—For Sale—Several Cottawood trucks. Offerings of registered thoroughbreds. C. M. Swanson.
—The first few days of the week reminded one of the "good old summer time," but the nights are delightfully cool and pleasant.

—Wanted—Girl for general house work, small family. Wages excellent. Call at this office.
—The city was pretty well deserted Sunday, as many of our citizens took advantage of the beautiful weather and the good condition of the roads to drive to the river and spend the day there.

An old Pennsylvania Dutch Dunkard recommends "Hickory Bark Cough Remedy." Guaranteed to cure your cough, and guaranteed to be pure. Made from the bark of the shell bark or white hickory tree. For sale by Haskins and all dealers everywhere.

—J. M. Schmidt, who recently purchased the A. J. Stewart place, has been delayed several days on his journey here, by the serious illness of his daughter, who lives in Kansas. He expects to arrive here in a few days however.

—The pear harvest is earlier this year than usual. A number of growers are already picking their Bosc and Comice pears. J. W. Perkins shipped the first car of Bosc this week, and estimates that he has four cars of that variety.

—Blue prints of township maps showing all vacant land, fifty cents each. For reliable information concerning Government land write to Frank E. Alley, Abstractor, Roseburg, Oregon.

—The Rogue River Fruit Growers Union shipped a car of D'Anjou Tuesday. Owing to inadequate transportation facilities, causing the fruit to be too long upon the road, some of the pears shipped by the union arrived at its destination over ripe causing more or less shrinkage in value.

—Lost—On the Ashland-Klamath Falls road, between DeCarlow and Parker stations, large canvas grip. Return same to Mary Davidson at Klamath Falls or Medford and receive reward.

—Saturday morning L. E. Hoover hustled out for a few orders for the Woodburn nursery and did a pretty fair morning's work. Among the orders he took were 10,000 trees—6,000 apples and 4,000 pears from the Western Oregon Orchard Co.; 5,100 trees—1,000 apples, 2100 pears, and 3000 peaches—from George P. Mims, who recently purchased the McClelland place near Central Point, and 1,000 apples from Paul Lambert, of Ashland. That, Mr. Hoover thought, was a good start for a days work.

—Dr. Stephenson's office is fitted up with the latest electric lighted instruments the ophthalmoscope, ophthalmometer and retinoscope for the scientific examination of the eye, both internally and externally.

—J. W. Hicks, of Central Point, is the pioneer grower of Thompson's Seedless grapes in Jackson county, and this year he has a good crop of that variety of grape. The grape, as its name implies is without seeds, is white in color and has a very pleasant flavor. Mr. Hicks now has a four-year-old vineyard of these grapes, containing several acres, and he has little difficulty in disposing of his crop.

The old remedies are the best. Hickory Bark Cough Remedy has been in use for over one hundred years by the old Dutch Dunkards of Pennsylvania, and is still in use by all the old families of Western Pennsylvania. It is absolutely pure; made from the bark of the white or shell bark hickory tree. The bark is shipped from the east, and manufactured in Salem, Ore. For sale by Haskins Drug Store and all dealers.

—Monday was a day of excitement among the young folks of the city, as it was the opening of the school year. There was a great scurrying around for books, bookbags, school bags, lunch baskets, etc., and a general wonderment why the patient mother hadn't kept track of these things, among the other multitudinous duties which devolve upon her. It's the mother who must bear the brunt of all these things. The father goes to his work untrammelled, but the mother must submit to continual interruptions by small, but insistent applicants for her service. She must see that each "shining morning face" is spotless, that the books, the lunches, everything is provided, and at the home coming must be ready to sympathize with every grieved one and to rejoice with the joyful. Verily the mother's days in school time are full.

—Can you afford to trifle with so serious a matter as to neglect a bad cold or cough, when for a trifling amount you can secure a bottle of "Hickory Bark Cough Remedy," that is guaranteed to cure or money refunded. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Haskins Drug Store and dealers everywhere.

Other Points of View.

Mr. Bryan announces a speech-making tour of New York. Has he or the Empire State so changed that invasion of the "enemy's country" is advisable?

The Salem Statesman's head man gives this title to the story of a physician shooting a fleeing tramp: "Administers Severe Dose."

A tree afflicted with entyobothris femalis, has been discovered in Linn county. What next from that part of the Willamette valley.

It is not easy to see how Senator Fulton or District Attorney Bristol is to be blamed for abandonment of the prosecution of land frauds in Oregon, inasmuch as it has not been abandoned and is not to be abandoned.

Seven million tons of grapes will be the output of the central and northern parts of California with a value of a hundred million dollars, estimates the Sacramento Bee. Then there is the southern portion of the state whose vineyards will go about 350,000 tons worth $5,000,000.

Isaac Stephenson, the aged multimillionaire, who was elected after a sensational deadlock last spring as the successor of United States Senator John C. Spooner, is now expected to be a candidate to succeed himself for a full term of six years, though no authoritative announcement to this effect has yet been made.

Mr. Bryan probably knows what he is talking about when he calls Secretary Taft "the great postponer." William Jennings is some thing of a postponer himself—though some of his postponements—sitting in the presidential chair for instance, have been involuntary.

Professional reformers some times make very amusing breaks. Here is the Law Enforcement society of New York petitioning the police commissioner to order all saloons closed on Sunday "in view of the crime wave sweeping over the city." Just as though the police would not always enforce that and every other law because it and they are on the statute books, forsooth!

It remains to be seen how much regard will be paid to the ban placed by the Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee upon the practice of rice-throwing at weddings. We are wont to smile or sneer at the wedding customs of the Chinese and various other people, but our own wasteful and dangerous habit of rice-peeing accompanied by the silly use of the old shoe surely makes us appear anything but sensible and dignified in the eyes of those whom we are wont to ridicule.

It is more than a year since the last land fraud trial in Oregon. It is asserted that Secretary of the Interior Garfield "earnestly desires that the trials be pushed." If that be the case, why has he allowed so much time to elapse without giving Mr. Bristol the authority, the men and the money to go on with the prosecutions? The so-called Hensy indictments have never been placed in Bristol's hands. The responsibility for the inaction plainly lies in Washington not in Portland.—Portland Journal.

General Robert E. Lee was the greatest general the world has ever known. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the greatest liniment. Quickly cures all pains. It is within the reach of all. T. H. Pointer, Hempstead, Texas, writes: "This is to certify that Ballard's Snow Liniment has been used in my household for years and has been found to be an excellent liniment for rheumatic pains. I can never without it." Sold by Chas. Strang, Medford, Central Point Pharmacy.

Agreed. Justice Pickford, when a barrister, was once speaking before a couple of judges when a disagreement arose. After a long discussion on a point of law one of the judges said: "We repeat that the statement you make is not good law, and this court does not sit to expound the law to you, Mr. Pickford. We have neither the wish, nor the ability, your lordships, to interject the barrister." "Quite so; quite so. Now, as to paragraph 3."—London Tit-Bits.

Obstinate Parents. "Reginald," said the head of the family, "I have told you again and again that you are not to pull the cat's tail." Reginald eyed him sadly. "You are getting very obstinate, father," he said reprovingly.—London Globe.

Amicable Adjustment. "I want you distinctly to understand, Emil, that when your colleague's wife has a new hat I want one too." "Calum yourself, my dear. We've settled it between us. You're neither of you going to get one."—Fleegende Blätter.

FROM COUNTY EXCHANGES

Jacksonville Post. Chas. F. Danford this week purchased the Thos. Kahler property on Third street. This fine brick building has been occupied by Daily & Briggs, real estate agents, and the price paid for the property, we are informed, was about $300.

Gold Hill News: The county court of Jackson county paid an official visit to Gold Hill yesterday morning, and inspected the proposed improvements to be made on the eastern end of Main street, at the junction at the county road. A delegation of citizens and members of the city council accompanied them and explained the necessity of immediate action upon their parts. The court was favorably impressed with the proposed improvements and expressed a willingness to go to work immediately upon them. Operations will be commenced Monday morning. In our next issue will give a detailed account of the work.

Ashland Tidings. Wm. Sonleson, who is driving a wood wagon, was injured in a runaway accident on the Boulevard, Saturday. He was returning to the Barron place south of town with an empty wagon, when he met a rig in which a lot of empty tin cans were rattling. His horses took fright and ran, throwing him out, and he sustained painful bruises about the hip and shoulders.

With the beginning of the current month the price of milk has moved up a notch of about 3 1/3 per cent to Ashland consumers. Herebefore milk has been sold at $1.50 per quart per month; now the price has been advanced to $2.00. While not altogether reconciled the dear public is becoming accustomed to soaring prices for the necessities of life and the causes for the increase in the price of milk are the same with slight variation as those which have become familiar for the increased cost of other articles in daily use. Hay and feed of all kinds are high labor is scarce and hard to obtain etc. The increase in the price of milk here is in line with the advance of price all along the Coast. Portland people pay $2.25 per month for the same amount.

Central Point Herald. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fries, of Pocatello, Idaho, are here this week visiting his mother, Mrs. M. E. Fries. Mr. Fries is a machinist at Pocatello and is now on his return from the National Machinist's convention at Los Angeles, to which body he was a delegate.

The issue at the last town election was the installation of water works in Central Point. Query: What has become of the issue? What's the town board there for? What's the matter with the water works?

Ashland Tidings: A. F. Hunt, who has been buying beef cattle for northern markets in this section, spent a day at his home in this city last week, leaving Friday afternoon for the Dead Indian region to interview stockmen of that section. He has been in Klamath county and on the Applegate and has secured thus far nearly two thousand head of beef cattle, most of which will be delivered here, beginning Sept. 10th, for shipment north in special trains, four or five of which will probably be sent. About one thousand head were purchased in the Fort Klamath country. His purchases also include the Applegate cattle, the Barnsburg bunch, and some more will likely be added from this section. Mr. Hunt has been paying 2 1/2c, and 3c for cows and 3 1/2c for prime steers. The cattle are weighed at the ranches and are to be delivered at Ashland for shipment. Mr. Hunt is about the heaviest buyer in this region this season, it would seem, and the price he offers about the top notch.

Toads' Hatching Places. Every day toad lays a stupendous number of eggs. A scientist received 11,545 eggs from one toad, a necessary fertility, since the chances of an egg developing into a toad are less than one in a thousand. Within two weeks after the eggs are laid the young tadpoles begin to appear and feed first on their gelatinous envelope. Next the slimy deposits common to ponds and swamps are attacked. Steadily grow the young wrigglers until their bodies enlarge to the size of thumb nails by the end of June. The long tail now is absorbed and the legs develop. They begin to hop on the bank and disperse, never to return save in the breeding season. It is at the spring of the year that the toads awake from their winter sleep below the rocks and scrub. They often have been literally frozen stiff, but they return to life as healthy as ever and on the first balmy night migrate toward the nearest breeding pond. Usually this is the old homestead where they were born, for the toad is a domestic animal and will travel a mile or more for the sake of returning to the place of its hatching. —Chicago Tribune.

"Trying on" Furniture. When you go to buy a suit of furniture nowadays in one of our department stores you don't have to speculate as to how it will fit in your room nor whether it will fit in or not. As soon as the salesman sees that a particular suit has met your fancy he calls for a porter or two and turns them loose in one of several rooms fitted up around the main showroom, setting them at work removing all the furniture in it. Then the suit that you seem to be hankering after is placed in appropriate positions in this room, and you can see at a glance just how the bedroom or parlor or dining room will look if you buy that particular suit. There are a dozen of these smaller rooms around the main showroom, and as each one is decorated in a different manner it is easy to pick one out that approximates the scheme of your room at home. Like many modern ways of selling goods it is expensive in the beginning, but it pays in the end, for this plan of showing goods seldom fails of its intended effect.—New York Press.

A Widow Who Was Calm. A lawyer was entertaining dinner guests recently with stories from his personal experiences. "A woman came into my office one afternoon and said she wanted to see a lawyer on a rather important matter," he said. "She was very prim and self-possessed." "What can I do for you?" I asked. "Well," she said in an easy tone, "my husband was hurt in the wreck the other day." "I noticed she was dressed in mourning, but from her indifferent tone I gathered that it had no connection with her husband's accident." "Was your husband badly injured?" I asked. "Yes," she answered in the same quiet voice. "He got his head cut off." —Kansas City Times.

The Talmud. The Jewish Talmud has come down to us only through the heroic efforts of the Jews themselves and the intrepid service of John Rendell. Its recital was condemned by various edicts of emperors and kings; its circulation was prohibited by popes and theologians. Twelve thousand copies of this monumental work were burned at Cremona in 1598, and a similar fate befell 5,000 copies of the Koran by order of Cardinal Ximenes on the taking of Grenada by Ferdinand and Isabella. —Boston Post.
