HAD CLOSE CALL

Will Norris Was Nearly Drowned at Butte Falls

Will Norris, the son of T. C. Norris of this city, nearly lost his life by drowning a few days ago at Butte Falls. His life was undoubtedly saved by the heroic work of Fred Reinicke, assisted by Mr. Helten. They caught him with a grappling hook and pulled him to the shore. It took nearly an hour before the unfortunate man was brought back to life. It appears that Mr. Norris was standing on a large log which he was steering, as well as a large number of other logs, to the mill. He was pushing them with a pole, when it slipped and he fell into the water. When his fellow-workmen saw that he failed to arise they immediately started to grapple for him, and were fortunate enough to pull him out just in time to save his life.

The company expects to get down 17 miles of new track this fall, but if Mr. Kowalaski loses any more cars of ties in transit it is doubtful if they make it. He tells that Mr. Barnum of the Medford-Jacksonville short line, now has a tracer out hunting for a lost car of ties—supposed to have been lost between Jacksonville, the shipping point, and Medford.

SMITH LAND CASE.

It Was Up for a Hearing Before Land Commissioner Cameron.

A land contest case was to have been held before Commissioner Canon yesterday, but before the contest came up for hearing the defendant, H. W. Smith, concluded that because of the fact that the land was isolated, being near the Blue Ledge mines, he would not continue the case, but would abandon the land.

Mr. Smith had already received his final receipt from the government under the timber and stone act, but later the tract was included in the forest reserve, and this contest was instituted by officials of the government. The fact that Mr. Smith did not appear and produce evidence in this case will have no bearing upon other similar cases which have been tried out—and won out, by defendants, these cases being those of C. E. Smith, McKinney and Henney. Attorney Colvig of this city appeared for the defendants and the decisions in all these cases by the Roseburg land office were in favor of defendants.

The contents were brought upon the grounds that the land was more valuable for mineral than for timber. These cases are now before the commissioner of the general land office.

LOSS WAS $6500

Estimate of Wes Green on His Home Destroyed by Fire

Wes Green and Bert Anderson had just gone into camp near the Natural Bridge on the Rogue river Thursday night when a messenger on a wheel arrived and told them the news of the destruction of Mr. Green's house. The place where they had camped for the night was 13 miles the other side of Prospect, and was 65 miles from Medford.

The messenger had a long, hard ride of it, but covered the 28 miles in good time. He arrived at the camp at 8 o'clock Thursday night and both families started back at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, arriving in Medford at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Many of Mr. Green's friends were offering their sympathy to him on the street after his return home.

After a thorough investigation it has been found that the valuation of the house alone was $6500, which it cost to complete it. In addition to this there was the loss of the furniture and the barn and the garage. All told, the loss will be in the neighborhood of $8000.

Correct Glasses Correctly Fitted

Notice the difference in the way the rays of light pass through the OLD style lens and the new TORIC glass.

When looking through the TORIC lens you get the same vision clear out to the edge of the glass, in all directions, that you do ONLY through the center of the old-style of lens, thus giving you more freedom of vision without the strain upon the Rectus muscles, which constantly occurs when wearing the old-style glasses.

With the old-style before the eye you see like this.

With the new TORIC lens you get the same results at all angles without turning your head that you do directly through the center of the old style.

Dr. Goble makes a specialty of the above lenses; also fits the 1-SIGHT bi-focal, ground from ONE piece of glass. Optical Parlor in Perry's Warehouse, Seventh Street, Medford.
