

TENDER FEET

LADIES usually have tender feet. They wish a stylish shoe and usually buy one, very often sacrificing comfort, on the altar of appearance for a comfortable shoe is seldom attractive. Realizing this, John Kelly set to work to produce a shoe combining the highest style and greatest comfort. After years of effort he has succeeded as never shoe maker did before.

While we make less money on them than some others we have selected the "Honest John Kelly's" shoe as our leader in Ladies Footwear. In Oxfords they are great bargains at Fine New Residence.

Bert Anderson, who came here a few months ago from Garden City, Kan., and who is one of the owners of Bungalow addition to Medford, is now having the foundation laid for a very fine dwelling on the north side of West Seventh street. The foundation will be 26x40 feet in size, and the residence will have nine rooms. It will be built after the bungalow style, only that it will be two stories high. The entire exterior will be shingled, the chimneys will be built on the outside and will be of clinker brick. The pillars will also be of the same material. There will be a large basement and the house will be heated with hot air. The cost of the dwelling will be about $5000. This is the price he figures on, but if there is one thing more than another when figures are deceptive it is in the construction of a building, and if he is not required to raise his first estimate his will be an exceptional case.

Large Part of Pipe Laid.

To date there has been laid over 13,000 feet of the water mains in the streets of this city. This is very nearly one-half of the entire amount to be laid. At the present rate of progress the pipe will all have been laid by the first day of July. A month will then be left for the testing of the pipe and the refilling of the trenches.

So far the testing has progressed without the finding of any serious flaws. One section of the pipe had to be taken out and replaced as the pipe was cracked, causing a leak. As far as the work done by the contractors is concerned it has been highly satisfactory, none of the joints leaking even when the pipe was subjected to a pressure of as high as 200 pounds to the square inch. The contractor has to put the pipe in so that there will not be any serious leakage under a 100-pound pressure. The higher pressure was put on by the city officials to test the pipe.

Yesterday a plug that was placed in the end of one of the mains blew out and for a little while there was something doing in that immediate vicinity. The pumping plant was notified as soon as possible and the water was shut off, although before it was stopped the street was flooded.

A force of men is engaged at present in refilling the trenches in which the pipeline has been tested and this work of refilling the trenches will be continued as rapidly as possible.

Today the mains on D'Anjou street and other streets on the north side of Seventh and west of the railroad will be tested.

Seventh street mains are to be tested soon so that the work of refilling the trenches on that street may be finished as soon as possible, so that the trenches will be tamped properly and the earth properly settled before the grading for the paving of the street is undertaken.

Improving the Phone System.

George A. Patterson, the Medford representative for the Pacific Telephone company, is putting forth every effort possible to improve the service in Medford and in valley points. When the new switchboard is in position and operating very nearly every line in the Medford service will be tested daily. Especially will this apply to all professional men's offices and the business houses, which will be called every morning. Extra caution will be placed on all police and fire lines. These lines will be tested by calls three times daily.

The red-light signal spoken of a few days ago in the columns of The Morning Mail will also be used as a fire signal and when a fire alarm is turned in the red light will be flashed.

Further improvements in the valley service of the company have been made at Central Point. There are seven lines out from Central Point and there are 60 of these suburban and rural patrons—that is, 60 phones on these private lines which are maintained by the patrons and are connected with the main line for a charge of $1 per year, but this service has hardly been satisfactory, and now Mr. Patterson has taken the matter up with them and has arranged to improve the service in various ways. There will be a central operator employed by the company at Central Point and free switching will be given with Medford and a 15-cent charge with Jacksonville. In order to bring about this service it has been necessary to increase the annual rental to $3 for each phone, in the place of $1 as now charged. Nearly all the 60 patrons have signed the new contracts.

The operator will be at the switchboard from 6 in the morning until 6 at night, and then, after an hour for lunch, she will be at the board again until 8. This continuous service during the day will give the farmers an opportunity to talk with Central Point and Medford business men during the noon hour.

These improvements ought to be appreciated by the patrons and undoubtedly will be, and while it is good for them, it at the same time will add new business for the company.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Olive Bell and family wish to tender their heartfelt thanks to friends and relatives at Brownsboro and other places who extended to them so much kindness and sympathy during their sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband and father.

Keep up the civic improvement spirit in Medford. Money spent for good streets and sidewalks is well invested and will bring many-fold returns.
