PROSPERITY FOR MEDFORD.

The Bybee ranch, composed of 1300 acres, and situated along and near Rogue river—on both sides, and up and down the river from the Bybee bridge, has been sold to Honore Palmer of Chicago. The price paid was $27,000—cash in hand. Mr. Palmer expects to at once commence the work of making this land over into an orchard tract. It is said there are fully 700 acres of the land suitable for fruit culture.

There has been a wonderful amount of building done in Medford this summer and the end is not yet by a good bit. Some idea as to the amount of building material being used may be reached when we tell you that for over two weeks last past the Woods Lumber company has received an average of one carload of lumber each day—and there are four carloads booked to be received yet this week. The Woods Lumber company is becoming deservedly popular with the contractors and building people of Medford—and this because of the fact that the company does as it agrees to in every instance.

A NEW EDITOR.

The story that the Outlook has engaged Mr. Roosevelt for one of its editors recalls the fable of the two robins who invited an eagle to join them in a picnic, says an exchange. It was a lovely picnic for the eagle. So far as acquaintance with literature goes, Mr. Mable, of the Outlook staff, knows incomparably more than Mr. Roosevelt, and his writings possess a limpid meekness which the president cannot hope to compete with. As for Dr. Lyman Abbott, his somewhat accommodating religious and political creeds seem to harmonize pretty well with the Rooseveltian doctrines, but then they would harmonize with anything. Dr. Abbott's courage sometimes marches at even pace with his intellect, but not often. Usually discretion keeps his leaping thoughts strictly hopped.

Of course, Mr. Roosevelt will dominate the Outlook, as he would dominate any other periodical he was connected with. It will become more or less completely a reflection of his opinions. How those opinions will stand the test of repetition and re-statement month after month for a series of years it is interesting to inquire. There is reason to believe that the policy of the Outlook, as supported by Mr. Roosevelt, will be to transform the present wage system of industry into what Dr. Abbott calls "industrial democracy." Under the new arrangement industry would be conducted perhaps by the suffrages of the workers. The idea seems absurd, but no more absurd, perhaps, than the idea of conducting government by popular vote once did.

COMMENT ON THE ELECTION.

After a great political fight is over and the passion of combatants has cooled, you get a fair estimate of the cause and the effect of the struggle from the intelligent press of the country. Even in the mail and broil of the campaign every newspaper was partisan. The earnest, honestly expressed sentiment of the United States over Taft's election is reflected in the comment of its representative journals. Copious extracts are presented in an issue of the Oregonian. It is gratifying to see the manly spirit of the Democratic press toward Taft and a disposition on the part of independent papers with Bryan leanings to stand by the president-elect. Note the tone of the New York World, and Hearst's New York Evening Post and the cold Springfield Republican.

Here is the able and conservative Brooklyn Eagle predicting that the south will support Taft's policies and the always non-partisan New York Herald telling its readers to depend on quiet and stability for the next four years. Democrats in the Pacific Northwest will find in the comment several reasons for picking on some other man besides Bryan for candidate in 1912.

ROCKEFELLER AND POLITICS.

The declaration of John D. Rockefeller that he intended to vote for Mr. Taft for president carried dismay and consternation into one political camp and filled the other camp with ecstasy and rapture, says an exchange. And yet it is doubtful is what Mr. Rockefeller said changed a single vote in the entire Union; and certain it is that it did not have the slightest effect on the composition of the electoral college.

The vulgar mind loves to speculate on the little things that have momentous consequences; and, given any old circumstance, however dubious, tremendous effects can be traced back to and laid upon trivial causes. One of these is the speech of

W. L. VAWTER, Pres. G. R. LINDLEY, Cash.

Dr. Burchard in 1884, that was a two-edged sword, and did Mr. Blaine as much good with the Prohibitionists and Methodists "up state" as it did him harm with Catholics and Tammany below the Bronx. Indeed, there are unprejudiced and discerning minds that believe Mr. Blaine had read Father Burchard's alliteration before he delivered it.

But to get back to Rockefeller. He has been a Republican all his life, and has never cast a Democratic vote. He has more direct material interest in the general and widespread prosperity of every state, county, city, town, village, hamlet and grange of the United States than any other single American citizen. He frankly told the people what he thought. He was within his rights as a citizen, and doubtless his motive was as pure as Bryan's or Taft's.

Has it come to the pass that the "plutocrats" can elect a president of their choice by declaring for a man not their choice? Just think of it! To what lover depths of depraved politics can we go if a president is to be chosen because Rockefeller and Morgan and that set are opposed to him?

We have not come to that pass as yet, and pray God we never may.

A delightful brief for "Gentle Speech" is presented by Price Collier in the North American Review, but it is very evident that he has had little, if any, experience with a team of mules with the wagon wheels stuck hub-deep in red Virginia mud. That is where one can see the real dynamic effect of gentle speech.

This campaign has been merciless in its wear and tear upon several reputations, but there is one figure, at least, who richly deserves the storm of jeers and ridicule that drives him into oblivion. This blatant coward has utterly failed to make good, and no one wants to see his face again. We refer to that contemptible four-flusher, General Apathy.

The otherwise exemplary Paris woman who has been discovered to be the leader of a band of robbers probably took her first step on the downward path as a "tag day" boomer or a booth tender at a church social.

The triangular battle of the hats, in which the pill box, the plateau and the inverted bathtub monstrosity known as the merry widow are struggling for supremacy, can result only in the survival of the unfitest.

The Ohio river watershed, declares Dr. C. A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, is "a thousand miles of typhoid." Perhaps it was the deadly fever of water that led so many Kentucky counties to vote "dry."

The Supreme court of Illinois has just decided that foam is not beer and cannot be measured as such. And yet Sampel Gompers talks of "judicial despotism," and would destroy the courts!

In view of the end of the campaign the president might have closed his proclamation with—"Also, for this relief, much thanks."

First Annual Roll Call of Medford Lodge, No. 88, I. O. O. F.

On Monday evening, November 23, 1908, at 7:30 p. m., at our lodge hall, will be held our first annual roll call of the brothers of this lodge. All brothers within a day's journey are expected to be present. We want you with us. We welcome you. We give you the sign of safety.

There will be a roll call of all the brothers present and absent. There will be music, song, joy and a feast.

Every brother present will, when his name is called, make some remarks, and then some. And you, dear, absent brother, we want to hear from you, either through some brother present who is delegated to answer to your name, or by letter from you addressed to the secretary of the lodge. Letters from absent brothers will be read when their names are called. On that evening we want to hear from every brother of this lodge, either orally or by letter.

Fall not to come; if you cannot come, fall not to write, for we want a response from every member of the lodge.

We want you to be happy with us; we want to be happy with you. Come, come, come, and let us draw closer the golden cord of friendship, love and truth. In the name of these three we call for you. Don't you see "the sign"? Fraternally,

J. W. LAWTON, Secretary.
W. S. CROWELL,
C. O. KING,
D. L. DAY, Committee.

KLAMATH INDIAN LANDS.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 11.—H. F. White, the special allotting agent of the Klamath Indian reservation, reports progress very slow on account of the many complications in connection with the settlement of the tribal rights of the many claimants. The allotment roll is not yet closed, and the births among the Indians are now accurately recorded and every arrival is the owner of 160 acres of land as soon as it opens its eyes upon the light of the world. It has not been finally determined when the allotment roll will be closed, but it will be some time in the latter part of 1909. There yet remains sufficient work adjusting claims and establishing relationships of the allottees to keep Mr. White and his assistants busy several months.

Owing to the fact that marriage was more of a matter of convenience than a legal or sacred affair, it has taken months to segregate the various families, a thing that was necessary to determine the heirs of an allottee in case of his death. Most of those entitled to lands have made their selections, but it is taking considerable time to establish the lines so that the claims of the allottees will not conflict.

A Quiet Wedding.

At the parsonage of the M. E. church South, in this city yesterday, Rev. Goulder officiating, was solemnized the marriage of C. H. Baldwin, a prominent young gentleman of Grants Pass, and Miss Zoma Wilkinson, an estimable young lady of Hayden, Colo. The young people were guests of the Palace hotel while in this city, and last night took their departure for their future home in Grants Pass.

Goods Have Arrived. A carload of goods arrived yesterday from Mitchell county, Iowa, for R. V. Crum, who recently bought lands near this city. In addition to household goods, there were several head of stock and quite a bunch of fowls in the car. J. T. Young came in charge of the car and stock. Mr. Young expects to buy property and locate here.

FOR SALE—Ranch of $11 acres, 100 acres plow land, 100 more capable of being cleared and plowed, balance pasture and timber; good fruit land, plenty of water, buildings worth $3000; hay, grain, stock and implements go with the place; will take small ranch or town property for part or all; "dry" town preferred; correspondence solicited. Frank Wixson, Myrtle Creek, Or. 4t

APPLES GOING ABROAD.

J. A. Perry, secretary and manager for the Rogue River Valley Fruit-Growers union, shipped out a carload of Newtown pippin apples yesterday, billed for foreign markets—either London, Liverpool or Glasgow. Mr. Perry shipped a carload of Spitzenbergs yesterday and will put out a carload every day of some variety of apples for the next couple or three weeks.

He has now packed and awaiting shipment a carload of extra size Newtowns. These are packed 80 to 104 apples to the box, or what would be called three and a half tier fruit. They are too large for shipment to foreign markets and will undoubtedly be sold in New York City.

Paving People Here.

W. B. Warren, vice-president of Warren Bros., of Boston, Mass., and J. O. Hoyt, vice-president and manager of the Warren Construction company of Portland, were in the city yesterday. They stated that the paving work would be pushed as fast as the material could be secured and that they were in hopes to have the contract completed in three weeks from now.

Theodore, Jr., is now in the wool room of the carpet factory, where, like his father, he hopes to make that article fly.

"Why! The Poor Man!"

"He is terribly agitated!"
"He is weighted with care and the specter of debt, is ever 'looking over his shoulder.'"
"The end of the month finds large bills to meet and but little money on hand." It is so easy to buy when you buy on credit. Cash buying is economical buying always. You will be more careful and then we sell groceries cheaper selling them for cash. We can afford to do it. We do away with the expensive extras of the credit business. Form the habit of cash buying and fool the specter of debt.

We sell 6 bars of laundry soap for 25c where others sell four.
We sell Baking Soda for 6c that others sell for 10c
We sell Canned Goods much cheaper for cash.
We sell "Cream of Wheat" for 17c that others sell for 20c.
We sell Creamery Butter 5c a roll below the Medford butter trust prices.
We sell Shelled Popcorn for 8 1-3c a pound. Can you buy it for credit at that figure?

MURDER OF CARMACK.

The Name of Ex-Sheriff Cooper Brought Into the Case Now.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 11.—A state warrant charging murder of Senator Carmack was served on Robb Cooper today at the hospital, and he will be removed to the county jail as soon as his condition permits. One of the chief topics of conversation today was alleged in the presence of Ex-Sheriff Sharp at or near the scene. The ex-sheriff was seen in Arcade with the two Coopers a few minutes before the killing and was seen to leave there with them and was seen with them at Union and Fifth avenues. It was up Union avenue that the Coopers came when they met Carmack at Seventh. According to the statement of Mrs. Ellen Morgan, who saw Carmack fall, Sharp was at the scene of the killing within a few moments after it occurred.
