

BILL FINISHED AND IS SIGNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—President Taft issued a statement tonight subsequently signing the new tariff bill, declaring that while the measure is not by any means perfect, it is his sincere and honest effort to carry out the platform pledged and embodied the real revision downward.

The tariff has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress is ended. Both houses adjourned at 6 o'clock, although as a matter of fact the house adjourned half an hour before that. The conference report was agreed to by the senate 47 to 31, and soon afterward the concurrent resolution changing the leather schedule so as to embrace all kinds of leather products was adopted by both houses.

The President Arrived.
President Taft arrived at the capitol at 4:45 and entered the president's room, being his first appearance there since being president. He was warmly welcomed by a string of congressmen which passed through the room from his arrival to his departure.

Six minutes past 5 the Payne tariff bill was laid before the president. He attached his signature with a pen used by both Vice-President Sherman and Speaker Cannon in signing the bill. With the president at the time were Secretaries Knox, McVeagh, Nangle, Wilson, Attorney-General Wickersham, Postmaster-General Hitchcock, Senator Aldrich, Representative Payne and many other senators and congressmen.

In Good Humor.
The president was in the utmost good humor and had a ready joke for the different senators present. Senator Warren he tried to mollify for his disappointment, and addressing Senator Heyburn, who this afternoon declared that no rate in the bill is too high to suit him. The president said: "How are you, old high tariff?"

The president told the committee from the house and the senate, who called to inform him that the extraordinary session was ready to adjourn, that he hadn't signed the bill yet, and asked if they thought he had better adjourn it before signing the bill. There having been a great deal of talk about the possibility of a veto, everybody in the room caught the significance of the president's jocularity.

After signing the general tariff bill the president picked up a mother of pearl pen sent him from the Philippine islands for the purpose, and signed the Philippines tariff bill. The president left the capitol about 6 o'clock through a driving storm.

Was Busy Day.
The signing of the bills had been preceded by a busy day in both houses. The meeting at 10 o'clock of the senate devoted four hours of debate on the measure. At 2 o'clock a vote was taken on the conference report and following this Aldrich's concurrent resolution regarding hides was adopted. Six o'clock was agreed upon by the two houses as the hour for the final adjournment. The hour for the final adjournment. The senators loitered about until that hour.

A resolution of thanks to the vice-president was passed and that officer in turn thanked the senate for its courteous treatment and wished them a pleasant journey home.

The house devoted the last day of the session to perfecting the tariff bill and transacting a mass of routine business.

Speaker Cannon announced his committee appointments and they were received with varying degrees of satisfaction.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—In substance, President Taft, in his statement says that he signed the Payne bill because he thinks it is a sincere effort of the Republican party to make a downward revision according to the platform. He did not consider it perfect, nor a complete compliance with the party promise, but a complete compliance, involving, as it does, many schedules and thousands of articles, it could not be expected.

Excepting liquors, silks and some high classes of cotton goods, all of which he considers luxuries, the president says there has been no increase in rates.

"There have been," he says, "a great number of real decreases, and they constitute a sufficient amount to justify the statement that there has been a substantial downward revision. This is not a free trade bill. It was not intended to be. The Republican party did not promise to make a free trade bill."

President Taft then explains that what was promised was that the rates would be reduced in cases where the cost of production abroad exceeded the difference between the cost of production and here, making allowance for the greater normal profit on the investments here. He says that while this excess has not been reduced in a number of cases, it has in a great majority of them, and are now low enough to permit importing foreign articles to prevent excessive prices.

Passing to the Philippines tariff bill, he says he was struggling for it ten years, and predicts that it will greatly increase the trade between the two countries and do much to build up the Philippine islands.

The president says that the administrative clauses of the bill and the customs court are admirably constructed to secure the uniform and speedy construction of the law. Regarding the corporation tax, the president declares it is a just and equitable measure, and he expects it will not alone be useful in preventing a deficit, but will secure some valuable statistics and increase the publicity concerning corporations.

HUNT IN OREGON.

Jim Jeffries With Party of Friends Will Hunt on McKenzie.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 5.—James J. Jeffries, champion pugilist, and a party of Los Angeles people, will be here the latter part of this month to go on a hunting and fishing trip up the McKenzie river, expecting to go 30 miles to the south fork of the river, packing that distance in the wilds of the Cascades.

Alf Walker of this city, who has engineered the trips of these Los Angeles people for several years past, has received word from them to go ahead with all arrangements and that they will be here August 27, although Jeffries and wife, who are now in Europe, will not arrive until a week later. Leaving Eugene on the 28th, the party will spend Sunday at the McKenzie bridge summer resort and start the next day with pack horses for the camp at Box canyon, 30 miles distant, where the hunting is said to be the best on the coast.

Besides Jeffries and his wife, the party will include the following: E. W. Hopperstead, wife and son; Mr. Lewis, wife and son; Mr. Bert and wife, Mr. Stovill and wife, Mr. Schumaker and friend, and Mr. Woodhill and wife, all of Los Angeles; Alf Walker of Eugene, Walter Baker and wife of Cottage Grove, and Al Parker, the party's cook.

ASHLAND COMMERCIAL CLUB

New Secretary Has Been Appointed to Succeed H. F. Pohland, Resigned

ASHLAND, Or., Aug. 6.—The Ashland Commercial club has a new secretary, George C. Howard having been elected to that position at the regular business meeting of the club, Monday evening. Mr. Howard is one of the newer residents of this section, coming here only a year or two ago and engaging in the fruitgrowing business. He has had considerable experience in the east along the line of promotion work.

He succeeds H. F. Pohland, who has been filling the position satisfactorily for a number of months past, but who tendered his resignation in order to attend to his own business affairs. The Ashland Commercial club is in quite a healthy financial condition, having money in its treasury and subscriptions ahead for a liberal maintenance for advertising for the ensuing year.

SWAM TREACHEROUS RAPIDS.

Miss Mildred Pierce Made a Record at San Jose, Cal.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 4.—Miss Mildred Pierce, a Stanford student, daughter of Harry Pierce, a millionaire lumberman of this city, is the only woman who has ever swam the rapids of Tuolumne gorge. Indeed, few men—and they only the champions of California—have done it.

Miss Pierce accomplished the feat while the Sierra club was at Tuolumne Meadows last week. The rapids are from 10 to 20 feet wide and run between sheer cliffs 200 feet high.

GROUCHY SPINSTER DEAD.

She Leaves Behind Her a Million Dollars to Be Quarrelled Over.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Elizabeth Diefendorf, a wealthy and eccentric spinster of good family, is dead at her home here at the age of 77 years.

Fifty years ago she closed her house to her many friends and up to the time of her death was seldom seen even by her neighbors.

Thirty years ago a local newspaper criticized the seating accommodations of an assembly hall in what was then the biggest and best building in Fort Plain. Miss Diefendorf owned it. The hall was closed the next day, the tenants' leases were not renewed and the building has stood ever since, heavily taxed, but dusty and vacant.

Miss Diefendorf leaves an estate valued at about $1,000,000, chiefly in western real estate. She left no will, but is survived by a sister and several cousins.

WAS THE QUEEN OF SWINDLERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—With the arrest by the Oakland police of a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Maud Myrtle Johnson, railroad officials in this and a dozen other cities believe that a check will now be put on the career of one of the most versatile accident swindlers the country has ever known.

The woman, who at the present time is living in the Merritt hospital, Oakland, suffering from the results of her latest "accident," for the last two years has lived on money obtained from every important steam and street railway in the country as damages for injuries. According to the police, she has operated under no less than nine aliases and has received thousands of dollars for fake injuries.

Discovery of Woman.

The discovery of the woman and her identity was made by Claims Agent Ferrin of the Oakland Traction company, who went to Merritt hospital to make a settlement with the woman for an injury she declared she had received on one of the company's cars. Ferrin, who, with every claims agent in the country, has been looking for a woman they have dubbed "Queen of Accident Fakirs," declared that he at once recognized her as Mrs. Johnson.

In company with two men who traveled with her, Frank and Luther Johnson, she was turned over to the Oakland police to be held for investigation. It is expected that today the woman will be turned over to the police of Seattle, where recently she obtained $600 from the Seattle Electric railroad as damages for an alleged injury.

Method Was Novel.

According to Claims Agent Ferrin, Mrs. Johnson began work in September, 1907. Her method is novel. On nearly all occasions she alleges to have received a jolt or jar on a train or streetcar, causing her to fall against a seat or door, fracturing a rib or puncturing a lung.

She has the power of throwing her limbs out of joint at will and this has deceived many railroad physicians. A red powder which the woman slips into her mouth at the critical moment gives the impression her lungs have been injured.

She faints away, creates a sensation, and arouses the sympathy of passengers. When the conductor removes her from the train or car to a home she sends for the Master Mason, a minister and attorney and makes her will. The railroad physicians advise a settlement and the claims agent visits the "patient" and makes whatever terms with her he can. Immediately after her claim is settled Mrs. Johnson fits suddenly off to new fields of labor.

Would Win Sympathy.

Another scheme that she less frequently works is to throw herself from streetcars or fall in some spectacular way that wins her sympathetic attention and does not inflict any really serious injury.

Mrs. Johnson is between 30 and 36 years old, a very placid and persuasive talker, easily moved to tears, and polished in manner and dress.

With her husband, Frank Johnson, and his brother, the woman is alleged to have been swindling railroad companies up and down the Pacific coast. When the police searched her effects yesterday they found letters and newspaper clippings giving some insight into her remarkable record and the number of aliases under which she worked.

Railway Companies Duped.

Information regarding Mrs. Johnson has been telegraphed to traction companies all over the United States. This information shows that railway corporations from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast have been duped. According to the evidence in the possession of the United Railroads, Mrs. Johnson entered her present career in company with Frank Johnson. The couple operated first in the Middle West, winning awards for imaginary damages with surprising ease.

Her Seattle Record.

SEATTLE, Aug. 6.—Mary M. Johnson has a record which stamps her one of the cleverest woman swindlers in the country. She makes a specialty of railroad and street railway corporations. Her victims, it is claimed, include the streetcar concerns of Kansas City, Denver, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Seattle and Oakland, extending over a period of years, and with only one failure to her credit, that of Portland, Or. In this city she secured $600 from the Seattle Electric company, which owns the Seattle Street Railway system, for alleged personal injuries.

George Carson, claim agent of the Seattle Electric company, swore to a warrant issued for her arrest. In this warrant the woman's name is set out as Mary M. Johnson, alias Maud Myrtle Johnson, alias Edith Strang, alias Grace Taylor, alias Maud Johnson, alias N. L. Hareless, alias Mary Thomas, alias Frances B. Rasta.

KIDNAPED BRIDEGROOM

Secret Wedding Ceremony at The Dalles Delayed

THE DALLES, Or., Aug. 7.—The kidnaping of the bridegroom-elect delayed a wedding here and all because the contracting parties planned to marry secretly. Shortly after 1 o'clock half a dozen friends of W. C. Sechler, agent of the Pacific Express company, learned that he was to marry Miss Ruby Moore, at 2 o'clock and leave immediately afterward on the 2:30 train for Portland.

To get even with Mr. Sechler for not telling his friends they procured an automobile, drove to the express office and found him just as he was about to go to the bride's home. It was not made known to him that he knew what was about to happen, and when he was asked to go for a ride he could not refuse without giving his supposed secret away. Instead of taking him to Miss Moore's house he was carried five miles into the country, where the afternoon was spent in playing cards while the Rev. D. V. Poling, Miss Moore and relatives waited for the groom-to-be in vain.

After much anxiety they learned that Sechler had been kidnaped. The express agent was not allowed to return to the city until evening, when the belated ceremony was performed. By this time there was no secret made of the affair, and it was not in an unostentatious manner that Mr. and Mrs. Sechler finally left for Portland, and they were given a royal instead of quiet sendoff, as they hoped for.

Washington's Plague Spots

lie in the low, marshy bottoms of the Potomac, the breeding ground of malaria germs. These germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility and bring suffering or death to thousands yearly. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "They are the best all-around tonic and cure for malaria I ever used," writes R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. They cure stomach, liver, kidney and blood troubles and will prevent typhoid. Try them, 50c. Guaranteed by Chas. Strang.
