.

"What I will do," he said, "is to bring and deposit in this tree the worth of the watch in money, and you can call and get it tomorrow night."

"Done, my lord," said the highwayman.

The law knew nothing about this arrangement, and the earl did as he promised. He placed the 100 guineas where the highwayman might at his leisure collect it. And there, so far as he knew, the matter ended.

Years afterward he attended a great banquet in the city and found himself pleasantly entertained by an extremely well known man whose signature was good for a sum in several figures. Next day came to Lord Stanhope a letter inclosing the sum of 100 guineas. Accompanying it was a note begging his acceptance of a loan granted some years previously to the man who now forwarded it.

That loan, said the letter, had enabled the lender to gain a new start in life, to make a fortune and to renew acquaintance at dinner on the previous night with his lordship. The city magnate and the highwayman of earlier days were one and the same.—London Standard.

Diamonds in His Shoes.

Diamond ornaments in shoes hark back to the days of the Revolutionary war and were worn by merchants of Boston in those days. Thomas Russell of Charlestown, who died in 1790, was one of the most active of business men of his day in Boston and the first to engage in the American trade with Russia after the Revolution. His dress was typical of his time and is thus described in an old print: "He usually wore a coat of some light colored cloth, small clothes, diamond buckles at the knees and in the shoes, silk stockings, powdered hair and a cocked hat and in cold weather a scarlet cloak."—Boston Herald.

She Was Mistaken.

"Permit me to ask you, madam," said the lawyer, who was a friend of the family, "your real reason for wanting a divorce from your husband?"

"To leave the man I thought I was marrying," explained the fair caller.

"My dear madam," rejoined the lawyer, "the application of that principle would break up every home in the country."—Chicago Tribune.

A Sly Thrust.

Miss Ann Took—Really, some of the young girls nowadays are positively awful. The idea of a girl being engaged to two young men at the same time! It's just shameful! Miss Cutting—Doubtless, you find it appalling, don't you?—Philadelphia Press.

His Fatal Mistake.

"Adam was his own boss, wasn't he?"

"Yes, and he hadn't gone to sleep at the wrong time he'd 'a' been so fit."—Atlanta Constitution.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Myton, 457 John St. Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by Chas. Strang.
