Klamath County News

Express:

W C and K L Dalton are up from Tule Lake. They say the lake is falling slightly at present and the citizens there are prepraring to do some more excavation work on the recently discovered underground outlet with a view to seeing if there is any possibility of draining it from this source.

It is time there was a bounty placed on coyotes. Last Thursday a man living by Miller's hill was repairing his fence near a coyote den when three mothers who had their little ones out for a walk met his dog and tore it to pieces, then attacked the man, biting him on the arm and side and cuting a gash in his throat. His cries for help brought Mr. Ager to his aid and they run the coyotes to their dens and closed them with rocks. They are usually cowardly, but it is not safe to go near their dens when they are pups.

The sheriff's office was thrown into a slight fever of excitement when word was sent in from the Gap Thursday morning that a man somewhat answering the description of Hamilton, the much sought Silver Lake fugitive, had struck camp on the bank of Lost river. It was also stated that the man was barefooted, bare headed and otherwise scantily clothed and it was thought he was crazy. Armed to the the teeth and already feeling the weight of the Hamilton reward in their pockets Sheriff Obenchain and Deputy Schallock went out to get the man. He was found to be only a laborer who had gone out to be on the ground when the government work on the ditch started up. Otherwise than the fact that he was looking for work the officers could find notrace of insanity, and it took just one look at the man to convince them that he was not Hamilton.
