

OUR COUNTY Correspondents

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

(By A. C. Howlett.)

The Caster sawmill is running full blast.

Mr. Netherland has moved his family to the place he bought near Derby.

Professor Johnson commenced teaching in the Reese Creek district on Monday of last week.

Professor George O. Henry and Miss Bertha Peachey opened our school last Monday morning.

W. E. Wamsley, a nephew of our townsman by that name, from Nevada, is here visiting his uncle.

James Ringer, the paperhanger and painter, has been engaged for several days on Frank Brown's house.

Mr. Riggins of Durby has built a new barn and is now building a neat and commodious residence on his homestead.

John Lee, one of the carpenters who has been at work here this summer, went to Butte Falls last week on business.

Lee Parker, who is topping on Rogue river above Prospect, stopped here last Monday night on his way over with a load of supplies.

Mr. Sherman, who has been spending the summer in Klamath county, returned a few days ago to his homestead near Eagle Point.

A. B. Hamilton has been engaged sawing up a lot of wood on the A. A. Davis farm, northeast of Medford, returning to the Sunnyside Tuesday noon.

J. E. Stepp and his daughter, Miss Maggie, arrived out from their home on Round Top, last Monday to do some business here. Mr. Stepp seems to talk as though his company will not rebuild the Round Top mill, for a while at least.

Quite a number of our cattlemen are gathering up their beef cattle and driving them to market. Harry Carlton, Wy Ashpole, Gus Nichols and Grant Findley were camped at the Hawk sawmill last week gathering their cattle in that section.

The ladies of Eagle Point have succeeded in having the church here lined and papered and the inside woodwork painted, greatly improving the appearance of the interior of the building, but the outside still needs painting. The work was done by James Ringer.

There were 35 pupils in attendance the first day, but more to come. If the teachers prove to be competent there will be a good school again this winter, as of old, and our primary teacher, Miss Peachey, has already been tried and has given general satisfaction.

Mr. Haak, the purchaser of the R. G. Brown place, is having considerable changes made in his residence. Scott Bruce is doing the carpenter work. He expected to have built this fall, but the burning of the two sawmills broke into the plans of several of our citizens in that line of business.

John Allen, Benj. Fredenburg, Al Boardman and W. W. Parker came out last Monday with a bunch of beef cattle for the Medford market. Mr. Parker was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ella, and they two went to Peter Young's to spend the night, but the other three stopped at the Sunnyside.

Frank Smith, a son of John W. Smith of Big Sticky, came in from Lakeview with his family to visit his father and brothers, and last Saturday started for his home. He was accompanied by his father and brother, Alfred, and family, and another brother, Rollen, and family expect to go in the near future.

Last Tuesday Mr. York, the real estate hustler of Medford, came out, accompanied by Messrs. C. F. Kellogg of Berkeley, Cal.; R. M. Ludlow of Griggville, Ill.; L. Chandler and R. T. Sigenswalt of Colorado Springs, Colo., and John Grot of Chico, Cal. They came out to look at the country. While here they all went up to the noted sulphur spring and took a good drink of the water.

The death of John Bergman, who died September 9, at the family residence on Rogue river. The correspondent was away from home and consequently could not attend the funeral or learn the particulars of his death, age, etc., but he was a man about 50 years of age and left a wife and several children to mourn his demise. He was a man who was highly respected in the community where he lived.

Died—At the residence of her stepson, Mr. Bickett, on Train creek, September 8, 1908, Mrs. Della Alsey Phipps, aged 75 years, 3 months and 28 days. She, in company of her husband, Reuben Phipps, came to Oregon in 1886, where they lived together until Mr. Phipps died in October, 1905, and since that time she has been living with her children. She leaves five sons and one daughter, two stepsons and a number of grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. The remains were buried by the side of those of her husband in the Antioch cemetery, Rev. A. C. Howlett officiating.

Rev. Mark C. Davis, the Congregational Sunday school missionary, arrived last Monday evening and preached for us in the Eagle Point church.

Miss Lella Stinson of Roxy Ann precinct was a caller one night last week on her way to the Payton district, where she taught school last summer. She was in company with Mr. Payton and two of his children, a son and daughter.

How To Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress street, Chicago, tells of a way to become strong: He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Chas. Strang's drug store, 50c.

TO STOP HUSBAND'S SONGS

From the Chicago Inter Ocean. An injunction to restrain a husband from singing love songs to his wife through her open bedroom window is the newest wrinkle in Chicago divorce court procedure.

This antiserenade injunction will be filed today before Judge Honore by Attorney Sydney B. Meyer, at the request of Mrs. Anna Priebe Ryan, who objects, she says, to her husband, Charles F. Ryan, trying to win back her love with his melodious voice and ragtime songs at 1 a. m. After a separation of several months from her husband Mrs. Ryan decided to apply for a divorce, and yesterday Attorney Meyer filed the petition, in which Ryan was charged with extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Ryan later went to Mr. Meyer's office in the American Trust & Savings building and asked if steps could not be taken to keep her husband away from her home. "He sings so often to me," she said, "I can hear him in my sleep. Once I had him arrested, but he pleaded with me so hard, saying he did it only to make me love him again, that I forgave him."

The attorney prepared the injunction papers, which will be offered Judge Honore today, restraining Ryan from approaching, talking to, telephoning, writing, serenading or in any other manner molesting his wife.

"What does he usually sing to you?" Mrs. Ryan was asked. "I'm afraid he does not know but three songs, and those are 'Home, Sweet Home,' 'I'm Afraid to Go Home in the Dark,' and 'Come Down, My Love,'" she replied.

"Why, it's just terrible," she continued. "He comes to the house late and sings and sings until he arouses all the neighbors. One night while he stood singing under my window they bombarded him with shoes, brushes—almost anything they could throw."

"But how did you come to marry him?" was inquired.

"It happened so quickly it is hard to tell. I met him at the home of a friend. The marriage occurred here in Chicago two weeks after I had been introduced to him."

"He must still love you."

"Yes, he does; but those songs of his drive me frantic; and he was so cruel to me I do not care for him any more."

FOR KLAMATH CRIME.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Sept. 12.—William Barclay is under arrest at Alturas, Cal., charged with the murder of F. O. Jacobs, a horsebuyer, on Yainax Butte, Klamath Indian reservation, August 26. Sheriff Barnes of this county will bring the prisoner, who is a halfbreed and an Indian boy who was with him, to Klamath Falls to await trial.

Evidence going to show that a crime had been committed and revealing the place of concealment of the body was given by an aged great uncle of the alleged murderer, who helped to conceal the body.

The old Indian, Little John by name, was worried by the knowledge of the murder and communicated the information to others. The coroner's jury declared its belief in Barclay's guilt after hearing this testimony.
