

BIGGEST AND BEST DAY YET

Contestants Surely Stirred Things at the Tribune Office Saturday.

Votes for the candidates entered in the Tribune's contest are coming into the office and have been ever since the contest first started. No end of excitement is being aroused all over the vicinity in which the news of the contest has been circulated and many bright women are already securing the field for subscriptions.

There is a vote published in each issue of the paper, which, when properly filled out and brought or sent to the Tribune office, will count as one vote. There is another and better way of rolling up a large count quickly, however, and that is by getting your friends and relatives to subscribe to the paper and case their votes for you. If they already take the paper, get them to take it and send it to an eastern friend or relative. This will serve as good promotion literature from this section of the state.

A few dollars cannot be better invested than by purchasing the Tribune for one year, as for every cent spent in the contest there is value given for the amount received.

Now is the time to get in and work for some lady whom you think would appreciate winning a prize valued at $1150.

By getting a good start now and piling up a reserve fund to be used later in the contest will count better in the end.

Get your friends in line and solicit their patronage and you need not have any fear of not being successful.

Instructions to Contestants.
Voting is not restricted in any sense whatever. People may vote as often as they please and for whom they please—no matter from what district the candidate is entered.

It would be a fine idea for candidates who have friends in other parts of the state or the United States to write to those friends, stating that he columns of this paper contain as good descriptions of the resources and opportunities of this section of the state as are issued.

As soon as money is paid on a subscription, send it to this office, together with the stub in the receipt book, and votes will be then issued. IF YOU HAVE NOT YET RECEIVED A RECEIPT BOOK, SEND FOR ONE IMMEDIATELY.

The votes issued on subscriptions will be returned at your request, or will be voted in the next day's issue of the paper.

The contest department wishes it understood that money may be paid on a subscription and votes will be issued and these votes may be held until the last hour of the contest without any one but the subscriber and the contest staff knowing anything about them.

Votes are counted each day at 3:30 p. m., totals to appear in the next day's issue. Votes after 3:30 p. m. will not be counted until the next day.

Try and Win.

The automobile and the other prizes have been remarked upon, and the energy and enthusiasm which marked this voting contest from the beginning has not slackened for a moment, and those who have the fewest votes should not become discouraged, for there is still plenty of time to get in and win a prize.

Do not let others carry away these valuable prizes without a struggle, but make up your mind that you will be the winner. New names are being entered continually and will be for several weeks. Don't think that it is too late, as it will be seen from the standings in the paper that only one or two subscriptions are necessary to be up with the leaders. Enter your name or that of a friend and do your best to win. The prizes that have been selected are all appropriate. The automobile, value $1150, is one of the best on the market. It is an 1908 model and is equipped with all the latest eastern improvements. The management of the Tribune has been congratulated many times on their foresight in selecting a Reo.

The same care has been taken in the selection of the other prizes. The lady who wins the building lot in Queen Anne Addition is to be congratulated, as this property is constantly increasing in value, and if the winner does not care to hold it for investment, it will be a beautiful site for a home.

Many of the contestants are working the hardest for a scholarship, realizing that once they have attained it they are prepared to enter the vast field of commercialism and to take their place among the army of women workers now occupying that field.

The watches that are to be awarded are little beauties and are equipped with fall-proof Waltham movement, stem wind and set.

The piano certificates, valued at $100 each, are redeemable at the piano house of Hale & Co., on the purchase price of any piano the winning candidate may select.

Show Your Friends.
Show your friends that you are going to win one of these valuable prizes and that you desire their assistance. They will give it to you the moment you show them that you are doing all in your power to attain that end. Keep after them continually, and if the first time you cannot get their subscription at least get their promise—that is not as good—and later on in the contest go to them and have them keep that promise. But above all, do not waste any time in acquainting them of the fact that you are in the contest to win, and that to win you must have their support.
