

OUR COUNTY Correspondents

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

(By A. C. Howlett.)
Crowell and wife of Hanford, were here last week looking for a location.
Mrs. J. J. Fryer and her grandson, Austin Green, went to Clatsop Springs last Friday.
Mrs. Nye and daughter, Miss Ellen, who have been in Roseburg for some time, have returned and at this writing are Mrs. Nye's son-in-law, A. G. Flossey.
E. Ervin of Goldfield, Nev., was among the many callers last week. He is a mining man and was talking of going to the Elk creek mines when he left here.

Jarrell & Co. have opened up a meat market in our town, and now we may expect to have something good and handy. The Central Point meat man comes on Tuesday and Friday, so we will be well supplied in that line.
W. C. Chaney of Los Angeles, Cal., was looking over our part of the country, and was very favorably impressed with our surroundings. He seemed to think that with our water power and other advantages the future outlook was encouraging.

A party consisting of Mrs. Martin, 80 years old; her two sons, her grandson, granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. McGowan, all of Ashland, stopped here last week on their way to Crater lake and other places of interest. They came in on the P. & E. train and had a team meet them here from Ashland. They expect to spend most of the summer out in the hills and in Klamath county.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Potter of Ashland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matthews of Petaluma, Cal., arrived at the residence of Joseph Riley this week to be at the bedside of Tobias Linkawiler (generally known as Charley Linkawiler), who is lying very low, and is expected to live only a short time. Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Matthews are stepdaughters of Mr. Linkawiler, and sisters of Mr. Riley. Mr. Linkawiler is now past 80 years of age, and there is no hope entertained of his recovery.

Last Saturday the Eagle Point correspondent of the Morning Mail took a trip to Butte Falls and conducted services on Sunday. While there he learned that there was considerable sickness among the small children, and also the particulars with regard to the accident that befell B. F. Harris. He and Mr. Lewis were trying to raise a floodgate that held the water in the bulkhead when the water was 12 feet deep, and a large body of water back of it. The cable with which they had been raising the gate, 3 1/2 x 3/4 feet square, had pulled out and they were trying to raise it with crowbars. Mr. Harris had got his side started and stepped into the flume to assist Mr. Lewis, and just then the force of the water tore the floodgate away, tearing it apart, and the flood of water carried him about 15 out from the flume, he falling a distance of 30 feet, and landing him on solid rock, where the force of the water carried him over the falls, a distance of about 20 feet. I have this statement from two eyewitnesses, Messrs. Lewis and Miller. Mr. Harris' brother-in-law, who was standing right over him and saw the whole of the accident. When Messrs. Miller and Lewis got to him he was in his hands about 18 inches deep, on his hands and knees, and they and four other men picked him up and carried him up a steep cliff. Upon examination it was found that he was badly cut about the head, one rib broken, his spine badly hurt and bruised all over. When I saw him Sunday afternoon he was resting easily, and thought he would be able to be up in a short time.

In speaking of accidents, Mr. Miller and his wife came near being killed but a few days before Mr. Miller got hurt. They were fishing on the bank of the Big Butte and happened to be in a thicket on the bank, and there was no wind, when Mr. Miller heard something cracking. He thought it was an animal, but the noise increased, and to his horror he discovered that it was a large fir tree falling right toward them. They seemed to be no way of escape but to jump into the water, and that was deep, so they had to stand and watch the chances of being killed. The tree fell so close to them that the small limbs brushed them, and Mrs. Miller was so overcome that she had to be helped up the bank. Mr. Miller says it will be a long time before he gets over the nervous shock.

I also learned that the three men who owned the Roundtop mill, which was burned, have been engaged to operate the Butte Falls mill. They took charge of it last Monday.
Mr. Brannon, the contractor, who is to build the new school house in Butte Falls, is going right ahead with the work. The cornerstone of the building was to have been laid on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with appropriate ceremonies. After the school house is completed, he intends to build a meeting house for church purposes. Mr. Harris proposes to give the lot on which to erect the house to let timber and the use of the mill to saw the lumber and let the men living here understand running it saw the lumber.

Our county road workers, with teams and machinery, are at work opening up the new road between Long and Brownsboro.
Surveyor Perkins, who has been doing surveying in this section, brought his family out last Monday and they are staying at the Sunnyside at present.
H. E. Lee and Miss Agnes Schweisthal of Chicago, who are traveling in the interest of a magazine company in the east, came out Monday evening on the P. & E. They took supper at the Sunnyside and were met by Mr. Allen of Trail that evening and proceeded on their journey. They expect to spend some time at Trail fishing and hunting and then go to Crater Lake and Klamath county.

TALENT.

J. N. Minning and family were in Ashland Sunday.
C. W. Wolters and family were Ashland visitors Sunday.

Charles Forbes is in Medford papering a house for Mrs. D. A. Forbes.
Mrs. J. N. Minning sustained a very severe sprain of the ankle Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Holdridge and son were Medford visitors Wednesday afternoon.
Miss Bertha McPherson of Medford spent four days with Mrs. Forbes this week.

Miss Rose Fleider of Medford spent Thursday with Mrs. Forbes, returning home Friday morning.
C. W. Wolters is putting a glass front in his store, which will greatly improve the appearance of the building.

Miss Kate Lamb has resigned her position as clerk for C. W. Wolters, and accepted a position as clerk with Glenger & Peterson.
J. B. Trowbridge of Medford while in Talent Sunday had a runaway. He left his team in front of Gardner's confectionery store in charge of another person, who for some reason left the rig. The team started immediately. After making a circle of several blocks it struck the main road for Medford. The extent of the damage was not learned.

PROBATE COURT.

In the matter of guardianship of Carl R. Beeson, a minor; first and final report of guardian filed and approved and guardian discharged from further liability in the matter.
State of Oregon vs. James Hayes, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Preliminary hearing in Justice Cox's court Saturday. Bound over to appear at next term of the circuit court. Bond fixed at $600, which was furnished.
Estate of Carlos Duane Reed, deceased; inventory and appraisement filed, showing estate to be valued at $250.

New Cases—Circuit Court.

Horace Pelton vs. the Gold Hill Canal company. Action to recover money amounting to $1,842.32, due for wheat which was stored by plaintiff in defendant's granaries, according to agreement made between the parties to the suit. The wheat, according to the complaint, was stored by plaintiff to be held subject to his (plaintiff's) order. Defendants have sold the wheat and applied the proceeds to their own use and benefit. The amount of wheat was 1,842 1/3 bushels, valued at $1 per bushel. Plaintiff's attorneys are Colvig & Durham.
Gus Newbury vs. Edgar E. Lee. Suit to quiet title. Gus Newbury is plaintiff's attorney.
W. E. Phipps vs. B. P. Theiss. Suit to quiet title. R. G. Smith and W. E. Phipps are attorneys for plaintiff.
Elfred Barzee and Jennie Barzee vs. John Wintzen. Suit to quiet title. Charles Prim attorney for plaintiff.

Circuit Court Proceeding.

Elmer E. Throop vs. Mae Throop. Order for publication of summons.

BIG RACE TO SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, July 22.—Comparative gloom pervaded the American camp tonight. The athletes from over the seas had strongly hoped to repeat yesterday's grand record by making clean sweeps in the track events, but a dark horse in the person of a South African youth, R. E. Walker, upset the calculations. Walker broke the tape in what is considered the most important event in the Olympic games, the 100-meter dash, a short two feet ahead of J. A. Rector of Virginia, thereby putting an end to the astonishing succession of American triumphs, which had begun to sadden the Britons. The American team did remarkably well at the Stadium today, but success had elated them to a point where they were satisfied with nothing else than everything in sight.
The world's record by Bacon of the Irish-American Athletic club in the 400-meter hurdle; an Olympic record of 24 feet 6 inches by Irons of Chicago in the running board jump, and the victory of Dole of Yale in the featherweight wrestling match out of seven finals should be satisfactory performance for one day.
England defeated the Belgians in water polo and the graeco-wrestling contest went to Finland.
The score, counting English fashion, follows:
United Kingdom, 32; American, 17; Sweden, 7; Norway and France each 2; Canada, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Finland, and South Africa, 1 each.
The score, counting by the American style, is:
American, 75; United Kingdom, 56 1-3; Sweden, 12; Greece, 6; South Africa, 5; Canada, Norway and Italy, 2 each; France and Hungary, 1 1-3 each; Australia, Germany and Finland, 1 each.

OLYMPIC GAMES.

LONDON, July 21.—Melvin W. Shepard of the Irish-American Athletic club, who took the measure of England's best distance men in the 1500-meter run a week ago, scored another victory today, when he finished far in the lead in the 500-meter event and established a new Olympic record of 1:52 4-5 for the distance. Another gold medal went to America when Harry F. Porter of the same club captured the high jump by clearing the bar at six feet three inches. After winning this event, Porter went after the world's championship, but failed in the attempt.
As expected it was America's day, for, besides winning the only two events finally decided, the American sprinters won a great majority of the heats in other events.
The Americans suffered disappointment in the heats of the 200-meter flat race, Lawson Robertson, I. A. A. C., being defeated by Doche, Irish champion, and May of Illinois being compelled to take the dust of Kerr, the fleet Canadian. Considering, however, that the American bettered seven of 15 heats and captured five, there is not much cause for complaint.
In the heats of the 400-meter race they took five out of nine in which they started. Two heats which they lost being won by Halswell, who is considered the best man at the distance in England, and Montague, champion of England, who beat Pigrim of the New York Athletic club.
In the 100-meter sprint the Americans lost two of the heats to South Africa and Canada, respectively, but took the other two heats.
The Americans contested in two of four of the 400-meter hurdle and won two. Hillman and Bacon did against the trick. The Americans lost their bouts in the catch-as-catch-can wrestling match and failed to qualify in the 1000-meter swim, six heats of which were completed today.

TWO DROWNED.

PORTLAND, July 21.—Two boys were drowned and two others barely escaped with their lives tonight in the Columbia slough. Winslow Habernicht, 13, and Wilbur Frank, a deaf and dumb boy, 10, the boys who were drowned, and a third boy had found an old scow and had rowed to the middle of the slough, where it capsized. None could swim. The fourth boy, who was watching the three from the bank, found a boat nearby and rowed to his companions, who were floundering in the water. Three of the boys seized the boat on the same side, overturning it. Two of the four, including the boy who had come to his companion's rescue, managed to save themselves by clinging to the overturned rowboat until rescued. The other two were already exhausted from struggling and were unable to hold to the boat.

GUM POWER IS DOOMED.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.—A typewriter girl that runs by electricity instead of chewing gum has been invented by Fred F. Main of this city.
The machine, it is declared, will operate an ordinary typewriter just as swiftly and more accurately than a girl. It is operated by means of perforated slips something similar to the manner in which a pianoplayer works.
While the invention will be hailed with delight by business men, the wives of the same men will be more than delighted with the invention.

STAGE ROBBED.

RENO, Nev., July 21.—News reached the Journal tonight from Likely, Nev., that the Likely-Alturas stage was held up last night by two masked men, heavily armed. They compelled the Wells-Fargo messenger to throw down the bag containing, it is believed, a large sum in gold for the payroll at Alturas. The passengers were not molested. No description of the bandits was obtained as it was dark, and after securing the box they slunk into the woods. The sheriff and posse have started in pursuit.

READY TO SAIL.

HONOLULU, July 21.—The Atlantic battleship fleet finished coaling and final preparations are being made to resume its journey around the world tomorrow, when at 5 p. m. sail will be set for New Zealand and Australia. Five thousand men were granted shore leave today. There was an excursion to Pearl Harbor for the officers this afternoon, and to night a grand ball is being held in honor of the sailors and marines. The festivities closed with fireworks and an illumination of the fleet.

MISTAKEN FOR A DEER.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 21.—News reached here today that August Helming, a furrier and dealer in hides and a prominent business man of Marshfield, was shot and killed near Corbin, Curry county, while hunting. Helming, his wife and four friends left here last week for an outing in the mountains.
While stalking a deer one of the party mistook Helming for the deer and fired. Helming was killed instantly.

COPS CHALLENGE.

LONDON, July 21.—The city of Liverpool police team, which won the Olympic tug-of-war, has issued a challenge to the Americans, both teams to be in stocking feet, or in any footwear the Americans prefer, and the match to be for love or for any charity.
