HARVEST IS GREAT.

Farmers Again Confronted With the Problem of Getting Needed Help.

Grain-cutting time is near at hand in the wheat-producing sections of the interior and the farmers are again confronted with the always serious problem of securing the needed help for the harvesting of the crop. The cutting of fall-sown grain in the three Northwestern states usually begins early in July and it is not until the latter part of August that the crop of spring and fall grain is gathered, but this year the season is a little late.

While it is generally conceded that the wheat yield of the Northwest this year will be slightly, at least, under that of 1907, the task of gathering the crop will be no small one, and for this purpose a small army of men will be needed in the wheat-fields during the two harvest months. With mills and factories more or less generally suspended as a result of the late financial depression, logging camps and sawmills closed down for the time and railroad construction work curtailed, it was believed that there would be no difficulty in securing the help needed by the farmers; but reports have already reached the city from some of the principal wheat districts that help is scarce. Offers of wages from $2.50 to $3 a day, with board and lodging provided, have not yet drawn the forces that will be needed through the harvest season.

It is said that there are now on the coast thousands of idle men, who were thrown out of employment by the closing of the mills and other industries some time ago, and other thousands are without employment in many of the mining districts of the interior. Many of these will of course take to the harvest fields, but it is the experience of farmers that sawmill men and others who have been engaged in the lumber industry do not usually take kindly to harvest field work, and not many of them are drawn into it.

The use of combined harvesting and threshing machines has in a large way disposed of the labor problem in many districts, but even with these machines thousands of men are needed, and in many places the greater part of the grain is yet cut with binders. In districts where men are building homes on government land there will be no serious labor shortage. In other parts the farmers will have to get help as best they can.

It will be of interest to farmers this year to know that grain bags will in all probability cost materially less than a year ago. In Portland standard Calcutta bags are now quoted at 8 1/2 to 7 cents apiece, as against an average price of 8 cents last year. This means a reduction of 10 to 15 a thousand from the cost of bags a year ago. Bags of domestic manufacture, which comprise but a small part of the quantity used every year, are held at about the same figures as the imported article.

The bag supply for the season is already largely contracted for, and in some of the wheat districts it is reported that the farmers, with a view to getting bags at low prices, some time ago made contracts for supplies at prices considerably higher than those now prevailing. Local dealers say there is small probability of any advance this season in bag prices over present quotations.

The wheat yield of the Inland Empire this year is yet a matter of speculation, and estimates on the probable output vary widely. Some of the local grain men hold that the crop will be 25 to 30 per cent under that of last year. Some estimates the output at 50,000,000 to 65,000,000 bushels. It will be impossible until the harvest is well under way to make anything like an accurate guess on the size of the crop.—Telegram.

LAND-FRAUD TRIALS.

Interior Department Expects to Recover Claims Worth $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—In a statement issued today in regard to the land conspiracy cases which resulted in the conviction of Frederick A. Hyde and Joost H. Schneider, and the acquittal of John A. Benson and Henry P. Dimond, Assistant Attorney-General A. B. Pugh declares that while the trial of these four men has cost the government $48,360, the beneficial results to the land department in the future administration of public land laws are beyond calculation. The net results, he says, will be the restoration to the government of more than 100,000 acres of public lands, valued at $1,000,000.

Barnes Murder Case.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 26.—The prosecution in the case of Bod Barnes, charged with the murder of Mrs. Ann Aldrich this afternoon rested the case and the attorneys for the defense put their witnesses on the stand. Hypothetical questions will be propounded to insanity experts tomorrow.

Tacoma Office Abandoned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—The Isthmian canal commission has discontinued their purchasing agency at Tacoma, Wash., and has transferred the work, which consisted principally of the inspection of lumber, to an army engineer at Seattle.

Town Wiped Out.

CLINTON, Minn., June 27.—In a tornado here at 5:30 tonight six were killed and scores were injured. The town was completely destroyed.
