EMMA GOLDMAN BARRED.
She Was Not Allowed to Speak in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 3.—Emma Goldman was led from the Propyleum here last night when she was about to address a large audience that had assembled at the fashionable club house to hear her. Twenty policemen were on hand when she arrived, and as she stepped into the hall she was told that she would not be permitted to speak in this city. She demurred at first, but the officers gathered around and she was informed that she would have to go to the police station if she persisted. She did not make any further resistance. Ben L. Reitman, who was with her, attempted to speak on a corner near the Propyleum, but the police forced him to desist under threats of locking him up.

REVIVALISTS ARE COMING.
Evangelist Whiston and C. W. Longman Begin Services Tonight.

Evangelist Robert F. Whiston of Boston, who is to do the preaching during the series of meetings at the Christian church, was educated in Geneva Wesleyan Seminary, Folt's Institute and Syracuse University, all of New York state. He became a member of the church of Christ in 1898 and since that time has held pastorates in large city churches in the east. In 1899 he was married to Ruby Ella Wall of Picton, N. S. In 1904 he became evangelist of Nebraska. He continued as such until June, 1907, adding hundreds to the kingdom and organizing many new congregations. In August, 1907, he entered the general field and has conducted many remarkable and successful meetings. Following are some of the results of his preaching in hard, difficult fields:
Plainview, 78 additions; David City, 117; Aurora, 107; Springfield, 137; St. John, 187; Ashland, 63.
His message is the old apostolic gospel in a modern dress. Hear this noted evangelist at the Christian church Thursday night and each succeeding evening.

TRAMPS STRUCK LUCK.
But Mrs. Good Lost Purse and Thirteen Dollars.

Sunday morning after the usual breakfast hour, a couple of tramps stepped in at the Star restaurant on East Seventh street and wanted to trade a cheap watch for their meal. After eating they for some reason stepped into the back room, where on a table lay Mrs. Good's purse, containing about $12, $3 of which were $1 bills. Shortly after their departure the purse was missed. The police were at once notified and made diligent search for the two tramps, but no trace of them has as yet been found.

BRIDE TO BE DROPS DEAD.
Died Suddenly After Waiting Seventeen Years for Wedding.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—After having waited 17 years for her wedding day, and with the joyous event less than 24 hours away, Miss Bridget Hearn died.

She died with a smile on her lips, for the last two days had been the happiest of her life, since her lover, whom she had seen but once before in the 17 years, was by her side.

Everything was in readiness for the wedding which was to have taken place in a local Catholic church at 9 o'clock. Instead the altar was draped in mourning and she who was to have been a bride was brought in a casket for the last rites of the church.

work. His belief is that singing was invented to make words more potent in the lives of men.

Evangelist Whiston waited two years to secure Longman, and he hopes to hold him for ten years to come. Whiston's only fear is that Longman will get married and refuse to leave home.

SENATOR PAGE OF VERMONT.
Elected to Fill Out Term of Late Senator Proctor.

The following story from the New York Times has considerable local interest in the way that the "Calfskin" Senator referred to is an uncle of Dr. F. C. Page of this city:

With the election to the United States senate of Carroll S. Page of Vermont to fill out the unexpired term of the late Redfield Proctor, Washington, D. C., has acquired a new brand of legislator—namely, a "calfskin" senator. There have been "oil" senators, railroad senators and lumber senators, but never before has the humble calfskin reached such heights of dignity. In this instance, however, Mr. Page represents his own tannery and not a cattle trust.

Meeting a loyal son of Vermont, he was asked: "What has this new man, Page, your new senator, done to be sent to Washington?" "Calfskins," replied the loyal son of Vermont; "Carroll S. Page has bought more calfskins than any other man in the United States."

Then was told a characteristically American story of a poor boy who built up a big business, and is now president of two banks, a director of railroads, and one of the very few millionaires in his state. This is regarded as no slight achievement, because, as the Vermont put it, "any old fool can find a million in New York, but it takes brains to do it in Vermont."

Mr. Page's fortune all originated in the tannery which he has in Hyde Park, in Lamolle county, and the inquirer was immediately assured that the nomenclature of the town containing the tannery is merely a coincidence and not a hideous attempt at "break into" politics his troubles began.

In 1890 he was elected governor of Vermont, and in the campaign to secure the title which has stuck to him ever since. Some political rival referred to him as "Mr. C. S. Page, whose initials aptly fit his business, calfskin," and "Calfskin Page" he has been in Vermont ever since. It made excellent material for campaign humor, this play on his name, but while his opponents were chuckling over the joke, Page got the nomination and was elected governor.

THE MEDFORD BOOK STORE.
Will Add Candy Kitchen and Confectionery Department.

The Medford Book Store has leased the room formerly occupied by the Church bakery and will immediately remove the partition, making one large room. This was deemed necessary by the crowded condition of their present quarters and the increased business they have been doing.

A new departure for them will be a candy kitchen. Grover Long of Portland has bought a half interest in the confectionery side and will look after that, with the assistance of his wife.

Mr. Long has had extensive experience in candy making, having worked for Christopher of Los Angeles, Mackey's and Grohnhager, both of San Francisco; Lenhants of Oakland, Sweetland of Portland, etc., and will be able to please the most fastidious.

They expect to be turning out candies in about a week or ten days.

Years ago, when they were children, Miss Hearn and Matthew Hearn of Albany, N. Y., who, although he bears the same name, is no relation, were playmates, and as they grew up their childhood friendship ripened into love. They became separated, but neither forgot the other, and although there had been but one meeting in 17 years, each remained true.

Miss Hearn's friends gave her a party, and after it was over she went for the night to the home of a friend, Mrs. Ellen Fox, at 147 Smith street. She slept with one of the daughters, and when the daughter awoke she found Miss Hearn ill. A physician was summoned, but before he arrived the woman was dead. Death was pronounced due to heart failure.

BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY.
Rev. Hall Returned and Was Greeted by Large Congregation.

Sunday was another big day at the Baptist church. Superintendent Garretts faced nearly 250 Sunday school pupils at the 10 o'clock session. Spurlie's successful Sunday school still succeeds. More could be said, but this is enough.

Large audiences greeted Pastor Hall upon his return. In the morning he gave "Echoes from the Convention at Newberg." In the evening "The Best Part of the Day" was his theme. The best part of the day was the fact that the custom of receiving new members was maintained, besides there was at least four decisions for Christ.
