W. H. Venerable, of the Ruch district of the Applegate valley, was a visitor in this city yesterday. Mr. Venerable is raising a large quantity of potatoes on his ranch in the Ruch district, and expects to dispose of about 1500 sacks this season.

J. W. Opp, general manager of the Opp mine, near Jacksonville, was attending to business matters in this city yesterday. Mr. Opp states that he will soon have a stamp mill in operation and will operate 30 stamps night and day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson, who are engaged in banking business at Harney, N. D., stopped off a few days ago on their return home from California, for a short visit with their friend, F. E. Merrick and family. They went out yesterday on No. 14, northbound.

C. W. Heilbronner of Chicago, who has been connected with the John V. Farwell company of that city for a number of years, and has had charge of this western territory for this great mercantile house, has associated himself with the old-established firm of Hutchinson & Lumsden.

A. L. Irwin, constable at Ashland, passed through yesterday on No. 15 on his way from Portland, having in his charge James Wilson, who was captured in Portland through the efforts of Sergeant Beatty of that city. Wilson is wanted for breaking into a building at Ashland several weeks ago.

C. B. Jones yesterday became the owner of the Odell rooming house, over the postoffice, he having purchased the entire lot of furniture and fixtures, including a lease on the premises. He will add, when necessary, new furniture and carpets and keep the place in first-class shape. Mr. Jones is now in possession, having taken charge last evening.

Dr. L. A. Lockwood, for over a year a practicing physician in Portland, arrived in Medford yesterday morning and is now preparing to locate here permanently. Dr. Lockwood has visited many sections of the world, but has so far found no locality that appeals to him as does the Rogue River valley. As soon as Dr. Lockwood can find suitable offices he will become one of the regular practicing physicians of Medford.

J. T. Gagnon, manager of the Trail Creek Lumber company, informed a Morning Mail representative yesterday that his company would soon have its planer and other machinery in place and prepared to supply builders with a complete line of lumber—from sills to shingles—and all that between them lies or stands. The company has a retail yard at the corner of South Fir and Eighth streets, where a stock of lumber is kept with which to fill small orders.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Mr. and Mrs. George Culey came down from Ashland yesterday.

Mrs. E. Denton returned home to Myrtle Creek yesterday after several days visiting with relatives and friends in this city.

W. M. Hodson was called to Woodville yesterday and went down on No. 14 to doctor an auto which had "baked" on its driver.

Mrs. J. F. Campbell of Jacksonville, a sister of Mrs. V. T. Cray of this city, returned yesterday from a several weeks' visit at Stockton, Cal.

D. H. Jackson is in the city again after a several weeks' absence on his farm near Ashland, where he has been getting his spring work under way.

William Turner and W. Kamp of Portland came up yesterday and will have positions with the Warren Construction company in the street-paving work.

W. Beeson of Talent was in the city yesterday. He was returning from Roseburg, where he has been for a few days as a witness in a homestead proof case.

J. S. Taylor, wife and family, of St. Paul, Minn., arrived in the city yesterday. They are acquaintances of Mr. Getchel and will remain in the city for some time, possibly may locate here.

A. Achtert of Portland arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Achtert is the chemist of the Warren Construction company. He will be in the city for a few days while work is starting at the paving plant.

George Daniel of Prospect a few days since purchased a residence lot in Sunset addition from J. A. Lovelady, paying $325 for the same. The sale was made by the real estate firm of White & Trowbridge.

Mrs. K. Kubli of Jacksonville and H. D. Kubli of Applegate were in the city yesterday to meet and attend to some business with K. K. Kubli of Portland, who came in on No. 15 and returned home the same day on No. 16.

G. H. Howland returned yesterday from a several days' visit with his family and friends at Portland. He thinks Portland a very good town, but says they don't have the nice sunny weather there that we are enjoying here.

C. M. Baldwin came in Thursday from Portland in an auto, a new type of machine in these parts, and seemingly a very good one. Mr. Baldwin is a resident here and will be pleased to at any time show the machine to interested parties.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fletcher of Aberdeen, S. D., stopped off in the city from No. 14 yesterday and will look about for a few days. "Want to see this much-talked-of valley," is the way he replied to a Morning Mail representative's interrogation.

C. B. Jones has purchased a residence lot in Woolvorton court and will at once commence the erection of a six-room bungalow thereon. Mr. Jones' new home will cost about $3500 and will be one of the prettiest in that part of the city. The interior will be finished entirely in hardwood.

John Taylor of Fargo, N. D., formerly connected with the passenger department of the Great Northern railroad, is in Medford, "just looking around," but just what he sees while "looking around" is difficult to determine. It may be fruit orchard, it may be business blocks and it may be railroad possibilities. However, he's here.

Louis Brown of Everett, Wash., formerly mayor of St. Cloud, Minn., left yesterday for his home at Everett, after several days' visit with his old-time Minnesota friend, Peter Van der Sluce. Mr. Brown will return to Medford with his family, and it is not altogether improbable that he and Mr. Van der Sluce will engage in the mercantile business at Talent.

J. A. Perry, the real estate man, has recently had his warehouse to the west of the Southern Pacific tracks covered with a fresh coating of paint. An order has been issued by the railroad company making it necessary for all warehouse owners who have their property on railroad land to paint the structures.

A. B. Connell, agent in the Rogue River valley for the Oregon Life Insurance company, was a visitor in this city today from Grants Pass. Mr. Connell has about decided that Medford is the city for him to make his permanent home in, and is now preparing to move from Grants Pass to this city and locate. The spirit of progress which is so evident in Medford has completely captivated Mr. Connell, hence his decision to settle here.

Bert Orr had the misfortune to badly injure his right hand yesterday. He was engaged in removing a broken glass from a window sash, and in some way his hand slipped and struck the knuckles on two sharp points. The glass penetrated the hand at the joints of the third and fourth fingers, making two very painful and ugly wounds, which bled profusely. The aid of a physician was required to check the flow of blood and dress the injuries.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

S. Bradbury was up from Woodville Saturday.

J. S. Herrin of Ashland spent Saturday in this city.

Norris & Rowe's advertising car, No. 3, was in the city Saturday.

Mrs. A. L. Cusle went up to Ashland Saturday for a brief visit.

J. G. Hodges of East Medford is in Albany and Portland on business.

Mrs. G. V. Stickel of Gold Hill was in the city shopping yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Metz left Friday for a several weeks' visit at Santa Barbara, Cal.

F. M. Blake came in yesterday from Oklahoma and will look around for a few days.

J. P. O'Hara of Central Point was in the city yesterday, greeting his many friends.

L. A. Wright, teacher of the public school at Butte Falls, spent Saturday in the city.

Mrs. William Schmidt went up to Ashland Saturday and will visit friends a few days.

Mrs. S. W. Glasgow of Barstow, Tex., is visiting in Medford with W. W. Glasgow and family.

Alva Moore and family left Saturday for Unionville, Mich., where they think of remaining.

The M. M. M. club will meet at the opera house Monday evening at 6:45 o'clock. Bring brooms.

J. H. Cooley returned Saturday from a visit at Hebron, Neb., bringing his aged mother with him.

Mrs. Fred Roper of Central Point is visiting in Medford today, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Davis.

H. A. Myers, one of the good and thrifty stockmen of the Lake Creek country, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. E. E. Eads and sister, Miss Della Boyd, left yesterday for a visit with their parents at Cottage Grove.

Two more carloads of the wood water pipe for the city's new water system was unloaded at the depot Saturday.

F. X. Musty of Tolo was in the city yesterday. Mr. Musty has recently purchased a farm near Tolo and has moved thereto from his Beagle ranch.

A. Jackson and H. Applegate arrived in the city yesterday from Weiser, Idaho. They will look about with a view to locating.

Mrs. H. L. Andrews of Grants Pass came up yesterday for a few days' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Voegell, of this city.

A four-horse backload of Ashland young people passed through this city Saturday to enjoy a picnic dinner on the top of Table Rock.

F. M. Roundtree, the Jacksonville machinist, went over to Hilt, Cal., Saturday to set up some donkey engines in the logging camps in that region.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Ferris of Grants Pass arrived in the city Saturday. They are friends of T. H. B. Taylor and have come intending to locate here.

Charles Henselman returned yesterday from Portland. The position he had accepted in Portland proved to be one indoors, which was not to his liking, hence his return.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ewing of Painesville, Cal., arrived in the city yesterday. They are looking for a desirable place to locate. They were met at the train by their friend, C. E. Whistler, and went out to his home for a few days' visit.

Leo J. Miksche of Breckenridge, Minn., arrived in Medford yesterday. He is an old-time friend of Attorney F. J. Newman and family. Mr. Miksche is delighted with Medford and this great Rogue River valley, and he will undoubtedly decide to locate here.

T. H. B. Taylor has rented a dwelling and building suitable for his business in Southwest Medford. Mr. Taylor's business is that of renovating feather beds, pillows, cushions and everything in which feathers are used. He has put in a full equipment of machinery for this work and is now ready to handle all work in this line.

August E. Steele of Idaho Falls, Idaho, arrived in the valley last week and has been the guest of Polk Hull at his pleasant farm home on Griffin creek. Mr. Hull met Mr. Steele in Idaho last season and his presence here now is the result of that meeting. Mr. Steele is more than pleased with our valley and will remain, and at the same time is trying to induce several relatives and friends to come and secure homes in this section.

J. A. Perry, secretary of the Rogue River Valley Fruitgrowers' union, yesterday received 50,000 berry cups for use in marketing this season's crop. Heretofore the cups used here have been of wood, but these Mr. Perry has received are of straw-board and are paraffined on the inside. A state law prohibits the use of berry boxes more than one time, this applicable to all variety of materials used in their construction. This law, however, has not been enforced as religiously, perhaps, as it should have been, and undoubtedly will be hereafter.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

A. Throckmorton of Ruch, in the Applegate country, and his son, Lester, were transacting business in Medford yesterday.

The members of the Medford G. A. R. Post will hold a box social tonight at their lodge hall. All members are invited to attend.

Attorney Gus Newbury, who returned Sunday from a visit to Klamath Falls, left yesterday for Salem and other northern points.

Mrs. R. H. Norton of Grants Pass, who has been visiting in this city a few days with the family of Rev. W. L. Black, returned to her home yesterday.

E. P. Chandler and family of Lewiston, Mont., arrived in the city yesterday and will visit a few days at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kentner.

J. G. Garganon, manager of the Trail Lumber company's mill, in the Applegate country, was attending to business matters in Medford yesterday afternoon.

S. C. Collins, brother of City Recorder Benj. N. Collins, and wife were visitors in this city yesterday. Mr. Collins and wife have their home in Sam's Valley.

Mrs. L. Mishler and her mother, Mrs. M. B. Horn, of Fallfield, Neb., arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Mishler has been stopping in the city several months.

Mrs. Sarah C. Blackman of Shorney, Texas, arrived yesterday. She has come to stay and will make her home with her son-in-law, T. J. Parton, who lives about three miles south of this city.

What is the Exchange? It is a peculiar manner of handling industrial opportunities so as to give an equitable benefit to all concerned. Investigate and hook on. 282-if

George Birdseye, formerly a resident of Jacksonville, but now assistant manager of the Golden Rule store in Grants Pass, spent Sunday in this city visiting at the home of his uncle, Judge Colvig.

Charles Schmidt arrived in Medford Sunday from Seattle, and will remain here during the summer. He is a son of J. M. Schmidt, who lives a couple of miles west of Medford.

Talk about rushing business! There were at 9 o'clock yesterday forenoon 51 men at work on Main street between Bartlett street and the west end of the bridge, besides scores in other parts of the city.

Medford's ball team was over at Hilt Sunday for a little tryout with the lumber handlers and millmen at that place. A very interesting game was played, in which Medford was defeated by a score of 8 to 3.

Charles O. King and City Recorder Benj. N. Collins, have returned from a visit to Mr. King's homestead, on the other side of the Applegate. They report a trip full of delights such as only Oregon scenery can give.

W. H. Hawley and family of Pullman, Wash., who have been visiting for a few days in this city with Engineer Roberts and family, left yesterday for their home, well pleased with Medford and the Rogue River valley.

T. E. Thrall and family of Springfield, Ill., arrived in the city yesterday. They come, expecting to remain, and at once commenced searching for a house in which to live, for a short time—until they can become permanently settled.

Frank Osborn of Madras, Or., is in Medford, looking the city over with a view to locating. He was formerly a United States commissioner at Madras, but was not the "fainted" kind, hence to let go of his job he had to resign. But not by request. It is not altogether improbable that he will locate in Medford.

S. J. Summerlin left yesterday for Portland, where he will arrange for having his and Harry Messler's fish and oyster house, soon to be opened in this city, supplied daily with the very best on the market that can be secured. They have a notion that there is nothing too good for Medford people.

J. Harrington, through Cusick, Myer & Sharpe, last week sold two lots on West Twelfth street to C. B. Cameron, recently from California, for a consideration of $1000. Mr. Cameron has already commenced the erection of a fine bungalow thereon, which will be occupied by himself and family.

W. C. Babcock, wife and daughter and E. Horner of Wyoming, Ill., stopped off in the city Sunday on their return home from a several months' visit in California, for a short visit with their old neighbor, W. R. Colton, whom they had not seen for over 25 years. They went north yesterday.

The appointment by Assessor Grieve of G. H. Millar of this city to a deputy assessorship was one of the best moves Little Willie ever made. Mr. Millar is one of the best clerical men in Medford, and, besides all this, he has a mind which grasps ideas without first being put through the hammer and wedge process. And Mr. Millar will make good as deputy assessor, or it will be booked as his first failure.

As an artistic sign writer, M. E. Morgan is fast winning fame. He is not one of those querulous fellows who make a loud sign noise with abominable, meaningless brush daubs, but instead, he does his work in a plain, dainty and tastefully arranged style, which is not only pleasing and attractive to the eye, but has as well a rich, well-bred appearance. To get an idea as to his handiness with the brush, see the Oregon Orchard Syndicate windows and the Torgery sign.

While several Eastern people, now residents of Medford, are boastful of the number of people living here who formerly resided in some of their Eastern cities, Mr. J. L. McAhron tells that his town, Burnett's Creek, Ind., has supplied Medford and the nearby localities with just 41 persons—and there are others back there now making ready to come. If all Eastern towns and cities had done as well in this line as Burnett's Creek and Greensburg, Ind., Medford would be a sure-enough city.

D. J. S. Pierce was in the city yesterday from his hydraulic mines on the east fork of Forest Creek, about nine miles southwest of this city. He reports a very satisfactory run the past winter, and to make matters all the more satisfactory, they have uncovered part of an old channel that prospects fine and from which they are expecting something extra good next winter. Pierce & Sons have worked these claims several years and are fully competent to judge as to what the results will be.

Correct Glasses Correctly Fitted

Notice the difference in the way the rays of light pass through the OLD style lens and the new TORIC glass.

When looking through the TORIC lens you get the same vision clear out to the edge of the glass, in all directions, that you do ONLY through the center of the old-style of lens, thus giving you more freedom of vision without the strain upon the Rectus muscles, which constantly occurs when wearing the old-style glasses.

With the old-style before the eye you see like this.

With the new TORIC lens you get the same results at all angles without turning your head that you do directly through the center of the old style.

Dr. Goble makes a specialty of the above lenses; also fits the 1-SIGHT bi-focal, ground from ONE piece of glass. Optical Parlor in Perry's Warehouse, Seventh Street, Medford.
