TIMBER LAND, ACT JUNE 3, 1878.—NOTICE FOR PUBLIC-CATION.
 United States Land Office, Roseburg, Oregon, December 12, 1907.
 Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," as amended to the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1882, IDA E. BITWORTH of Benton, county of Jackson, State of Territory of Oregon, has filed in this office her sworn statement No. 270, for the purchase of the B. L. No. 12, in Twp. 20 N., R. 2 E., S. 10 E., 1878, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for agriculture or other purposes than for timber or stone, and to establish her claim to said land before A. B. Gillon, U. S. Commissioner, at his office in Medford, Oregon, on Wednesday, the 11th day of March, 1908.
 He names as witnesses: William T. Grice, George Daniel, and Love and Frances Allen, all of Prussian, Oregon.
 Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 11th day of March, 1908.

Klamath County News.
 A quiet, pretty marriage occurred Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at the home of the officiating minister, P. Conliss. The interested parties were Mr.
 Earl C. Jackson and Miss Emma Magreiter. Mr. Jackson is in the employ of Moore Bros. and they will reside here.
Klamath Falls Republicans: Sheriff Oberachin received word Saturday of the serious illness of his father, Bartlett Oberachin, of Central Point, and left Sunday morning with his wife for that place. Mr.
 Oberachin, who is nearly 80, suffered a stroke of paralysis from which it is feared he will not recover. Mrs. Jeff Wilson, of Langell Valley, and Mrs.
 W. H. Pankey, of Lorelia, accompanied by their husbands, passed through the city this morning to be with their father.
 Harry Pointer, who lives on the Olm ranch below town, suffered a very serious accident Tuesday morning, which will lay him up for some time. He was driving down Main street with a load of lumber and in crossing the street car track one of the wheels struck the rail and he was thrown from his seat. In falling he struck his knee and suffered a fracture of the patella or knee cap. He was taken to a room in the Wilson building, near which the accident occurred. Dr. Merryman is attending him.

H. Snowgoose, of Keok, has just received from his boys, Dan and John, a map and pictures of Rawlids, Nevada, a new mining camp. The boys are interested in several rich claims in this camp. The first picture shows the camp with only a few tents, another where the miners are working and shipping, another the first six-horse stage into Rawlids and another an 18-horse team hauling lumber to the mining camp. Then we see the long map in six sections, giving a birds-eye view of Rawlids, the city of tents. Main street and Rawlids avenue, besides wooden buildings, are lined with hundreds of tents.
Klamath Falls Express:
 The damage to the building burned Saturday morning will probably amount to $200,000 of which is covered by insurance in the Continental. The damaged buildings are owned jointly by H. H. Van Valkenburg and Ky Taylor. The stock, furniture and fixtures of L. Alva Lewis are probably damaged to the extent of $1200 with insurance of $500 in the Agricultural of which $100 is on clocks, $100 on silverware and glassware and $300 on furniture and fixtures. Sheriff Oberachin and Marshal Low unearthed much evidence Saturday which strongly pointed to robbery as the crime which the robber endeavored to cover up by fire.
 Holes had been bored in the flooring in the back part of the store and entrance to the building is supposed to have been gained in that way.
 The jewelry is had been taken out of the store and was found, together with some silver spoons, back of the building. Just how much loot the robber got is impossible to say.
 In one of the prettiest home weddings the Rev. Pratt Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Chas. I. Roberts and Miss Clarice E. White. The beautiful Episcopal ring service was used.
 While only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present yet these were sufficient to fill the spacious rooms, which under the artistic skill of Miss Maud Baldwin, had been beautifully decorated with Oregon grape and sword fern. As the beautiful strains of the wedding march were played by Mrs. Pratt, the bride and groom, with Oscar Shive as best man and Miss Georgia White as bridesmaid, entered the room between aisles of ribbon held by little Marjorie DeLall and Hattie White, took their place under a beautiful floral bell hung from an arch of Oregon grape. The bride was charming in a dress of cream set over silk and carried a bouquet of white ornamentation. The groom was dressed in conventional black. The bridesmaid wore pink and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. After the ceremony the wedding supper was served, after which the happy pair departed immediately to the home of the groom on Payne street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
 G. W. White and is beloved by a host of friends in the city. The groom is the junior member of the firm of Roberts & Haaka, hardware merchants, and has grown from boy-hood in this city. By his many sterling qualities he has established for himself an enviable reputation as a business man and citizen. Many beautiful and costly presents were received. The Express joins with their many friends in wishing full the joy of a long and prosperous life. (The groom is a brother of Mrs. Genevieve Goodwin, of Medford and the bride was formerly a resident of this place.)

A Cure for Misery.

THE CRITIC'S SHRUG.
 A Story of an Old Persian Poet and an Aspiring Shah.
 "To be fair," said a noted dramatic critic, "is sometimes hard and cruel, and sometimes it is rash. You know there are reprisals. The unswerving fair critic often takes up his pen with the shrug of Omar, the old Persian poet.
 "You have heard of Omar's shrug?
 No? Well, it was eloquent. The shah once had sent for the old poet.
 "Omar," he said, "I have written some verses. Listen, and I will read them to you."
 "And he read the verses and in the ensuing silence looked at Omar anxiously. 'Well?' he said.
 "Thirteen born," said Omar gently, "each to his own calling. Scriber in hand, you are most wise, just and powerful, but pen in hand—Omar shook his head and chuckled. "Heaven forbid," said he, "such verses would damn a nine-year-old schoolboy."
 "His eyes flashing with wrath, the shah shouted to his guards:
 "To the stables with this old fool, and let him be soundly flogged!"
 "Yet the shah, for all, respected Omar's judgment, and when, a week later, another idea for a poem came to his mind and was feverishly executed he sent for the fearless and fair critic again.
 "Another poem, Omar, a better one. I'm sure you'll think it is a better one," he said wistfully. And he began to read the second poem to the old man.
 "But in the middle of the reading Omar turned and started for the door.
 "Where are you going?" said the shah in amazement.
 "Omar looked back and shrugged his shoulders.
 "To the stables," he answered, "for another flogging!"—Denver Republican.

Which of Them?
 A certain two men are possessed of exactly $10,000.
 One buys a modest house for $4,000, a modest business for $3,000 and sells the remainder of his money away against a rainy day. The other puts the entire $10,000 into a motor car and thereby acquires such credit that he can have a house worth $50,000 and become a partner in a business paying $100,000 a year.
 Assuming that both men have a wife and some daughters, which of them lives to kick himself?—Puck.

Object in His Preaching.
 Towns—It's funny. Burrough is for ever preaching to his friends about the necessity for saving their money.
 Brown—Well! Towns—Well, he should let fall in the world who should preach that. Brown—Not at all. The more his friends save the more he has the chance to borrow.—Chicago Journal.

Children and Candy.
 Give children plenty of pure sugar, taffy and butter scotch and they'll have little need of cod liver oil, says Dr.
 Woods Hutchinson in Woman's Home Companion. In short, sugar is, after meat, bread and butter, easily our next most important and necessary food. You can put the matter to a test very easily. Just leave off the pie, pudding or other desserts at your lunch or midday dinner. You'll be surprised to find how quickly you'll feel "rummy" again and how "unliked" the meal will seem. You can't get any workman to accept a dinner pall without pie in it. And he's absolutely right. The only thing that can take the place of sugar here is beer or wine. It is a significant fact that the free lunch counters run in connection with bars furnish every imaginable thing except sweets. Even the restaurants and lunch grills attached to saloons or bars often refuse to serve desserts of any sort. They know their business! The more sugar and sweets a man takes at a meal the less alcohol he wants. Conversely, nearly every drinking man will tell you that he has lost his taste for sweets. The more candy a nation consumes, the less alcohol.

The Mayor of Berlin.
 One of the principal requirements of a mayor in Germany is unqualified honesty. For in the municipal administration of Germany graft in any form would not be tolerated. To become the mayor of a city like Berlin the applicant must have established his reputation for efficiency in governing other German cities. His career is carefully scrutinized by the members of the town council who select him, for not only must he be competent and successfully perform the duties of his high position, but still as young as likely to remain competent for many years, for a mayor in Prussia is elected for a term of twelve years and if not re-elected after that period is entitled to a pension of half the amount of his salary. After a service of six years his pension is one-fourth of his salary and after serving twenty years he is pensioned. He need not necessarily be a resident of Berlin at the time of his appointment—in fact, the mayor is usually chosen from the residents of other cities.

Culture in West Africa.
 Culture and commerce are spreading in west Africa. A merchant sends us the following letter, received from a chief: "Dear Gentlemen—I made my stop to the house of a certain amiable friend of mine for invitation and which our attention highly attracted by taken a couple for a few minutes. I took a veritable mass of notes in reading of something. And I was pursuing through pages over pages your name was substantially commemorated to me that you are the best and known Merchants in every produce in the city of London.
 Therefore I have found myself somewhat inclined to pen you to send me your general Samples, together with Catalogue, and I will soon forwarding my remittance to you promptly for quantity of goods. Trusting you will not refuse as quick by as possible. Expecting to hear from you again good news. * * * London

No Landlubber.
 Young Jack Tabbs has only been in the navy for a few months, but there is not a more enthusiastic sea dog in the whole of his majesty's service. He recently made application for and received the usual leave and proceeded to London and his mother's house.
 Mrs. Tabbs lives on the third floor of a house in Camberwell, and when he arrived at her address he stood in the doorway and bawled up the stairs:
 "Mother, aloft three Jack's come home! Open the window!"
 "Why, Jacky, my dear," cried the old lady from the landing, "whatever's wrong with the sailor?"
 "Bairns!" cried the weather worn sea-dog, with ineffable contempt. "What do I know about stairs? Just go open the window and lower a rope to the main deck, and be quick about it!"— London Express.

A Possibility.
 Old Nancy Deane was noted for the striking originality of some of her expressions. One day she was talking about the utter inanity of another old woman in the neighborhood, and she said:
 "I never see her best! She'll lay down in a chair, an' there she'll set an' set an' set, dot's absolutely nothin' for hours an' hours, day after day. 'Poa my soul, I sh'd think she'd milder!" Even Wives.
 Ho—Darling, don't you know that it is unbecoming to postpone a wedding?
 She—I can't help that. My dressmaker is ill, and I'm afraid it would be more unbecoming if I were to go and get married before having all the clothes I want made while my father is still willing to pay for them.

His Privilege.
 Mrs. O'Connell—This paper says privilege while the women are talking.—Exchange.

 follows: "One bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had a good effect more quickly relieved if I had continued the remedy. That it was quick

A SPANISH TRICK.
 The incident which moved England to Turn Drake Loose.
 The relations between which Drake's raid into the south sea had for a time threatened with open rupture had greatly improved—at least in outward appearance—and in 1585, under special promises of immunity from molestation on religious or other grounds, Philip had invited to his ports a fleet of English corn ships in order to supply the deficiency of his own harvests.
 No sooner, however, had the English ships arrived than an embargo was laid upon them and their crews arrested.
 One ship, the famous Primrose of London, managed to escape. While lying off Bilbao quietly discharging her cargo she had been visited by the corregidor of Biscay and his guard disguised as merchants. Suddenly called upon to surrender, the crew flung themselves upon the Spaniards, drove them all overboard and hauled sail. Some of the discomfited Spaniards as the shore boats fled were seen clinging to the English vessel. These were humanely rescued and carried in triumph back to England, and among them was the corregidor himself. Upon him were forced his official instructions, setting forth expressly that the embargo was ordered for the purposes of the ex-pdition which Philip was preparing against the English. This was enough for the queen and the powerful public opinion of commercial circles in London, which had obstinately clung to pacific relations with Spain. A retaliatory embargo was proclaimed, letters of general reprisal were issued, and Drake was let loose.—From Publication of Navy Records Society.

A PORTO RICAN CUSTOM.
 Prayers for the Dying Recited in the Public Streets.
 "A few evenings ago while we were at dinner in our hotel," writes an American author visiting Porto Rico, "we heard the tinkling of a small bell just outside the hotel doors. Instantly Salvador, the waiter, stopped in the little bustling run-with-which he waits on the guests, hurriedly procured a candle, lighted it and carried it out on the balcony. Almost as soon as that candle was on the balcony railing we three Americans were beside it, questioning Salvador, for we were sure something unusual was going on.
 "We saw a procession of many people, led by two priests, coming down the street, each person bearing in his hand a lighted candle. They stopped in front of a house facing the hotel, and Salvador told us that somebody was dying there and they were praying for his soul. Up and down the street as far as we could see on every balcony railing was burning either a candle or a kerosene lamp.
 "From the absorbed interest of the people gathered in front of open doors and windows of the afflicted house the sufferer was apparently trying to die in full view of the spectators.
 "Presently the bell began to ring again, the procession formed once more, and they all moved up the street, Salvador telling us in explanation that this was a second person dying and they were now going to pray for him."

A Slight Deduction.
 In Mrs. Lapham's family circle her powers of reasoning were accounted most remarkable and convincing. Outside the family her ability to convince was not so marked.
 "See here," she said without releasing the ten cent piece for which the conductor of the trolley car had gone to be held. "I've only brought Willy with me. He's eight, so I've got to pay his fare. I've left Myra, that's four, and Neddly, that's two, at home. Now, you wouldn't have charged me for them, would you?"
 "No, madam," said the conductor.
 "Your fare, please."
 "Well, they'd have taken one seat," persisted Mrs. Lapham, still retaining her hold on the ten cent piece. "I couldn't have held 'em both. I thought of bringing them, only 'twas too far.
 Now, why can't you take of something from Willy under the circumstances?"
 —South's Companion.

Rank Foolishness.
 "When attacked by a cough or a cold, or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Dispire, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and I know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles.

 My children are subject to croup, but

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Safe Medicine for Children.
 In buying a cough remedy for children, never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is sure to follow. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a cure for croup, but, when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Chas.
